THE FREEZE—Reports as to the effects of the recent cold snap vary. Some believe that the wheat and other small grain is badly damaged. Others claim that most wheat is not injured very much. Potatoes that were up were bit; they will grow out again. Probably most of the fruit was more or less injured. It will take some while yet to tell just how much damage was done.

If the wheat should be found to be hurt badly it would be advisable to replant with another crop. It is not too late for corn; but we cannot overdo corn on our ground. A good emergency crop would be soybeans, either for hay or for the beans. The hay is one of the most valuable forage crops that we have. On it young stock will keep and grow in the winter; work stock will keep their flesh when fed soybean hay with a minimum of grain. Milk cows will keep up their flow of milk with the addition of a small amount of grain.

The bean, when threshed out and ground, makes a feed that is more valuable than cottonseed meal. It is good for dairy cattle and chickens especially. It does not contain the harmful substance that cottonseed meal has; it is well liked by the stock and is very nutritious. In event that some of the wheat crops are killed the bean could perhaps be used to good advantage.

Corn is always in place. It is not as cheaply grown here as in the corn belts but it is advisable to grow all that will be needed. The stalks will fill a place for bedding for the livestock or will help to bring the stock thru the winter. They are not as good as wheat straw for bedding unless shredded but will probably be worth slightly more for feed. Don't let the ground that can be easily worked lay idle, use it.

CHICKENS—Last week brought about 1650 more Leghorn chicks to the county. These were distributed to several different parts of the county. They made a total of over 2500 Leghorn chickens that the county agent has ordered for the people. Of the other breeds he has brought in nearly 3000 Plymouth Rocks chickens and 1,000 Rhode Island Reds. Earlier in the winter about 600 Rocks and Reds were secured to be grown and sold as broilers. As many or more chickens have been shipped in by other individuals in the county.

These chickens should be the foundation of the chicken business in the county of Madison. The chickens that the county agent has secured have been of well bred stock. They have come from flocks of producing birds. The pullets of the flocks established from these chickens should be mated with cockerels equally as well bred or better. Then we are in position to hatch the chickens the county needs next year.

We have a party who has promised to purchase a large incubator and do custom hatching provided he is assured a reasonable amount of business. It is planned next fall to start grading and shipping the eggs from the county. This will be done thru the poultry club and promises to supply a good market for eggs without glutting the home market.

The coming week Mr. Oliver, State Poultry Extension worker, will spend four days visiting the interested people and counseling them about the handling of the flocks. Mr. Oliver is much interested in the way the people of Madison County are taking hold of poultry farming and is anxious to help them all he can.

MORE CREAM—Last year we were very glad to ship out 20 gallons of cream on a date corresponding to that of April 25, 1927. This year we were again well pleased to ship out instead of 20 gallons, 80 gallons of cream. This is a gain of 300 per cent. We had only a handful of customers at this time last year, 4 or 5; this year 15 different parties delivered cream at the station. Our market has improved also. Last season the price was around 37c to 40c per pound fat; this year it will be 50c or better per pound fat.

Mr. Keys, who to date has been leading the others in the amount of cream and fat, is becoming frightened. He was heard to remark that he would have to purchase another cow or two or someone would deliver more cream than he. He sold 46 pounds of fat Monday.

There was a total of 271.5 pounds of butterfat delivered, according to the local tester, Monday. This should bring to the county around $130, perhaps more. We hope that before the season is over that we will be shipping 2 or 3 times this amount of fat from the county.

TOBACCO—Those growing tobacco should consider the quality of leaf that they will produce. The market is calling for a thin, bright leaf, one that will go well into the cigarette. To grow this kind of a leaf one must use fertilizer that will not cause a rank coarse leaf. Too much nitrogen in the fertilizer will make a coarse leaf. If your ground is rich, full of humus, use a fertilizer carrying a smaller proportion of nitrogen than you would if the ground is thin and poor. Only the one who knows his soil can tell what sort and how much fertilizer to use. Others may give advice that will help him to decide but he must be the final judge.

DAIRY DAY AT SWANNA—Thursday, May 12, has been set aside by those in charge at the State Test Farm, Swannanoa, as Dairy day. On this day they will have a number of the State people who are interested in dairying at the farm to give talks along dairy lines. Many phases of the subject will be considered, covering the production of milk and cream, the care of it, as well as the selection, breeding and feeding of dairy stock.

There will be a dairy cattle judging contest with awards for the winners. There will be a cow calling contest with a prize for the one doing the best at calling the cows home. The day will be full without an idle moment.

Everyone interested in dairying, whether actively engaged or not or if they are thinking of milking some cows, should plan to attend this meeting. The day named, Thursday, May 12th, should be marked and set aside as a day to use in making the trip to the Swannanoa test farm. See next week's paper for program.

DEATH OF MRS. BERTIE WORLEY

With a sad and burdened heart I will write the death of my dear sister Mrs. Bertie Worley who was called away to the great beyond on April 13th, 1927, at 10:30 p. m. The hour was sad at parting, but God in heaven knows best and we feel that our loss is heaven's gain. All we have to do is to be ready when the summons comes and we won't fear death. It is hard to part with sisters and brothers, but a place is waiting where parting is no more. The way looks dark for her little children, but we know that where there is a will there is a way. God has always provided for little orphan children and we will trust and pray that a way is provided for them. They can call mamma and she will not answer them but in the days to come we will meet her face to face, where death comes no more. Dear brothers and sisters get ready to meet Bertie, she can't come back to us but we can go to her. Her sweet face on earth, no more to see. Her body is in the clay, her soul is in heaven where she said she longed to be. She has gone to live with mamma and her own little son and if we will be faithful we will live with them when our work on earth is done. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband and five little children all of Barnard, a father A. T. Worley, four brothers and three sisters, Messrs Doyle, Austin, Dalton Worley and Miss Mae Worley all of Big Pine, one brother Mr. Burnett Worley and Mrs. Lottie Baldwin of Brush Creek and one sister Mrs. Chester Worley of Bear Creek. We wish to thank the people of Barnard for their kindness during the sickness and death of dear Bertie, especially Mrs. McDevitt. We will never forget her and pray to meet her in heaven some day. May the Lord bless this family of little orphan children.

Written by her sister Mrs. Chester Worley and a friend Miss Ethel Marler.

A Word With the Old Folks

Elderly People Are Learning Importance of Good Elimination.

IN the later years of life there is apt to be a slowing up of the bodily functions. Good elimination, however, is just as essential to the old as to the young. Many old folks have learned the value of Doan's Pills when a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys is required. Scanty or burning passages of kidney secretions are often signs of improper kidney function. In most every community are scores of users and endorsers who acclaim the merit of Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

DIFFERENT—utterly different in the quality that stands out as distinctly in its exterior beauty as in its interior elegance, the Hupmobile Six contrasts even more strikingly with the ordinary six in performance.

The vigor of its response, the easy way it reels off top speeds with perfect smoothness, the marked restfulness of its riding and driving—these impress you at once as unusual.

And the quality is decidedly unusual—for Hupmobile actually puts 10% extra into materials and workmanship, thus making this the closest-priced Six in America.

If quality means more to you than showy appearance—then inevitably you will single out Hupmobile, as the Six of soundest value and surest satisfaction in its field.

IT PAYS

We are frequently asked if it pays to spend so much time in reconditioning and inspecting our used cars before they are offered for sale. The answer is that a great many of our used car purchasers come back when they want new cars. Doesn't that pay?
