Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time, when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicines."—Mrs. EMMA CULVER, 705 E. 7th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

Immunity in Measles Serum

Doctor Rudolf Degkwitz Reports Successful Experiments With New Preventive.

MEDICAL SCIENCE INTERESTED

Hope to Conquer the Most Deadly of all Children's Diseases—Danger in Public Apathy and Ignorance of Infectious Malaria.

Manchester, England.—Dr. Rudolf Degkwitz announces in the Deutsche Medizinische Wochenschrift (an authoritative publication) that he has succeeded in conferring immunity to measles by injecting a serum prepared from convalescent patients.

"This may prove to be one of the greatest epochs in preventive medicine," writes a medical correspondent of the Manchester Guardian. "In his last series of 1,700 cases Degkwitz claims that all the contacts inoculated were completely immunized or so protected that the disease was developed only in its mildest form and there was no untoward result.

"If these results are confirmed and the method can be effectively and generally applied, the result should be an even greater saving of life than has accrued from Jenner's discovery of vaccination.

Most Deadly of All.

"Measles, the most deadly of all the diseases of childhood, continues to be the least controllable of the scourges which regularly affect our people," the Guardian's correspondent says warningly. "With the possible exception of influenza there is no form of epidemic disease in face of which preventive medicine is so helpless. The causes for this are mainly two. In the first place the disease is not only highly infective but its infectivity is highest before the symptoms can be recognized. The child which contracts measles has three or four days in which to infect his family, his friends and his school-fellows before it is known definitely that he is suffering from measles at all. The second cause is public apathy and ignorance of the dangerous nature of the complaint.

"Half a century ago there appears to have been some justification for regarding measles as a trifling disorder, something that every child must 'get over,' and the sooner the better. Owing to the operation of the still mysterious laws which govern changes in type of disease, scarlet fever, which was justly dreaded, has declined in virulence and ceased to be one of the major dangers of childhood; diphtheria is also much milder in form and its dangers can almost be eliminated by the early use of anti-toxin. But measles has become more deadly year by year.

Recent Epidemic.

"The present writer can recall one recent epidemic of measles in a Lancashire town which slew in six months precisely the number of children that had succumbed to scarlet fever in ten years. Yet it is still not an unknown thing for a mother to put the other children in bed with a case of measles so that they may all 'get over it together,' and it is the constant complaint of doctors that they are not called in until the child is blue from pneumonia and beyond all aid.

"Compare this apathy with the horror of smallpox. Yet, before the introduction of vaccination, when smallpox was regarded as the national plague, the death rate from this cause averaged 420 per million. In 1915 the death rate from measles was 398 per million. Neither the government nor the local authorities seem to have

Study Chinese in New York City

Group of Philosophers Live in Bamboo Forest and Teach Lore of Far East.

SCHOOL IN A TEA GARDEN

But a Foreign Language May Also Be Learned by Dancing, Head Philosopher Finds—Comes From Famous Family.

New York.—Not many people know that among the many interesting things which develop in New York city is a group of Chinese philosophers who dwell in a bamboo forest. Knowing that the forest is on Macdougall street helps, for many interesting things come out of Macdougall street.

derstand English; another speaks Russian.

Teach Chinese.

Chinese is taught by Doctor Liu in a semi-popular way, much as the European languages are taught. It is comparatively simple to obtain a slight working knowledge of the language, the students find. The delight of writing mysterious characters such as those which grow on tea chests is one of which the pupils never tire. In time they expect to a certain extent to read Chinese poetry and philosophy. In the meantime they imbibe it from Doctor Liu, who later is to arrange special courses in Chinese poetry and philosophy, with the aid of lecturers from Columbia.

Doctor Liu believes that his work is valuable in promoting mutual understanding between Chinese and Americans. He thinks each country can obtain of the other something of value which it needs—that China can get practical business methods from America and America can feel the quieting influence of Chinese philosophy.

In the meantime, the American students of Chinese are absorbing knowledge literally in a bamboo forest. It is something like Shakespeare's "tongues in trees, books in running brooks." At the Bamboo Forest the students read—if they can make it out—Chinese poetry written on lacquered tables, some of it by great national poets and other verses contributed by Doctor Liu himself. Big decorative Chinese characters signifying "happiness" or "wisdom" cover the walls or the bamboo poles which form the forest.

In Bamboo Forest.

This forest is a Chinese tea garden which, with American business vision, Doctor Liu saw would have to pay overhead charges while he was carrying on his chosen work and gathering around him as applicants for Chinese wisdom little coteries of interested philosophers and friends. The tables covered with Chinese characters were all decorated by the head philosopher himself.

The Bamboo Forest is indoors in a basement of the little old Macdougall street house in winter, but in fair weather extends to a more real bamboo forest in the open at the rear.

Doctor Liu is a philosophic philosopher. He takes the American world as he finds it and adopts its customs and habits. He attended the recent ball of the Independent Artists at the Waldorf dressed as a prince of the old Tang period. But he danced American dances with the rest of the American world, an accomplishment he learned while at Columbia.

The head philosopher of the Bamboo Forest comes from a family of both students and warriors. His father was president of a Chinese college, and an uncle, the famous Gen. Hwang Hsing, led the republican forces in the revolution in China in 1912.

MEXICO IS NOW FAST PICKING UP

Remarkable Progress Being Made in Overcoming Illiteracy.

Night Schools in Capital Have Taught Many Persons to Read and Write—Laboring Class is Deeply Interested.

Mexico City.—Remarkable progress is being made in overcoming illiteracy in the capital, according to information obtained from the department of public education of the federal government.

During the first three months of the present year approximately 15,000 persons of the lower class were taught to read and write. This educational work is being carried on largely by means of night schools, which are of themselves something of a novelty in Mexico.

It is stated that interest on the part of the laboring class in this educational work is unbounded. They crowd the schools to full capacity and there are hundreds who cannot as yet be taken care of on account of the lack of teachers and other facilities. Men and women of middle age vie with sandal-footed youths to obtain enough instruction to enable them to read and write.

The teaching of the fundamentals, which is being done in the schools, is supplemented by a series of educational lectures that are given in moving picture theaters on Sundays. So successful has been this plan of teaching the lowly natives the rudiments of reading and writing in this city that the department of public education plans to extend the work to all of the larger cities and many of the smaller communities of the country.

President Alvaro Obregon has shown a keen interest in this new phase of education and has pledged to provide the necessary financial means for carrying it forward.

Plans to Dive for Lost Treasure of Buccaneers

Cape May, N. J.—Jay E. Meccay of Cape May, N. J., is organizing a syndicate to try to recover the doubloons and pieces-of-eight which formed the cargo of the Spanish vessel Matizanos, sunk off Turtle Cut inlet a century ago. Manned by pirates and en route from the Spanish main to New York to dispose of the loot, the ship was driven by a gale on the shoals off the inlet about seven miles north of Cape May.

waked up to the facts represented by these figures. We continue to lavish enormous sums of money on the hospital isolation of scarlet fever with very little effect on the prevalence of the disease, but hospital accommodation for measles is very rarely provided.

"Scarlet fever is compulsorily notifiable; the notification of measles is optional and, in these days of anti-spending as opposed to true economy, practically in abeyance."

He Would Work Then.
Tired Tim knocked at the door of a cottage. It was a chilly day, and he was very hungry.
The old lady who opened the door was a good sort. She asked him into the kitchen and placed before him a nicely cooked meal, and asked him why he did not go to work.
"I would," replied Tim, "if I had the tools."
"What sort of tools do you want?" inquired the old lady.
"A knife and fork," said Tired Tim.

They had to leave the car at the next corner.
