Table-Card Is "Scrap of Paper" to Her

Washington society and the diplomatic corps were excited over a disturbing incident at the recent official dinner given by the President and Mrs. Coolidge in honor of the diplomats, whereat the wife of the Belgian ambassador, the Baroness de Cartier de Marchienne, declined to accept the German ambassador, Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, as her allotted dinner partner. It appears that the prearranged plan for seating the dinner guests provided that Dr. Wiedfeldt should be the escort and table companion of Baroness de Cartier. The baroness, who was formerly Mrs. Hamilton Wilkes-Cary of New York, expressed herself in no uncertain terms as to what she thought of it. Those in charge of the dinner were understood to have learned that the baroness would either have another table companion or would not be present at the dinner. Accordingly other arrangements were made and the wife of the Japanese ambassador was escorted to the dining room by Dr. Wiedfeldt. Outwardly, this disposed of the incident, with no other embarrassment to those in charge of the dinner than rearranging the table places for the other guests. But friends of the baroness were told how and why the prearranged order of precedence was done over at the eleventh hour, and the incident therefore assumed international as well as social significance. Diplomats agreed that this action would be interpreted as an affront to the German government, which Dr. Wiedfeldt represents, by the government of Belgium, represented by the baroness' husband.

Sir Esme Howard to Succeed Geddes

Sir Esme William Howard will succeed Sir Auckland Geddes as British ambassador to the United States. Sir Auckland resigns because he is virtually an invalid, suffering from eye trouble caused by gas in the World War. The post is regarded in British cabinet circles as the most important in the diplomatic service. Sir Esme is at present British ambassador at Madrid. He is known in Washington diplomatic life through residence here from 1906 to 1908 as counselor of the British embassy, and, therefore, he will not come here a stranger. He entered the diplomatic service in 1885, and prior to his appointment to Madrid in 1919 served for six years as minister to Sweden and from 1911 to 1913 as minister to Switzerland. Like Sir Auckland, he is a veteran of the South African war, where both distinguished themselves. He is sixty years old and in 1895 married Lady Isabella Giustiniani-Bandini, daughter of Prince Giustiniani-Bandini, earl of Newburgh. He has held various diplomatic posts at Rome, Berlin, Crete, Vienna, and Budapest. In 1886 he was secretary to the earl of Carnarvon in Ireland and in 1894 private secretary to the earl of Kimberley, secretary of state for foreign affairs. He was a member of the British delegation to the Paris peace conference in 1919. Sir Esme is a member of the Roman Catholic house of Howard, of which the duke of Norfolk is the head. A Howard was lord high admiral of England when the Armada was defeated.

British Make a Fuss Over Lady Astor

The British are making a great fuss over Lady Astor (the American-born Nancy Langhorne) as a "political campaigner absolutely beyond parallel or description." Here's a paragraph about her from the London Daily Mail: "Ready to address a meeting... sitting straight up in her chair... young looking... winsome... in imminent danger of looking dainty. How she held her audience! How entertained and moved they listened for an hour to sweet Lady Astor and stern Lady Astor and light Lady Astor and genuine Lady Astor and vivid Lady Astor and thoughtful Lady Astor and play-to-'em Lady Astor and tell-'em-the-truth Lady Astor and Virginia Lady Astor and British Lady Astor and all the other Lady Astors of which Lady Astor is made." And here is part of what a London correspondent says about her: "She has zip, vim and bing in excess, I heard an American man say. She is a force in England. She has introduced into our British blood and politics some very lively and efficient American corpuscles. They are doing us good. Here is an American woman who in England has become by far the most dominant figure in the United Kingdom. She gets far more space than the queen or even the Princess Mary in the newspapers, and it is true in these days that everything which is said about her is good natured and in general admiring—which used not to be the case. I have never known another triumph so peculiar and complete."

F. C. Billard Now Heads Coast Guard

Frederick C. Billard of Maryland, who has been serving with the rank of lieutenant commander as aid to the captain commandant of the United States Coast Guard, Commodore William E. Reynolds, has been appointed by the President to succeed his chief, who retires because of age. Commodore Billard has been twenty-nine years in the service. The Coast Guard is much in evidence just now in connection with the Eighteenth amendment. But it is always a service full of romance and adventure. It is a consolidation which took place in 1915 of the revenue cutter service (1790) and the life-saving service (1848). It costs about ten millions a year to maintain it and its personnel numbers about 5,000. There are in ordinary times about 35 cruising and harbor cutters and 275 coast stations. In peacetime it operates under the secretary of the navy and in war times under the secretary of the treasury. It rescues several thousands from death every year and assists many thousands more in shipwrecks.

