MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Much interest is being shown this week in the tennis tournament which is being held at Mount Airy.

The tournament will not end until the finals are played Saturday afternoon. The preliminaries are now being played every day to determine who will play in the finals.

In the girls' matches thus far, Marie Hutchins is favored to turn back all opposition and in the Girls' Single crown which is now held by Miss Agnes Brigman, who did not enter the Single matches this year.

Jonas Chandler, 1933 Single crown holder, is favored to defeat Roy Thomas and enter the finals, playing Jimmy Bailey, of Marshall, who has already defeated Leake, Guthrie and McDevitt by decisive scores, to get a right to enter the finals.

Next week's News-Record will give a full account of the final matches, and as many others as is possible.

GREENVILLE TRIMS MARSHALL 4 TO 1

Hunter, Greenville southpaw, limited Marshall batsmen to one hit here Saturday, as the South Carolina nine let Marshall down on the short end of a 4-1 count. Greenville scored twice in the second inning on two singles, a walk, and another single; and added two more runs in the seventh inning on a single, a double, a walk, and another single. Marshall scored their only tally in the fourth inning. Caldwell was safe on an error. Ramsey (running for Caldwell) stole second, and scored when F. Thomas lined a triple to right field.

Hunter struck out 14 batters, gave up one hit, and walked two men. Caldwell struck out four men, walked three, and was touched for eight hits. Greenville made one error to none for Marshall; Marshall completed three double plays to none for Greenville.

Hunter and Williams led their team in hitting, each getting two for four.

Batteries: Greenville—Hunter and Williams; Marshall—Caldwell and Burnett.

Hot Springs Dam Is Under Construction

The town of Hot Springs is building an impounding dam on the watershed to supplement the water supply for the town in dry weather. The dam will be located at the intake, and will take care of several thousand gallons of water. The present reservoir will also be repaired.

The dam is located on the government reservation and the water supply is protected by forest rangers. The labor is being furnished through the North Carolina ERA.

Herschel Sprinkle and Mrs. Nelle Shelton and children. In the transaction, the four buildings on Main Street, known as the Sprinkle-Shelton buildings are transferred to Mr. Tweed and Mr. Whitehurst. An official notice of the dissolution of this partnership appears elsewhere in this paper.

MARS HILL

Two Unusual Services

The morning church service here last Sunday was a very impressive one, since the hour was given over to a baptismal service for the new converts who had joined the church during the recent revival. Fifty-one was the number baptized. The majority were of the junior and intermediate ages, but there were several grown-ups too in the group. It is thought that this is the largest group that has been baptized here in several years.

At the evening hour, Mr. J. R. Graham, of Hamlet, who for three years was a missionary to India under the United Presbyterian Board, gave a most interesting illustrated lecture on India, her people, and their religions. The pictures shown, were taken by Mr. Graham himself during his stay in India.

Potato Patch Has Large Yield

Mr. Albert Felch, who for several years was a successful truck farmer in Florida, has demonstrated his ability as a potato grower in this section. From his patch of 48 rows, he has gathered 43 bushels of Irish potatoes, all of which are of good size and many of them being unusually large. He has placed them on a low wooden rack under some shade trees, and after washing them thoroughly, has covered them with sacks, for protection from the sun during the curing out period.

Next door to Mr. Felch, Mr. H. B. Brown had on exhibit last week, a corn stalk which had a heavy ear of corn growing out just a few inches below the corn tassel.

FOOTBALL AT MARS HILL

Coach Oren E. Roberts is making preparations for next season's football campaign which will be the hardest to be attempted by Mars Hill College in a number of years. The adding of two more crack senior college teams, Tusculum and Milligan, promises no set-ups or breathers in the schedule. Next season Mars Hill will play only the strongest junior college teams in the Southeast. The weaker ones have been replaced by senior colleges.

Roberts, in order to face the strong schedule with hopes of winning, has worked with untiring efforts to secure real football talent. More interest has been shown by the faculty and heads of the school than usual. They are aiding Roberts in acquiring good material. As a result, high school stars from fourteen states are planning to attend Mars Hill this year.

