POLITICS AND TAX-ES, HERE AND THERE!

(By IRA PLEMMONS)

Again, I repeat, that any candidate has no ideas is unfit, and if he has ideas and is afraid to express them, he is unsafe.

What good reason has any candidate that he cannot express his views and state what he expects to do in case he is nominated and elected?

legislative candidates do not want the people to know about? them, but I think it is only fair that they should open up with their views and let the voters know what they stand for. It surely cannot be possible that some of the self-constituted leaders have closed the mouths of the legislative candidates.

Do you gentlemen fear that you will be knifed by some of these supposed leaders, as has been done in the yourselves by having manhood enough to say what you expect to do. The people are entitled to know what to expect of you, and I do not believe that you will have whole-hearted support unless you are willing to say what you ex. I to undertake to do. I have heard that some say that they expect to stand for the best interests of the county. Who is to be the judge of what is for the best interests of the county? Is it to be the na same bunch of self-constituted leaders of both parties that are to be the judge or is it to be the voters, after knowing what laws you have in mind to pass or repeal? I think it should be the voters and tax-payers that should be the judge.

appeal to the tax-payers to withhold their support from any candidate who is not fair enough to express himself on the many vital questions that now face the people of this county. No candidate need fear for himself if he stands for the right, for the people will be with him and they should.

If the candidate stands for the wrong, the people should know it and have a right to know it.

I have very decided ideas about many conditions that exist, and for the past year I have tried to get many of my ideas before the people. If I have been wrong, why is it that some one has not called my hand? I have MARLOR'S BODY IS been very careful not to make any statement that I cannot prove, or one that is not true.

 For us she manages a home.
 Some day we will know what a great deal of managing a mother has to do. Those who have a mother who manages to make a real home, are lucky children. I read within a poet's book A word that starred the page; Stone walls do not a prison make, Nor iron bars a cage!" Yes, that is true, and something more: you'll find where'er you roam that marble floors and gilded walls can never make a home. For us she orders our lives.

The right kind of a mother so orders a child's life that he receives the things which are best for him, re-gardless of how much extra efforts cally complete their road system while in the small counties like those composing the 30th Senatorial District, the roads system is nothing like completed and is not much more than fairly commenced. The amendment proposed by Mr. Hendricks would so allocate the Highway money that the smaller counties would soon have is maller counties would soon have is smaller counties would soon have is smaller counties would soon have. He argued that both the school and State Highways should be strictly highway systems and should serve the people according to the needs of the different counties.

OVER HALF MILLION SPENT IN IMPROVEMENTS IN FOUR YEARS

By GLENN W. NAVES

When a small town with a populawhen a small town when a purely about 1,200 people, located in a purely agricultural section, spends over one-half million dollars in building and public improvements located within the corporate limits within a four-year period, it is an im-pressive example of community pride and confidence. The little mountain town of Marshall, located on the Asheville-Knoxville highway route, 21 miles west of Asheville, according to data gathered here, which was furnished by public officials and business men, has ex-pended over $610,000 for business structures, residences, paving, a water system, and other items during the period of 1924-28. Business structures and improvements within that period and a high school alone total over $333,000, according to figures gathered here. Among the more important buildings e-rected during the past four years are the Bank of French Broad, costing approximately $75,000; the Marshall high school costing from $90,000 to $100,000; the Masonic Temple, $25,000; the City Mill Company, Inc., approximately $20,000; Marshal Pharmacy improvements, $7,000; two buildings by J. C. Redmon, one under construction, approximately $14,000; Marshall Cheviolet Company, approximately $16,000; E. R. Tweed building, approximately $17,-000; and many other buildings, including improvements to old buildings running into several thousand dollars.

Among the building additions to the town during 1927 were the New Central Hotel, costing several thousand dollars, a modern, hostelry, conand dollars, a modern, hostelry, containing three stories, under the management of Mrs. John G. Ramsey, former Asheville businss woman, who came here early last year. Also a community hospital, the Marshall Community Hospital, under the management of Dr. Frank Roberts and Dr. Harry Ditmore with 18 heds and Dr. Harry Ditmore, with 18 beds, an operating room, X-ray and sterilizing equipment, and all modern conveniequipment, and all modern conveni-ences. A gravity water system with three reservoirs, costing approximate-ity $65,000, has been installed, in ad-dition to a fire truck costing $3,000, and additional facilities equipment costing close to $2,000.

HOT SPRINGS PLAY IS EXCELLENT

The Senior play, "Never Toucased Me," which was presented at the auditorium of the Hot Springs High School, Friday evening, May 4th, was a success in every way. It was well attended and the large audience showed its appreciation by frequent outbursts of applause.

"Never Touched Me" is a brilliant comedy in three acts written by Large E. Johnson. The fast moving action and sparkling humor furnish an evening of fun and excitement.

The play was staged by Miss Epps Hawes and Mr. Wayne Farmar. The Senior play, "Never Toucaed
