4 BARNARDSVILLE PEOPLE KILLED IN WRECK NEAR WEAVERVILLE

Reported A Fifth Died On Way To Hospital Thursday Morning

INJURED TAKEN TO HOSPITAL IN ASHEVILLE

Four persons were killed and five others injured, according to an extra of the Asheville Times, but a later report was that a fifth man died on the way to a hospital, when a large sedan sight-seeing car collided head-on with a Ford truck two miles north of Weaverville about 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The truck was en route to Asheville from Barnardsville, and had a load of five persons. The sight-seeing car, owned by the Red Top Cab company of Asheville and driven by Dave Brown was travelling in the opposite direction.

The dead, taken to the Clayton-Hyer funeral home in West Asheville are: Tarse Tessler, 28, of Barnardsville; Cecil Anderson, 14, of Barnardsville; Mrs. Cindy White, 70, of Barnardsville; John White, 20, of Barnardsville.

The injured taken to the Aston Park hospital in Asheville are: Dave Brown, Asheville, driver of the sight-seeing car; A. A. Ballard, of Barnardsville; Mrs. Tessler, of Barnardsville.

Miss Alice Good and Miss Josephine Wolfe, both of Cincinnati, passengers in the Packard, were slightly injured. The Packard was en route to Linville Falls. Miss Good and Wolfe were not hurt seriously enough to be taken to the hospital.

J. F. Holcombe of Mars Hill, one of the first persons to arrive at the scene, described the gruesome spectacle that met his eyes.

Five persons, he said, lay on or near the pavement; the pavement was covered with their blood; the wreckage of the Ford truck was scattered over a distance of six to ten feet.

One man, he said, lay on the right side of the highway (looking south). Mr. Holcombe felt his pulse and concluded he was dead. Some eight feet away, and near the center of the highway, lay a little boy, breathing slightly. The child died before the ambulance arrived.

On the same side of the road, but off the pavement, on the bank, lay an elderly woman, who lived about 15 minutes. On the opposite side was a fourth person, a man. He died while he was being placed in the ambulance.

The Packard car, headed north, was on the left side of the road, its front wheel being entirely off the pavement, Mr. Holcombe said. He estimated that the wreck occurred about three minutes before he arrived, and he said the driver of the Packard was gone when he arrived.

Three young women were in the Packard, but Mr. Holcombe did not know if they were injured.

There were five persons on the truck, he said, and only one of these lived long enough to be placed on the ambulance to be taken to a hospital.

Mr. Holcombe, a motorist who happened to be passing just after the wreck, said the bodies lay so it was just possible for cars to get by without passing over the bodies. He remained on the scene until the ambulance arrived to direct the traffic and protect the dead and dying, he said.

Appearance of the wreckage indicated that the Packard sedan driven by Brown was traveling at a fast rate of speed and struck the Ford truck almost directly head on. The Ford was turned over into a ditch at the left of the road and completely demolished, while the front of the Packard was battered into a mass of twisted metal and ran into the ditch within ten feet of the Ford.

Most of the damage done to the Packard was on the right side, indicating that the drivers might have been trying to pass each other to the left when the crash occurred.

Teacher Johnny, if your father earned $40 a week and gave your mother half, what would she have? Johnny: "Heart failure."

4-H CLUB GIRLS ENJOY DELIGHTFUL FIVE DAYS

SPEND FIVE DAYS IN CAMP NEAR SWANNANOVA; ENJOY SPORTS; CLASSES DURING OUTING

Following is an account of the recent camping trip of the 4-H Club girls, as written by two of the party:

Everyone was excited and thrilled when she first viewed the Camp.

There were one hundred 4-H Club girls from three counties—Madison, Buncombe and Rutherford—that enjoyed the five days spent in swimming, hiking, and other supervised activities. The girls occupied the three small cabins, while the counselors slept in the main assembly hall. Everyone was busy at first getting her straw mattresses and making her beds. Some slept on cots, others on bunks, while others put their straw mattresses down on the floor.

The girls rose at six-thirty and the first thing on the program was setting-up exercises or swimming—either you preferred. A short time after breakfast was devoted to cleaning up the camp and preparing vegetables for dinner, etc. Classes in swimming, basketry, and singing occupied the rest of the time until dinner.

TWO ENJOYABLE TRIPS

On Wednesday afternoon the girls from Rutherford County, with some of the counselors, and any of the other girls who wished to go, visited the Biltmore Estate. The trip through the beautiful grounds and conservatories was greatly enjoyed. The girls then entered the stately and historical mansion, where they viewed many beautiful antique and foreign pieces of furniture, lovely rugs, tapestries, etc. No one can imagine the beauty of this place until he has seen it.

Thursday morning at 10 o'clock all the girls and counselors loaded into the school buses and motored to the Recreation Park. Through the kindness of the city park officials we were given free access to all amusements. The girls greatly enjoyed riding the ferris wheel, merry-go-round, swimming and the many other amusements afforded at the park. Of course the smaller children were greatly intrigued by the zoo.

When lunch time arrived we were called to the picnic grounds and

SHORTER CLOSED SEASON

A shorter closed season which will permit fishermen to indulge in their favorite sport on Easter Monday and uniform closed seasons on fishing to make possible a more effective protection of fish during the spawning period are important features of changes recently made by the Board of Conservation and Development at its semi-annual at Morehead City.

Under the new regulations, the closed season in fishing will not begin until May 1st, instead of April 20, as has been the law previously. This closed season applies to all species of game fish except the trouts of Western North Carolina whose spawning season comes during a different period of the year. The period of the year in which these types of fish are protected extends from September 1 to April 15 of the following year.

The general closed season will extend from May 1 to June 10, giving a 40-day protected period in the future in the place of 50 days heretofore.

