IN MEMORY OF MISS GWEN CHANDLER

It was on Sunday morning, April 29th, when God called our dear darling away. How we miss her no one knows—oh, we weep from day to day. But that can't bring our dear darling back, for she has gone to Heaven to stay. Oh, we miss our little darling; we hope to meet her again some day. She was always a home loving girl. She always obeyed her parents. She was so kind to everyone, and always had a friendly smile. When God called our darling away, He blessed her with His tender grace, and when He took her last breath He left a beautiful smile on her face. Now this home is so lonely since dear Gwen has gone. It's left father and mother, one sister and brother, to always weep and mourn. There in that lonely graveyard, there we see a mossy mound—there's where our darling is sleeping in that cold and silent ground. When Gwen's mother would go on a visit, she would say, "Mama, don't stay long." And now when she goes anywhere it seems that she ought to find Gwen when she comes home. For Mr. and Mrs. Lee Chandler

Four-Game Baseball Series This Week In Asheville

Asheville, June 19—Much interest is being shown throughout Western North Carolina in the Asheville Baseball Club of the Piedmont League, which opens a four game series with Greensboro in Asheville on Thursday. The team was formerly the Columbia Sandlappers, but was moved to Asheville several weeks ago. Games will be played on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The Asheville team boasts several colorful players, including George Ferrell, league's leading hitter and brother of Wes and Rick Ferrell, Paul Dunlop, former University of North Carolina star, Grayson Wolfe, winner of four letters at the University of South Carolina, and Harry Laval, 17-year-old son of the Manager, Billy Laval. Sunday games in Asheville are attracting large attendances. Daily games start at 4 o'clock, the Sunday games at 3 o'clock.

On Tuesday, June 19, there was a Tonsil Clinic held in the office of Dr. W. A. Sams. 14 children from all sections of the county were operated on by Dr. C. P. Edwards, specialist of Asheville, assisted by Dr. Sams and 4 nurses from Asheville. This was the most successful clinic yet held, and the doctors say they were all very bad cases of large tonsils and adenoids. Dr. Sams says that he is contemplating having another similar clinic, about July 10th. If anyone wants this work done see him and make arrangements. The cost is very small. All children should be looked after closely about this disability. Children and grown-ups all are eligible for this clinic as it is a private clinic.

HOG CALLERS IN ASHEVILLE JULY FOURTH

Those hog callers of Madison County who have been boasting of their vocal ability to summon the wiley porker will have an opportunity to display their talents in the hog calling contest which is to be a feature of the old fashioned all-day celebration picnic at the Memorial Stadium in Asheville on July 4. Welcome To Asheville, Inc., under whose sponsorship the celebration is being conducted has arranged a most inviting program of amusements and field events such as characterized Fourth of July celebrations of fifty years ago and the hog calling contest is but one of the many competitive events. This includes climbing the greased pole, catching the greased pig, the obstacle race, the three-legged race and many others. Other features of the day's celebration include a patriotic parade in the morning with an address at the stadium delivered by the Honorable Clyde R. Hoey of Shelby, North Carolina. There will also be a balloon ascension and a bathing beauty contest in which attractive young ladies will compete for a prize as well as a title of the bathing beauty queen of Western North Carolina. There will also be a ball game between the two outstanding semi-professional teams of the mountain area, Enka and Sayles Bleachery, this event taking place at the Asheville Ball Park. The day's festivity will be brought to a close with a gay nineties ball in costume with prizes for the most attractive and authentic gown of that period. The dance will take place in the tobacco warehouse with music by a modern orchestra as well as an old-fashioned string band.
