The Pioneer Mother.

The school children of California are saving up their pennies to pay for the monument to the pioneer mother which is to be executed by Charles Gradley for the Panama-Pacific exposition. The woman's board of the exposition suggested that such a statue be erected and the children were the first to respond, sending in an avalanche of pennies. The central figure is that of the pioneer mother dressed in a homespun gown and at her knees are two sturdy little children.

BRUSSELS' INTREPID BURGOMASTER

Even such awful gloom as that which envelops Europe has its light spots, and one of the brightest of these is Adolphe Max, the irrepresible burgomaster of Brussels. He had no chance to fight for his city, because it was surrendered to the Germans without defense, but he met the conquerors with undaunted spirit, though they locked him up as surety for the war tax of 50,000,000 francs, which was levied on Brussels. M. Max paid 3,500,000 francs of this sum and gave notes for the remainder up to 20,000,000 francs, but later he refused to redeem the notes, so he was carried a prisoner to the fortress of Namur.

even more haughtiness than might properly be expected from a victorious enemy. His honor, the burgomaster, promptly stiffened up and prepared to meet the Teuton on his own ground. The officer strode up to a table in the center of the room and with a flourish drew his sword and slammed it down, merely as a preliminary. M. Max immediately and with as big flourish drew from his waistcoat pocket a fountain pen and slammed it down beside the sword. The officer saw the point and the interview proceeded without further friction.

PRIME MINISTER TAKES THE FIELD

Gen. Louis Botha, premier of the South African Union, has taken the field in supreme command of the operations against German Southwest Africa, and the revolt of Colonel Maritz and his forces hastened the movements of the former leader of Boer armies. Before the Boer war General Botha was unknown outside the Transvaal, but his dashing work in that conflict soon made his name a household word. He taught the British generals some severe lessons in open field fighting and in artillery work, and earned their respect and even their liking.

Kitchner's dealings with Botha during that war were always frank and cordial. At one meeting—a hasty conference of two hours' duration when some glimmering of peace appeared on the horizon—"K. of K.'s" temper might have been tried to snapping-back point, but it stood the test. "I must get off now," he said; "I have an armored train to catch seven miles down the line." "Don't hurry away on that account," answered Botha, with a smile; "we caught it first thing this morning."

Since then the English trains that General Botha has had to catch have been boat-trains to England. No coronation is complete without him. He is recognized as a great statesman; he has come to be regarded as one of the most remarkable men in the empire. He has been premier of the Union of South Africa since 1910.

MAHARAJAH JAM IS LOYAL

Not long ago a poor student and tutor at Cambridge, but now one of the greatest and richest of the princes of India, the Maharajah Jam Sahab of Jamnagar, has demonstrated his loyalty to the imperial government by offering for service against Germany a force of 1,000 infantry, two squadrons of lancers and 15 motors. In his college days the Maharajah Jam was known as Ranji, and under that name became a world famous cricketer. Just after his graduation at Cambridge the late maharajah of Jamnagar disowned him as his heir and discontinued the large allowance the young man had been receiving. Without rank or money, he was compelled to earn his living, which he did after a fashion by writing on sports and giving lessons in Hindu and Sanscrit and in Indian history at Cambridge. Then the throne to which he had formerly been heir became vacant and he was placed upon it. He now possesses a number of magnificent palaces, his strongboxes are overflowing with money and jewels, and his income is so large that whenever he revisits England he leases some one of the country's finest country houses. The Maharajah Jam is as popular as ever in England, and does not fall in gratitude to the nation that educated him and put him on the throne that was rightfully his.

MRS. LITTLETON WINS LONG FIGHT

Mrs. Martin W. Littleton, wife of Congressman Littleton of New York, has won her three years' campaign for government ownership of Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, of Virginia, author of the Declaration of Independence, of the statute of Virginia for religious freedom, father of the University of Virginia, and founder of the Democratic party of the United States. The other day Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan penned an appeal to Congressman Jefferson M. Levy of New York, owner of the property, asking him to consent to the change of ownership and Mr. Levy agreed to part with the property for $500,000, though it cost him $1,000,000. Mr. Levy inherited the old home of Jefferson from his uncle, who was a captain in the navy and who bought it from the owner, who purchased it at public auction after Jefferson's death, when Jefferson's daughter, unable to meet her debts, was obliged to sell it away from the family. When Mrs. Littleton started her campaign she put out a brochure entitled "One Wish," and signed by "Peggy O'Brien," her pen name. At last her one wish is to be gratified. Before her marriage in 1896 she was Maud Wilson of Dallas, Texas.

How Ice Man Got the Booze. The day was hot and the patient ice man had taken his usual care in getting the ice in the box just right and then mopping up the little water that got on the floor in the operation. He really was a good ice man and deserved to be rewarded. "Here is a bottle of beer; you need it on a hot day like this," said the housewife. "I can't accept anything from patrons, lady," the ice man said, as he eyed the bottle lovingly. "Well, if that is orders, all right," the customer said. Still the ice man pondered. "But," he added, as an afterthought, "if you put it on the back porch I'll steal it. There isn't any rule against stealing things."—Indianapolis News.

Peruna Did Wonders For My Boy

Mrs. Nellie Courter, 85 Franklin Ave., Norwalk, Conn., writes: "Peruna has done wonders for my boy. I can't praise it enough. 'I think it is the best medicine on earth. Let me tell you why I think so.' 'My son has been afflicted with ear-tarrh since he was a baby five months old, so that for years I had to watch him all night long, and keep his mouth open so he could breathe, as he could not breathe through his nose. 'He has always been very delicate. 'Since he has commenced taking the Peruna I can go to bed and sleep all night.'"

FINE RASH ON BABY'S BODY

1341 Parkwood Pl., N. W., Washington, D. C.—"When my babe was about two weeks old I noticed a scurf on her scalp which gradually grew worse. It started with a fine rash over head and body and made her very restless at night. The rash left the thick scurf on her head. We used —, —, and other remedies recommended by friends, but nothing seemed to do any good. "This continued until she was three months old and by that time it formed sort of a crust, so that her scalp never looked clean. Nothing helped until we used the Cuticura Soap to bathe her and Cuticura Ointment to anoint her. They acted like magic, clearing the scalp entirely. The trouble disappeared." (Signed) Mrs. H. L. Anderson, Mar. 20, 1914.

Earthly angels are all right, but there isn't much excitement in being married to one.

Poor Material in His Promises. "When we were married," sobbed the young wife, "he said he loved me with a love more enduring than the everlasting granite!"

"And it didn't last?" queried the sympathizing friend. "Last!" echoed the young wife, drying her tears; "it didn't last as long as a wood pavement!"

The average woman may not be much at mathematics, but she does a lot of figuring in trying to perfect her figure.

Tric acid, unknown in the days of a simple, natural, out-of-door life, is a modern poison created inside the human body by a combination of most-eating, overwork, worry and lack of rest.