Another new regulation also prohibits the taking of fresh water fish in commercial waters during the time that the season is closed in inland waters.

Seining will continue under the ban in inland waters following action of the board in denying requests that special permits be granted for this privilege in certain counties of the State. The board took the viewpoint that as a wholesale method of taking fish, seining is unfair to the great masses of fishermen whose opportunity for sport would be spoiled when waters are depleted by those who would exercise the privilege if seining were permitted.

Collections from anglers' licenses this season are said by officials to be well ahead of last year, having reached approximately $30,000. The State law requires that every person who fishes in any other except his home county must take out a State license. However, the license requirement has been extended to include all fishermen in 26 counties. Fishermen, it is said, should ascertain if their county is among these.

BAPTIST SUNDAY CONVENTION WELL ATTENDED

AMERICAN SUPPORT OF THE LEAGUE

It is reported that since the organization of the League of Nations nearly $8,000,000, have been contributed from private American banks for the work of the League Organizations to the number of 172 and private citizens numbering 341 have made contributions to this work. Four million dollars were given by 27 men to prosecute the League work, the largest amount being by Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who gave two million dollars for the support of the League. This indicates the large interest taken in the work of the League by American business men. When the violence of the period has passed it may be assumed that larger interest still will be taken in the League of Nations and the dream of Woodrow Wilson will be fulfilled. The work the League has done has already accomplished much and when it has been generally endorsed by American citizens and the League is allowed to do its full part in the promotion of peace and good will among men, its agency will be one of the greatest in the world.—Charity and Children.

Due to the absence of some who were on the program of the French Broad Baptist Associational Sunday School Convention, which met at the Seminary last Saturday and Sunday it was necessary to make some changes in the program. However, the meeting was well attended and proved to be interesting and helpful. Hon. George M. Pritchard, who was to have spoken on prohibition Sunday afternoon was not present, and in his absence Mr. C. B. Mashburn, of Marshall, delivered a very fine talk. Mr. T. E. Hunter substituted for Mr. Vaughn Fisher, who was to have led the devotional, but was absent. Mr. Robert Tweed welcomed the people on Saturday, after which a delightful dinner was served on the grounds. Dr. R. L. Moore of Mars Hill College was present and made a fine speech on the subject assigned him on the program, and church libraries was the topic ably discussed by Mr. Ezra Burnett. Sunday Mr. C. M. Burnett led the devotional, following which the Sunday School lesson was taught by Mr. William Worley, of Marshall, who is one of the best informed Bible students in the state. In the afternoon, Mr. A. W. Whitehurst led the devotional, after which Dr. Hutchins made a fine talk on the subject assigned him and was followed by Mr. Mashburn. Before the meeting adjourned, a resolution of thanks to the Madison Seminary people for their hospitality was adopted. The next Convention is to be at Gabriel's Creek church. Rev. N. H. Griffin was made chairman and Mr. Fred Jarvis secretary.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

There seems to be something mysterious about a proper name turned into an adjective or participle. Actually it may signify a product as innocuous of bewildering complications as pasteurized milk or mercerized cotton, but the mere fact that the term has been deviously derived from a name originally identifying one family from other families on the block makes all the difference in the world apparently. Considerably less dumfounding is the selection of a good collection of "Z's" and "T's" and "X's" and the making of an absolutely unpronounceable name, bearing no relation however to man and his nomenclature. This is perhaps a question which will never be answered. Why should it be mysterious to everyone that John Mercer or Louis Pasteur have namesake adjectives and participles floating around the world?

Mystery concerning John Mercer's namesake adjective and participle mercerized and mercerizing, has been so widespread and so confounding to the proper promotion of merchandise made of this strong and finely lustered cotton product, that 85 per cent of the industry concerned with its manufacture recently selected an altogether new general name—durene. Although a "made" name, having been coined from two inherently fine qualities of this yarn, durability and sheen, it is not the offspring of anybody's uncomplicated and very handy.

An always most conscientious informant tells us that he was living in a certain prosperous city when the dairymen of the community got together in behalf of pasteurizing their milk. They announced to the good housewives of the community that they were going to do this for them. What was their astonishment to be told quite flatly that "trick milk" wasn't at all necessary to the well being of that community. The feminine citizens would, thank you, have milk just as it came into the world. There, being a psychologist, or at least a philosopher among the dairymen, the situation was saved. He suggested they call their pasteurized beverage "perfect milk" and this christening brought immediate satisfaction and increased sale.

DEBRUHL REUNION

The DeBruhl Reunion will be held Sunday, August 10th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Z. V. DeBruhl near Alexander, which is to be an all day affair. An address will be by Mayor Roberts of Asheville. All relatives and friends are urged to be present.

REVIVAL AT WEAVERVILLE

The Presbyterian church of Weaverville, of which Reverend H. B. Dendy is pastor, will hold a revival service starting August 3rd at the morning service and continuing for ten days. Reverend James F. Hardie, D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Charlotte, will, assisted by Reverend W. K. Beatty of Dillingham, conduct the services. Dr. Hardie before coming to the Charlotte church which is the third largest in the Southern Assembly, was pastor of the second Presbyterian church in Houston, Texas. Dr. Hardie will bring his family with him and will occupy one of the cottages belonging to Mr. Robert Weaver.

County Government

Lester A. Pratt, certified public accountant of Washington, D. C., here yesterday for a conference with Charles M. Johnson, secretary, and other officials of the County Government Advisory Commission, was high in his praise of what has been accomplished by that organization. "I have been employed to put in a new system for a Virginia county and I started an investigation to see what state had accomplished most along that line and decided it was North Carolina," said Mr. Pratt. "Since coming here I have been amazed by what has been accomplished. It has been done gradually but effectively and I have found just what I wanted."—News and Observer
