Sale of Short Horn Cattle at Asheville.

Mr. Editor, Another word with the Beef Cattle men of Madison County. There will be a sale of pure bred Short Horn Cattle at Asheville, N. C., on Wednesday the 12th day of May 1915. This sale will be conducted by the American Short Horn Breeder's Association under the direct supervision of Mr. F. W. Harding, Chicago, Ill. who is Secretary of this organization. The sale will be at the Fair Grounds also known as Riverside Park, Asheville, N. C.

We have the assurance of the Association, through Mr. Harding, that no cattle will be put on sale that will not be a credit to his Association, as well as to the farmer who makes the purchase. These cattle will be in the States one or more days before the day of sale, and all prospective buyers are urged upon, to be on hand at least one day before the sale and locate the individual bull or heifer desired and make up his mind on the quality and price of the animal. Mr. R. S. Curtis and Mr. K. C. Ikeler, of West Raleigh, N. C. who have charge of the Beef Cattle business in North Carolina will be there two or three days in advance of the sale and will advise with farmers relative to quality and price of stock.

No one need be alarmed about mouth and foot disease; as every animal offered for sale will carry with him a certificate of Registration, and also a certificate of tuberculin test and freedom from foot and mouth trouble from the State Veterinarian of North Carolina. All farmers in Madison who desire to join the progressive movement in this County should attend this sale and be among the leaders of the movement. Nothing will add as much just now to any community in the county as to bring in a pure bred bull. Where a settlement has no one man able or willing to buy one, let two or more farmers join and buy one co-operatively; which will be done in many places.

An Illustrated Lecture (By I. C. Ikeler.)

Mr. Editor, I am authorized to announce to the Beef Cattle growers and all others interested in the cattle business of Madison County, that Mr. K. C. Ikeler, employed as field agent in North Carolina, to stimulate this industry in the State will give an illustrated Lantern Lecture in the Court House at Marshall, N. C., at 8 o'clock p. m. Monday, April 26th 1915.

This lecture on beef cattle and why our people should vigorously engage in this business, will be free to everybody. Citizens all over the County who can conveniently attend will doubtless be both entertained and instructed. Boys and girls of the town and county near by should not miss the educational value of this Lecture and entertainment. Women of artistic taste, who desire to see pretty pictures would doubtless enjoy this hour.

"World Court" For Peace

John Hays Hammond Says America Should take Initiative

New York Times. In an address yesterday morning John Hays Hammond predicted that a "world court," an international tribunal, would hear all justifiable questions. He said that the Hague questions. He said that had The Hague Tribunal of 1907 achieved anywhere nearly as much as its projectors had hoped, it would have prevented the present war. "This world court," said Mr. Hammond, "is the first step to render possible any limitation of armament. The leaders in the creation of this court do not expect thereby to obviate the possibility of future wars any more than medical science can avail to eradicate disease, or that colleges can banish ignorance, or religion put a stop to wickedness. The most that is expected is that such a court will minimize the danger of wars. There can be no question of the adequacy of the court. "Because of her irreproachable neutrality, her conspicuous advocacy of peace, her commanding position in finance, industry and commerce, her freedom from political alliances, and almost more than all, her polygot population. America is ordained of God to take the lead in this world court proposition. It is our supreme duty, our golden opportunity, and let it be our cherished privilege.

Mr. Hammond scouted the pleas of the armed peace people. Christian nations expended on this armament, in time of peace $500,000,000 a year, he said, and a mere fraction of that sum, according to experts, would put an end to tuberculosis throughout the world.

An Old Resident

Three score year and ten, according to the good book, is the allotted time of the average man or woman. But by reason of a robust constitution, and right living, many reach out far beyond these years. A few days since, Mrs. Rebecca Ramsey, widow of the late Rev. W. W. Ramsey, of the Walnut section, was in town visiting her many acquaintances and friends.

She is 83 years old, and is exceedingly spry and chipper for one of her age; and possibly the future holds for her many more years of a well spent life. She has several children living among them being Ex-Sheriff Jim Ramsey, well known to our people and Mrs. W. A. West is one of her grand children.

A Way to Stop the War

Through the mail today we received a circular from many of the papers in the North and South putting forth a plea that we use our influence toward the stopping of the war in Europe and saying that we ought to appeal to the manufacturers of powder and shot and shell that they stop selling to these nations who are at the present time trying to end the existence one of another. It would be indeed a fine way to stop it all because their factories are not capable of doing all the work necessary to supply the need they have for these things. This letter comes signed by the ministers of all kinds of faiths but one now in the desire to see the end of the war. We have but a feeble voice and are like one crying in the wilderness but still we wish that we could persuade our countrymen to stop supplying the articles of war and see if that would not stop the war itself. The war is being felt in every place and we here in America are feeling it, not so much as they on the field are but still the war times have their effect on us and we ought to try and get back to normal conditions. So we are very much in favor of this movement which is for the bringing of peace, lets all help all we can.

