 aecept the results, whether we like them or not. And if wo as indivitu:ls have done nothing dishonest, mo ally or lczalls, in our zeal to carry our side, we have nothing to regret. It is the man or woman who has anken side, we have nothing tooked things who should be condemned. In our form of governntent, with all the machinery of laws, moral codes, and every other possible safeguard, occasionally crookedness may creep in, and violations of both moral and legal codes be made; but it is creep in, and violations of both moral and legal codes be made; but it generally conceded that all the crookedness is not on one side, and all generally conceded that all the crookedness is not on one side, and all the righteousness is not on the other side. There are honest and honorthe righteousness is not on the other side. There are honest and hon able men and women in all parties, and obe hined a higher sense of the

GET-TOGETHER ON THE ISLAND

11 A. M. TO 2 P.M. SATURDAY, NOV. 8, 1930

Let's get together again. Let's talk with our neighbor from the other side of the county and become acquainted. Let's learn of what he or she is thinking; of what he is doing on his farm, he in her home. Let's get his view point of couny affairs.
Briefly, that is the purpose of the Get-Together Picnic to be held on the Island in Marshall on ext Saturday. Also every one attending is going to have a good time. The committees appointed to arrange the program and to plan for the occasion in general are working. They hope that many families (for this is for the whole famly, ladies and men) will fill up a large basket with good things to eat and come to this picnic. Last year every one attending the Get-Together Picnic, held in the new Madison Farmers' warehouse, certainly enjoyed the occasion. The talks by the different ones from the different sections of the county, the songs by the male quartet from Upper Laurel, the selections by the string band from California, and our own magician, Ben Frisby, made a program that was not at once forgotten. Let's do it again.
If the day is one not suited to an out-of-doors picnic, arrangements will be made to hold it indoors. The committees will do their part; you do yours-you come!
(Signed)-Committee on Arrangements.

CARD OF THANKS

Allow me through the columns of this paper to thank the voters of Madison County for their support in the election November 4. I shall in the future as in the past serve to the best of my ability.

Respectfully yours,
J. N. WHITE.