Roberts believes that he will have the greatest team that has ever been turned out at Mars Hill. Before leaving Northwestern University, he named the following new men as the reason for his optimism over a winning team: Ramsey, Mars Hill High; Tutor, Rockingham, N. C.; Garrison, Christ School—Ends; Higgins, Mars Hill High, powerful tackle; Edwards, Mars Hill High, versatile guard; Wirtz, Princeton, Indiana; Clarke, Mars Hill High, Parker, Hendersonville, star high school quarterback; Jones, Newport, Tennessee; Greer, Abington, Virginia, Cohn, Marshall, halfbacks with strong reputations; Ogle, Gatlingburg, Tennessee, two hundred and twenty-five pound fullback.

These men, with no question as to their ability and reputations, should easily replace those lost by graduation. Seventy-five men are expected to report for practice, Wednesday September 5. In addition to the seventy-five men for the varsity, 50 men are expected to turn out for the Junior varsity which is under the direction of Coach King.

Respectfully,
BRUCE SAMS.

Mrs. Jones was spending a day in bed with a bad cough, and her husband was working in the garden, hammering nails in some wood. Presently his neighbor looked over the fence and asked, "How's the wife?" "Not well," Jones told him. "Is that her coughin'?" "No, you fathead, it's a new hen house."—Ex.

LIPSTICKED WOMEN BARRED FROM KISSING HOLY CHALICE

LONDON, Eng.—Lipstick is agitating the Church of England.

A London clergyman, Father Humphrey Whitby, who is vicar of Saint Mary the Virgin, has announced that the chalice will henceforth be withheld from women presenting themselves for Holy Communion with make-up on their faces.

It is understood that other Church of England clergymen are contemplating similar action, and that the Church Assembly, composed of the Bishops, may discuss the advisability of a veto on the use of lipstick by women communicants.

Explaining the reasons for his lipstick prohibition, Father Whitby said:

"If women will not take the trouble to wash this objectionable matter from their lips before coming to church, they can receive the Host, but not the chalice.

HOT SPRINGS (SPECIAL)

The Emergency Relief Administration in Madison County is putting on an intensive drive among the relief families of the county to get everything possible canned this season. Before the canning season opened, Mrs. Robert R. Ramsey, of Walnut, County Demonstrator, held weekly canning schools in each of the five districts in the county, to teach the canning leaders the latest methods of canning and preserving. These leaders, thirty of them, are now engaged in direct contact with the families of their respective districts and are teaching the latest methods to each and every family on relief in the county. Miss Sarah E. Elmore of Mars Hill is canning supervisor for the entire county. She is a graduate of Women's College of the U. N. C. at Greensboro and took special training with the Lewis Hotel Training School of Washington, D. C. She received her preparatory education at Mars Hill College. She was secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Asheville, for two and a half years, and was dietician at N. C. School for the Deaf, Morganton, for four years.

One day each week Miss Elmore meets with the canning leaders in their respective districts, and together with the relief women, engage in canning vegetables for the lunch rooms of the high schools for the coming winter. The relief families have been furnished jars and sugar, and where these can't be paid for in work, Miss Elmore is accepting vegetables as payment. The canning through August 2nd had been on for nine weeks, and a total of 35,017 quarts had been reported to Miss Elmore's office by the different canning leaders. They hope to more than double this amount before the season closes.

At Hot Springs, Mrs. Warren T. Davis has a farm project on whereby she hopes to produce some 750 bushels of corn; around 1,000 gallons of molasses, and several hundred bales of feed. The corn and molasses will be distributed among the relief families in the county, and the feed will help keep the cows of families on relief. Plans are now being made whereby the scope of relief farming for 1935 can be largely increased and more families can be given employment and more food stuff produced.

The Madison County Board of Education is constructing a school building at Meadow Fork, to replace the one destroyed by fire last winter. The building is being constructed out of the material salvaged from the White Rock high

INFIRMARY TO BE BUILT AT MARS HILL COLLEGE

Ground will be broken within the next two weeks at Mars Hill college for a $9,000 infirmary, a memorial to the late Dr. W. F. Robinson, of Mars Hill, who for many years was a trustee and patron of the college and its physician.

The new structure will be built of mountain rock such as was used in the recent addition to the library and will be located about 100 feet behind Treat dormitory for girls. While no definite date has been set for its completion, it is believed that it can be finished within three months.

The building will be fireproof. It will be T-shaped, will have two stories, and will easily accommodate 18 beds. On the first floor there will be the office and rooms of the nurse, rooms for 10 beds, and a kitchen. The second floor will contain two wards with four beds each. A heating plant will be in the basement.

