HASTE NOT! REST NOT!

Without haste! without rest! Bind the motto to thy breast; Bear it with thee as a spell; Storm or sunshine, guard it well! Heed not flowers that 'round thee bloom, Bear it onward to the tomb.

Haste not! Let no thoughtless deed Mar for aye the spirit's speed! Ponder well, and know the right, Onward then, with all thy might! Haste not! years can ne'er atone For one reckless action done.

Rest not! Life is sweeping by, Go and dare, before you die: Something mighty and sublime, Leave behind to conquer time! Glorious 'tis to live for aye,

When these forms have passed away. Haste not! rest not! calmly wait;

Meekly bear the storms of fate;
Duty be thy polar guide;
Do the right what'er betide! Haste not! Rest not! Conflict's past, God shall crown the work at last.

At Walterboro, S. C., a good surgeon was about to perform a serious operation on a young man. As the patient lay on the table ready for the anesthetic he said "Doctor I want you to pray for me." "No," said the doctor, "I am going to operate and you will have to do the praying." "All right," said the patient. Just as they began the young man said very fervently, "Lord forgive them for they know not what they do."

"I see," said the young doctor just learning to practice, "that Mrs. Smith now is coming to you. I examined her thoroughly and couldn't find a thing the matter with her."

"That's where you are wrong, son," and the doctor, "that woman has a trouble that provides doctors with about 90 per cent of their business. It's called imaginary ills and requires long and expensive treatment—if you want to get rich.