NEW BERN PEOPLE HEAR GOVERNOR

CHIEF EXECUTIVE URGES DEVELOPMENT OF STATE'S INLAND WATERWAYS.

SPEAKS OF ROADS PROGRESS

Will Never Get Justice in Freight Rates Without Competition, He Says.

New Bern.—"North Carolina will never get justice in the matter of freight rates until she sets up water competition with the railroads," Governor Cameron Morrison told 300 New Bern business men in the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in his plan for the development of the State's inland waterways. The Governor opened his speech with a brief review of his administration dwelling particularly on the revised system of taxation which he said left to the individual counties the revenue from their property values relieving the masses of support of the State government and placing the burden on the earnings of wealth. He spoke of the good roads program declaring it was coming to be one of the greatest in the Union and of the progress the State had made educationally in caring for the expansion of the State institutions. In fact Governor Morrison said everything that had been suggested in his inaugural address had been written into law and for the support North Carolinians generally had given his program he was very grateful. There was only one major suggestion he made that had not been written into law. He referred to his State shipping project. "We need not cuss the Interstate Commerce Commission or the Corporation Commission on account of freight rates," the Governor declared. "It's nobody's fault but our own rates are fixed by law and not even the railroads could give us better rates." He went on to say then that the provision of water transportation competition would pave the way for the adjustments that are needed in the way of rates. The system of good roads and utilization of the great waterways would solve the rate problem and "the railroads won't bother us much more," the speaker asserted. In the course of his address Governor Morrison touched on the deficit controversy asserting that his stand had been justified and instead of the alleged five million deficit the State had a surplus of one million dollars.

Kinston to Build New Church. Kinston.—The Gordon Street Church of Christ here, leading congregation of the Disciples of Christ in North Carolina, will own one of the largest church plants in this part of the country with the erection of a proposed annex to its edifice. The church building is a handsome structure, equipped along "institutional" lines. The congregation plans to invest in a Bible school and recreational building in rear of the church. Construction of this will give the Gordon Street congregation a church plant a full block in depth. The proposed annex will have a front on North street.

Wilmington Makes Mission Record. Wilmington.—Boys of the Wilmington Young Men's Christian Association are holding two records of which they are justly proud, according to an official announcement of the association city secretary. Wilmington boys lead the world in giving to missions. A check was mailed a few days ago to national headquarters for the full amount, which exceeds any other Y. M. C. A. boys' division in the world. Thus, for three successive years Wilmington boys have captured this record. The goal this year was $13,000.

Defer Action on Naming Generals. Raleigh.—Selection of the figures to represent North Carolina on the vast memorial frieze on Stone Mountain, near Atlanta, Ga., was deferred by the committee until some time later, when members of the committee will visit the memorial on the occasion of the unveiling of the figure of General Robert E. Lee. Five figures will be selected from among the officers of the Confederate army from each state to be carved in heroic dimensions on the face of the mountain. The names of seven have been suggested to the committee, but the committee will make no selection until it has consulted the executive committee of the Stone Mountain Memorial Association.

Forest Fires Are Held to Minimum. Asheville.—Only 450 acres of land were burned over by forest fires during the last six months of 1923 in Buncombe county, according to a report made here by Carl L. Peterson, district warden. Mr. Peterson stated that in the 13 months of his district during the Fall months of 1923, 15,466 acres were burned over, which he stated was a good record. He added that proper measures for the protection of the forests was doing much in the way of conservation and that 1923 had been a good year.

The Economical Quality Car

Chevrolet prices are not the lowest on the market, yet Chevrolet economical transportation averages lowest in cost. This average cost considers the purchase price, interest on investment, depreciation and all operating and maintenance costs. A detailed comparison with any other car in the low priced field will convince you that Chevrolet is the best buy because of its superior quality and because the purchase price includes full equipment. More than a million Chevrolets are now in use. Twelve huge plants are now building them at the rate of twenty-five hundred per working day. Nearly one-half million Chevrolets were bought in 1923—far exceeding in number the sales of any other quality car. Thus, our statements have the strongest possible backing, namely, the faith and patronage of the American people who know automobiles and know practical values better than any other people on earth. Let any one of our seven thousand dealers show you our seven types of cars and explain how easy it is to get one and enjoy its use.
