

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Milk for the Baby.

Two-year-old Betty had always used a special brand baby milk but recently has been drinking very little, preferring the more solid foods. At the dinner table a few days ago it became the subject of discussion and it was decided to discontinue the special milk when Phyllis, six years old, who had been listening with interest, inquired: "Daddy, where do they get milk for babies? Is that calf's milk?"

NO IDLE FACTORIES IN NORTH CAROLINA

INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS EVERYWHERE SATISFACTORY, SAYS MONTHLY SURVEY.

UNSKILLED LABOR IN DEMAND

Survey Gives Conditions in Several of the Leading Towns of the State.

Raleigh. Practically every industrial plant in North Carolina is in operation and many of them are working overtime, according to the monthly survey of conditions issued by the United States Employment Service through its state office.

Unskilled labor for use in construction work is holding the center of the stage throughout the state, and the demand for skilled labor has fallen off somewhat. This falling off is offset by the fact that most skilled labor has been employed for several weeks past. Surplus of help is indicated for truck drivers, clerical and domestic classes. The survey issued gives conditions in the following North Carolina cities:

General—Market increase shown in fertilizers. Textiles and their products reveal a very slight increase. Lumber mills show a slight decrease in employment.

Winston-Salem.—All plants running, with sufficient work for all unemployed. A small surplus of machinists exist. With labor adjustments have come employment in one railroad shop, operations in another are still interrupted by the controversy.

Wilmington.—General employment improved. Two packing plants closed with expectation that both will resume operation in a short time. Fish plants operating on the Cape Fear river will soon open for fall season, affording employment to approximately 600 or 700 men. Common labor well employed, while a surplus of clerks still exist. Rebuilding of an iron works, recently burned, costing approximately $50,000, will be completed within the near future, affording employment to 50 or 75 workers. Construction of residences still continues, providing employment to the building trades.

Durham.—All plants operating full time, with exception of one on part time. Tobacco manufacturers show strong increase in employment. Slight increase in employment noted in miscellaneous industries and paper and printing.

Gastonia.—No surplus or shortage of labor. Textiles disclose increased employment, while lumber and its manufacture is apparently holding its own. Practically all plants in operation. Surplus of clerical workers, truck drivers and domestic help, and shortage of farm laborers apparent. Housing conditions inadequate. Building construction under way to relieve housing situation.

Charlotte.—Labor supply and demand about balanced, with the exception of a shortage of unskilled labor, especially on road and bridge work. A surplus of clerical workers exists. All plants are working full time. The housing situation improving. High Point.—The continuity of a healthy employment condition is unbroken. All plants running on full time. Continuation of present construction program in effect still affording employment to building craftsmen. Inadequacy of housing facilities continues.

Raleigh.—Unemployment decidedly decreased. A small surplus of clerical workers, machinists and truck drivers exists. No plants of any consequence closed.

N. C. Poultry Association to Meet. The North Carolina Poultry association is preparing for one of the greatest poultry exhibits ever held in North Carolina, December 13 to 16, at Greensboro. Dr. B. F. Kaupp, poultry investigator for the experiment station, recently stated that the show would be held jointly by the State and Central Carolina Poultry Associations. The show will be held in connection with the annual meeting of the North Carolina Poultry association.

On the night of the 13th the annual meeting of the State association will be held. At this time there will be the election of officers and an inauguration of the association's efforts to promote better marketing facilities for North Carolina poultry products. On the night of the 14th there will be an special educational program featuring speeches by Dr. Kaupp and E. F. Adams, of Charleston, S. C., director of the Fourth district of the American Poultry association.

New Corporations. Charters were filed with the secretary of state for the following corporations to do business. Piedmont Title company, of Durham, with $50,000 authorized capital and $3,000 subscribed, by J. M. Lipscomb, J. A. Buchanan and B. M. Watkins, all of Durham. Walters and Conks' Catering association, Inc., of Wilmington, without capital stock. The incorporators are W. D. Polite, president; J. T. Lee, vice president, and A. D. Kee, secretary.

National Guardsmen at School. Several national guard officers and non-commissioned officers are now attending army schools of instruction under authority of the war department. Among them are First Lieut. G. W. Hines, troop E, 109th cavalry, Lincoln, who is spending three months at Fort Riley, Kansas; Capt. W. S. Copeland, Co. A, 120th infantry, of Burlington, who is attending the infantry school at Camp Benning, for three months; First Lieut. F. J. Timberlake of the headquarters detachment and combat train, 11th field artillery.

State-wide Spelling Contest.

The state-wide spelling contest to be held on Wednesday afternoon, November 23, which is the first day of the 1922 session of the Teachers' assembly, will determine what boy or girl in North Carolina is the champion speller of the state. This contest was inaugurated last year and proved such a success and so popular, the executive committee has determined to make it one of the annual yearly features of the assembly meeting. Last year there were about a hundred contestants. This year upward of 200 are expected.

The contestants must come from any of the first seven grades of the schools, or from the first eight grades of the grammar schools run through the eighth instead of the seventh grades. The majority of the spellers, however, will come from the first seven grades. One representative from the rural schools and one from the town or city schools of every county should be sent to Raleigh.

The Teachers' Assembly will award the successful spellers banners for their school, and a gold medal for themselves. There will be three of these banners and three of the medals each denoting the three best spellers in North Carolina for the year 1922.

The final contest will be written and the words will be taken from the New World Speller, Book 2, Grade 7. The children coming to Raleigh will be furnished pencils and paper as well as all other necessary equipment for entering the contest. The committee does not want any child to furnish any of his own material for the contest. The different schools can use any method they desire to select the contestants they will send to Raleigh. Either the oral or written method may be used, but the committee wishes to emphasize the fact that the final contest will be written.