The razing of Treat dormitory, authorized by the trustees in their spring meeting, will be delayed in order to take care of the additional students who, records indicate, will be there in the fall. At the first of the month the number of prospective students who had paid their fees for the reservation of rooms was 53 ahead of the correspondence figure last year. The present infirmary is located in Treat dormitory and will be converted into living quarters for young women when the new building is occupied.

The infirmary will be the first step in a contemplated enlargement of the campus center school building, that was abandoned after the modern stone building was erected at that place. The work at Meadow Fork is under the supervision of Ed Roberts, of Marshall, and a Mr. Drake, of Mars Hill. The labor is being furnished by the Madison County Relief organization. The building will be ready for occupancy in about six weeks.

The Hot Springs public school will open next Monday, according to present plans. Several of the teachers have arrived. Prof. W. L. Rikard, of Batesburg, S. C., will again head the school as principal.

Grady (after Riley had fallen five stories)—Are yez dead, Pat?

Riley—Oo am.

Grady—Shure, yer such a liar, Oi don't know whether to believe yez or not.

Riley—That proves Oi'm dead. Ye wouldn't dare to call me a liar if Oi wur alive!—Ex

Donates $1,000 To Mars Hill College

A check for $1,000 was received by Mars Hill college last week from "a friend" who designated that the annual interest on the sum be used as a scholarship for a ministerial student who will devote at least a part of his summer vacation to work in the country churches of Western North Carolina.

The administration of the college is delegated to select the one who shall benefit from this scholarship. The donor reserved the right to re-designate the purpose of this fund at the end of eight years.

This check was signed by a former student at Mars Hill who is now doing graduate work at Harvard and at Newton-Andover, Newton Center, Mass. It is understood that the "friend" placed this amount to the account of this student and that he was to forward it to the college.

President R. L. Moore expressed his gratitude for this unexpected gift.

When Treat dormitory is razed and a new girl's dormitory is erected, the space between the present quadrangular arrangement of the buildings will be considerably lengthened. The contemplated girls' dormitory will be on a line with the infirmary.

Mrs. W. F. Robinson, in memory of her husband who died last year, gave $2,500 toward the new infirmary; the faculty subscribed $2,000; and $500 has been received from miscellaneous sources. Committees composed of Buncombe county friends and trustees are at work to raise the remaining $4,000.

For work among the women and their missionary unions the following group has been selected: Mrs. J. R. Owen, Mrs. Carl Renfrow, and Mrs. Naomi Ledford. The committee of men includes: the Rev. J. R. Owen, of the French Broad Baptist church, Asheville; the Rev. J. C. Cox of the Baptist church, Weaverville; and the Rev. W. W. Williams, chaplain at Oteen.

Civitan Club Discusses Movements

The Marshall Civitan Club, meeting at the Tar Heel Cafe last Friday, had as visitors the Rev. George Reeves and Prof. J. W. Wible, of the Vocational Agriculture Dept. of the Marshall school. Before the speakers were introduced, the Club, after a short discussion, sponsored a movement to establish in Madison County an experiment station for tobacco, hay, and beef cattle. The committee appointed to promulgate this movement was composed of Guy V. Roberts, Chairman, Earle Brintnall, and J. W. Wible. The club went on record as favoring the road project from Mars Hill to Coxey's bridge. Considerable discussion arose over the proposition to sand the road from Bull Creek to Farmer Ford. It resulted in the road committee being asked to take the matter up through the Board of Education on account of its being a school bus route and with the state and federal authorities on account of its being a mail route. Prof. Wible was then introduced and briefly outlined the proposed department which he is to head in the Marshall school. He asked that not too much be expected the first year as it takes more than one year to get such a department to functioning properly. The Rev. George Reeves, conducting a revival in Marshall, was then introduced and spoke briefly, saying that he was a member of the Kiwanis Club, who do things very much as the local Civitan Club is doing them. The meeting was presided over by the president, the Rev. Ralph Shumaker.

The Republican meeting held at the courthouse last Saturday afternoon, was said to have been attended by a representative though not very large crowd. Mr. Calvin R. Edney, Republican candidate for Congress opposing Bulwinkle, spoke and received enthusiastic support by his supporters present. Mr. Edney is full of his opposition to the policies of the present administration. His speech, while a splendid political document, is so long that we doubt that our readers would take the time to read it through. It sounds better to hear him deliver it in person, as Mr. Edney is a good speaker.
