From BLUFF

We are still having Sunday School every Sunday with a very good attendance.

Last Saturday and Sunday were our regular meeting days. Two very interesting sermons were delivered by a Rev. Mr. Goforth, who preached instead of our pastor, Rev. Wiley Graham.

Mr. Ted R. Russell and family and Miss Bonnie Miller attended church at Liberty last Friday night.

Miss Maxie Weaver and Mr. Craig Russell, Miss Margaret Russell and Mr. Elsie Miller motored to Roaring Fork Saturday p. m., on a joy ride.

Mr. J. A. Melton from Hartford, Tenn., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Melton, Sunday.

Mr. Ted Russell and family and Miss Bonnie Miller motored to Marshall, N. C., last Saturday.

Miss Maxie Weaver spent last Tuesday night with her assistant teacher, Miss Laura Waddell.

Mr. Dayton Meadows called on Miss Bonnie Miller Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Fred Bryant and small son, Thomas, spent the past week-end at the home of Mr. W. M. Bryant of Hot Springs, N. C.

Miss Margaret Russell, Mr. Ruten Ebbs, Miss Maxie Weaver and Mr. Craig Russell went kodaking Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Clarence Finley, Mrs. Charlie Finley and Miss Mae Finley visited relatives in Hot Springs last Sunday.

Mr. Edd Plemmons is a regular called at Rev. C. L. Miller's home.

Mr. G. V. Russell and son, Craig, motored to Hot Springs on a business trip Saturday.

Miss Clara Lusk spent Tuesday night with her cousin, Miss Margie Henderson.

GOVERNOR McLEOD TALKS MARKETING

MODERN METHODS ESSENTIAL TO SUCCESS, SAYS PALMETTO EXECUTIVE.

Kinston.—Governor Thos. G. McLeod, of South Carolina, was greeted by attendance of several hundred farmers and business men of this section when he addressed them at Hillcrest on the subject "Economic Conditions of Marketing."

The Palmetto executive spoke from the standpoint of a practical farmer, and business man, declaring that he knew a great deal more about a mule's reverse signal than the average motorist about his car. "The trouble with the farming industry today," declared Gov. McLeod, is that farmers have failed to apply modern methods in marketing their crops. "It is just as essential," said he, "to sell the products of the farm intelligently as for merchants to use up-to-date methods in their business."

"The dumping of an entire crop on the market within a short space of time was not the intelligent plan and tended to lessen the producer's chance of getting fair price," said he.

"Cooperative marketing on a spasmodic plan to relieve a present situation is not worth considering," said Gov. McLeod, "but when based on principles of economic business just as any other occupation would consider a problem, then it is worthy of consideration."

"When considering today's problems it is essential to view them in terms of today and not as the fathers did before the war. The farmers raise everything that men eat and wear, yet in the United States, the farmers constitute only about one-third of the population."

"That is a big contract that if fulfilled ought to be with proper remuneration and with profit."

The address was less than an hour in length and was filled with spice and humor.

Get Ready to Open Fall Court.

Greensboro.—Federal court attaches of the Western North Carolina federal district here are preparing for the opening of the fall term in the district, the first of which will be at Shelby on the first Monday in September, with Judge E. Yates Webb to preside. Judge Webb will come here the first Monday in December to open a term of court for the trial of criminal cases.

Despite arduous work of the court, almost constant sessions, the number of cases, criminal and civil, increases faster than they can be cleared and both the North Carolina districts need relief in the creation of a "Central North Carolina" district, in the opinion of those conversant with the work of the court. It is considered practically certain that effort will be made again at the next session of Congress for creation of such a district, and with unanimous consent of the North Carolina delegation in Congress it could be secured.

Huge Distillery is Seized.

Thomasville.—J. L. Randall, Federal prohibition agent in company with Policeman C. T. Younts, of Thomasville, Deputy John Moore and Taxi Driver S. A. Billings, of Lexington, captured a 300 gallon steam distillery three miles east of Fullers in Randolph county. Also there were taken 200 gallons of liquor, 14 fermenters, 4 feet high and 4 feet square. The outfit was found 65 steps from a man's house whose name is withheld for the present and ten steps from another man's field where he had recently worked. The latter's name is also withheld. Mr. Randall says this was one of the largest and most perfectly equipped distilling plants that he has come up with in a long while.

Sam Y. Bryson Killed.

Hendersonville.—Sam Y. Bryson, former mayor of Hendersonville, was shot and instantly killed by B. L. Brooks, local barber. Brooks' 12-year-old son, Murray, was with his father, and is being held also without bail on the charge of murder. Both men are of prominent families and are well known.

The shooting occurred near the Southern Railway Station, and a large crowd was leaving the station when attracted by fusillade of a dozen or more shots. Bryson was hit by several bullets, being instantly killed.