Upham Named Chairman Committee.

Charles M. Upham, chief engineer for the North Carolina Highway Commission, has been named as chairman of the executive committee of the American Road Builders' association, and in that position will play an important part in the coming session to be held in Chicago next January.

As chairman also of the show committee, Mr. Upham will direct the arrangements of what now promises to be the largest showing of road building machinery ever brought together. The show will be held in the Coliseum at Chicago, while the sessions of the association will be held at the Congress hotel.

Besides Chairman Frank Page, of the State Highway Commission, who is vice-president of the association, and Mr. Upham, several hundred North Carolina contractors and highway engineers are expected to attend the meeting of the association and the exposition in January. Mr. Upham promises the biggest thing of its sort that has ever been staged in the United States.

According to Chairman Upham of the general arrangement committee the chief difficulty will be in providing space for all the exhibits, though arrangements will be made for all the additional space that it is possible to obtain.

"The program for the congress," Mr. Upham said, "as it is now being worked out, will be entirely different from any that we have heretofore had. Instead of avoiding controversial subjects as in the past, the program will consist of controversial subjects of vital interest to the whole road-building industry. This will heighten interest in the sessions and will provoke interesting and informative oral discussions."

"The Highway Industries Exhibitors' Association," continued Mr. Upham, "is working in close touch with those in active charge of the arrangements. We expect to conduct a publicity campaign with more far-reaching effect and greater compelling force than has heretofore and I believe the attendance will break all records."

The general offices of the American Road Builders' Association have been moved from 11 Waverly Place, New York, to 37 West Thirty-ninth street, New York.

Over 500 Men Take Training.

More than 500 men, with monthly subsistence allowance ranging from $80 to $150 per month, are in training for vocation under the jurisdiction of the Raleigh sub-district office which covers the territory of Eastern North Carolina, according to announcement of W. W. Boulineau, Jr., manager of the Raleigh sub-district office of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau. These men are training for vocations ranging from the simplest trades to professions of law, engineering and medicine, the line chosen depending upon the nature of the ex-service man's handicap, his degree of learning, inclination and skill.

A number of colored ex-service men, disabled as a result of the war, are taking similar courses at the North Carolina Agricultural and Technical College at Greensboro.

Screw Driver Falls on Head of Woman

New York. — A half-pound screw-driver, which rolled from a window-sill on the nineteenth floor of a Sixth avenue building, landed on the head of Mrs. Ella Coleman, a passer-by, penetrating her skull. The force accumulated by the small tool in its fall knocked Mrs. Coleman to the sidewalk and her left leg became instantly paralyzed. At Bellevue hospital, where her condition was described as critical, it was found the screw-driver had entered her head for about two inches.

COTTON STATES BOARD TO MEET

GOVERNOR MORRISON ISSUES A CALL FOR COMMISSION TO MEET IN MEMPHIS.

WILL CONVENE DECEMBER 4

To Adopt a Permanent Plan of Organization for Submission to the Several Legislatures.

Raleigh.—Governor Cameron Morrison issued a call for the cotton states commission, composed of three representatives of each of the cotton growing states to meet at Memphis, Tenn., Monday, December 4, at 1 o'clock, to adopt a permanent plan of organization looking to the maintenance of the commission for submission to the legislatures of the various southern states.

Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, Governor Morrison announced, will be present at the meeting of the commission, and has designated A. L. Quaintance, of the bureau of entomology, and G. S. Mallory, of the bureau of agricultural economics, to attend as representatives of the United States department of agriculture.

The commission had its inception in an act passed by the legislature of North Carolina in 1891, authorizing the governor of North Carolina to appoint a commission to act in concert with similar commissions from other cotton growing states in the formation of a permanent cotton commission and in preparation of a uniform plan for the improvement of the cotton growing industry in the South.

Governor Morrison appointed the commission, and since that time a similar commission has been appointed by the governor of each cotton growing state. This commission met at New Orleans on February 23, and adopting a plan of organization, referred to the governors of the various states for ratification, with the understanding that upon the completion of the ratification, the governor of North Carolina should call and appoint a time and place for a meeting to perfect plans for the establishment of the commission on a permanent basis.

It was in compliance with this understanding that Governor Morrison called the commission into session. Announcement of the place and date of the meeting have been sent to the members of the commission in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

Seized Vessels to be Released.

Washington.—Release of all foreign vessels seized outside the American three-mile limit with liquor on board, where there is no evidence of communication with the shore by means of the vessels' own boats, was ordered by Secretary Mellon.

The order was contained in instructions sent customs officials at New York, in connection with the British auxiliary schooner M. M. Gardner, seized September 13. According to the official report, seizure of this vessel was made outside the three-mile limit, and while the master admitted unloading part of the cargo beyond the three-mile limit, Mr. Mellon ruled there was no evidence that the vessel was communicating with the shore by means of her own boats or equipment.

"Under these circumstances," the secretary's order said, "it is the desire of the department of justice that all foreign vessels so seized shall be released, and you will be governed accordingly. A report should be made to the department in each instance."

Governors Will Meet December 14-16.

Madison, Wis.—The fourteenth annual governors' conference, composed of state governors and governors-elect will meet at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., December 14 to 16, Miles C. Riley, secretary of the conference, announced.

This year's meeting, Mr. Riley said, will be unusual in the number of the state executives attending, and in the importance of problems to be considered. The conference program is to be announced later. Thirty-two governors were elected November 7, only eight of the men now in office being returned for another term, Mr. Riley said.

Consumers Urge Child Labor Law.

Washington.—Enactment of a Federal child labor law that would withstand any attack made on the ground of unconstitutionality was urged in resolutions adopted at the annual meeting here of the National Consumers' league.