Makes 61 Feel Like 16

"I suffered from kidney ailment for two years," writes Mrs. M. A. Bridges Robinson, Miss., I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills about ten months ago. I am 61 years of age and feel like a 16 year-old girl." Foley Kidney Pills invigorate weak and deranged kidneys, relieve backache, rheumatism and bladder trouble.—Dr. I. E. Burnett, Mars Hill, N. C.

Preparing to Restore Temple of Solomon.

The Jews are preparing to restore the temple of Solomon. The whole world is being stirred by a startling movement of the Jews toward their homeland. Ten years ago their were only 1,000 Jews in the city of Jerusalem; there are now 100,000. More than 200,000 Jews are found in the colonies recently established in Palestine. These are proving successful; good crops are being raised.

More than $20,000,000 is being invested in railroads. Within the next few months Jerusalem will have become a city of electric city; rails are being laid for electric cars. The Jews have $5,000,000 in a Jerusalem bank. They have purchased a large amount of land. Until forty years ago the land of Palestine was arid. There were few inhabitants. There is a prophecy which reads, "In the last days I will pour out upon you again the latter rains." Rain has come in abundance in the last few years; Palestine again blossoms; 10,000 olive trees have been planted in Samaria.

It is believed that Jerusalem will become as of old the marketplace of the Orient, and that Palestine will again "flow with milk and honey."—Philadelphia Evening Times.

A Chicago paper says South America is sending up a cry for machinery. Good. Do more shipping and less gambling.

Pointed Paragraphs

Why is war? "Made in America" is better. Breezy minds are never becalmed.

To Mexico: Now be good or get spanked. You may know it, but do we? Better tell us.

What a blessing is peace—in the home. Wise men absorb knowledge. Fools absorb wind.

"Bought at home and used at home" is also good. What effect has the war on America? Ask some one who knows:

When the mighty lead little fellows toddle along behind. But we often feel lonesome in front.

To the President: "Buy a bale of cotton" is good. A dollar a year for this paper is also good—very good.

Fill your lungs with air and your brain with knowledge and your pockets will fill themselves. Don't be afraid of the other fellow. You may look just as big to him.

Men exhibit battle wounds and call it glory. If the cow kicks them they cuss.

Ninty-nine per cent of our people want peace and disarmament. The other one percent has to do the fighting.

The Turk manfully restrains his diabolical grin. Carranza is standing alone to day, but tomorrow he may need a crutch.

"Peace is in sight," says a local prognosticator. Of course. We can see a long ways these days.

Want to know what women's gowns are to look like this season? Go out in the cornfield and gaze upon a scarecrow.

A young man about town wants to know how he can improve his physique. Woodpile.

Gold is the only circulating medium in Europe, but it isn't doing much circulating.

Having traveled the circuit, war is now being blamed upon the heroes of literature.

"French Turcoos charge like hell let loose," says a foreign dispatch. Perhaps. Can't say. Never been to hell.

The war is costing England at the rate of $44.80 a second, which is slightly in excess of the cost of running a country newspaper.

If you have nothing else to do for the next sixty days, just sit down and try digging the truth out of this blasted war.

If the government wants more revenue to keep the wolf from the Star Spangled door step, we suggest a tax on politicians. "T'would be some war.

Col. Alexander Boyd Andrews

Approaching seventy four years of age, his health such as seemingly to promise many more years of life, there came at an early hour last night the sudden summons to cross the river to Col. Alexander Boyd Andrews, a man whose life has been identified with the progress of North Carolina, a man whose sudden taking off will come, as a shock to a great host of friends.

Born in Franklin county in 1841, entering the Confederate army at the out break of the War Between the States, returning from it with the rank of captain and with wounds received on the field of battle, he entered into the railroad work and became a factor in railroad and banking life of the State. First with the Raleigh and Gaston Railway as superintendent, he rose from official position and in 1895 became the first vice-president of the Southern Railway, a position which he has held since. In the organization of the present Citizens National Bank in 1871 he became a director and has been its vice-president since 1890.

Col. Andrews was perhaps first among the constructive captains of industry in North Carolina, his part as leader of the movement which caused the building of the Western North Carolina Railroad being such as to give opportunity for development to the great West of this State. He was deeply interested in education and as a member of the executive committee of the University of North Carolina he rendered service to his State. A confederate veteran, he kept close to his heart the men of the gray, and was a director of the Confederate Soldiers' Home. President of many railroads connected with the Southern and interested in many other enterprises in the State he was a citizen whose life has been one of service in the State's up-building.

Col. Andrews was a man who loved his home, and the circle at his fireside was one of cheer, broken now by the passing away of the one who was its guiding spirit. As boy and man, as citizen and soldier, as railroad builder and as factor in business life, as husband and father, he had established high place in North Carolina. His going away will bring grief to many, and the deepest sympathy of a host of friends goes out to the home that is so bereft in his death.—Raleigh News & Observer,