Several men grabbed Brooks and after a sharp struggle, during which he snapped his revolver several times, he was subdued and taken in custody by the police.

False Arrest and Sues For $50,000.

Salisbury.—Suit has been instituted in Rowan Superior Court by J. W. Bostain against F. W. Woolworth Company, Inc., and T. D. Dunning, manager of Woolworth's Salisbury branch, for damages in the sum of $50,000. The suit was an outgrowth of the arrest and imprisonment for a short time of the plaintiff last May 20, following charges of theft of goods from the local store.

The case was tried in Rowan County court June 1 and the accused man was acquitted.

DOINGS IN THE TAR HEEL STATE

NEWS OF NORTH CAROLINA TOLD IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS FOR BUSY PEOPLE

Asheville.—With only 77 of an inch of rain registered during July, Asheville experienced the driest July in 22 years last month. The normal local precipitation is 4.75 for July.

Gastonia.—An infected jaw caused by a mere pimple which grew into a boil and was not given proper medical attention caused the death here of Kale Lineberger, age 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lineberger, of Harden.

New Bern.—Caught in the undertow when they ventured out too far in the surf, two New Bern negroes, Oliver McCabe and Henry Reddick, lost their lives at the colored bathing beach near Atlantic View beach across from Morehead City.

Gastonia.—G. M. Moss, aged filling station keeper of West Dallas, was held up and robbed by a lone boy bandit who threatened the victim's life if the latter should make an outcry before the get-away.

Burlington.—Four members of the family of A. M. Barnwell, whose home is three miles north of Cross Roads church, are taking the Pasteur treatment the result of one of the cows on the farm having rabies. They had been drinking the cow's milk. They are Mr. and Mrs. Barnwell, his son and daughter.

Wilmington.—King Haaken VI, of Norway, has decorated Walter Smallbones of this city, with the star of the order of St. Olaf and has conferred upon him the rank of Knight of the Kingdom of Norway. The knights of this order are selected by the king.

Oxford.—Edward Hudgins, white, aged nine, of Reidsville, who was visiting his uncle, G. C. Saunders, in Oxford, was killed in an auto wreck two miles from Oxford. Fionnie Hudgins, his cousin, aged 16, was driving a coupe in which were eight persons. The boy, who was killed, was riding on the running board.

Raleigh.—Infestation of cotton fields by the boll weevil now averages much higher than at any time last year and is much heavier in southern and eastern counties of the state, growing progressively lighter in the western cotton area. Franklin Sherman, of the state division of entomology.

Wilmington.—Customs receipts in the office of the Collector of Customs at the port of Wilmington reached an unprecedented figure of $971,331.64 during July, shattering all records for any previous month. The figures were made public by Col. A. L. McCaskill, Collector of Customs.

Barton Springs.—The Fall Matrons' Training Course, conducted by the Presbyterian Orphans' Home, will open at Barton Springs Sept. 1, with the largest enrollment in its history. This special course is held semi-annually, and provides training for those desiring positions as matrons, usually lasting for four months.

Gastonia.—Allen Ballard, of Kings Mountain, was reported as being in a critical condition with knife wounds from his feet to his head which required over 600 stitches and Charles Reynolds, also of Kings Mountain, is in serious conditions as the result of a cutting scrap and drunken brawl following a poker game.

Boone.—At Deep Gap, on the "Daniel Boone trail," which leads from Winston-Salem to the Tennessee line at Zionville by way of North Wilkesboro and Boone, the county of Watauga has just dedicated a school of the group system, handling the children of several communities, by means of school trucks of the best type.

Tarboro.—Funeral services for Lewis Pleasant, Tarboro lad who was drowned in what is known as "Collins Hole," a point in Tar river above old Bells bridge and at the first bend of the stream, were held from the home of the lad's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pleasant.

Douneville.—A baby boy with two front-teeth was born about a month ago to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Capps. Dr. George Patrick, the family physician, vouches for the veracity of the statement. When the child was a few days old one of the teeth cut the baby's tongue, making it necessary for the doctor to extract it, leaving the other one.

Fayetteville.—A rental book system will be placed in operation in the elementary school of the Fayetteville city schools this fall. In explaining this system, Supt. Harry Howell said that the rental plan will effect a considerable saving to the parents of school children, and that his plan is to lead up eventually to free text books.

Greenville.—With the completion of a high school building and a grammar school building now in course of construction, Greenville will have four school structures other than the East Carolina Teachers College and the Model School, the latter being a part of the college.

Ashokle.—The general county tax rate for Herford this year is $1.70 on the $100 property valuation. This is 34 cents higher than the 1924 rate, and is made necessary on account of the exhaustion of the half million dollar bonds issued three and a half years ago for road construction.
