The largest out-door attraction ever to appear in this city commences a three days engagement Thursday night on the school grounds under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association and "What Fun Awaits Everybody". Shows consisting of the Famous Hearne Minstrel of over twenty ebony artists dancing and singing to the delight of all able to get inside of the big Minstrel Show Top will lead the entertainments on the Midway. When you stroll down Midway Lane and have the opportunity of visiting the Monkey-drome where live monkeys race around a perpendicular wall and hear them talk in their native language you will readily understand why Hon. W. J. Bryan claimed that we all came from the Monkey family. Then the Hindoo village with persons doing the seemingly impossible feats will hold your attention for a few moments, followed by the Athletic show with Champions and near Champions vying with each other in Wrestling and Boxing to the delight of all. Many other shows will attract your attention on the Midway but don't forget the Giant Ferris Wheel as well as the Merry-go-round and the Whip; also the Kiddie Rides.

QUICK JUSTICE FOR BANDITS

Marshall Officers Make Most Fortunate Arrest

Thursday of last week was a eventful day in Marshall. Morgan Pritchard and Fred Edwards, without a gun, arrested two boys who had wrecked a stolen 1934 LaSalle sedan (value $1900) near Walnut and had caught the bus toward Asheville. The two young hoboes had held up and tied to a tree the owner and driver of the car, had robbed him of $40 or $50 and some clothing between Asheville and Weaverville. The owner, a salesman from Brooklyn, N. Y., identified the youths in the Marshall jail. They were rushed to Asheville where court was in session, they confessed the crime and were given 15 years hard labor and were on their way to the penitentiary in 8 hours after they had committed the crime. Much credit was given the bus driver for the manner in which he tipped off the officers, and protected the passengers from what could have been a shooting on the bus.

The same day Mrs. Rudisill's apartment was ransacked as mentioned elsewhere in this paper.

REVIVAL AT DAVIS CHAPEL

The Rev. Robert Vaughn and the Rev. Walter Goforth are holding a revival meeting at Davis Chapel. Large crowds have been attending.

TWO WOMEN BOOTLEGGERS CAPTURED AT MARSHALL

ZADE SPRINKLE
AGAIN IN JAIL

Sprinkle Being Held In Clayton Case

Marion, Sept. 21. (Special)—Zade Sprinkle, 51, of Marshall, said to be a confessed accomplice in the Clayton bank robbery on August 20, is being held in the McDowell county jail here for further investigation, according to Sheriff O. F. Adkins, who, learning of Sprinkle's arrest in Asheville, brought him to Marion for investigation on a charge of a hold-up near Old Fort on the night of August 21.

According to the purported confession of Sprinkle, following the bank robbery in Georgia the robber gang fled to the hills of Western North Carolina, throwing large carpet tacks in the road to retard possible pursuers. In Marshall a car was stolen and the flight continued across the mountains. On highway No. 10 in McDowell county, the robbers crashed into a car coming out of a side road and occupied by four negroes. Both cars were wrecked and one of the robber gang was seriously injured. Under the pretext of getting assistance, they asked for help and were picked up by B. Scott Blanton and son, of Asheville. A little way from the scene of the wreck they forced Mr. Blanton and son from the car, returned with it to the scene of the wreck, loaded on a part of their equipment and loot, and escaped in the direction of Burnsville.

Sheriff Adkins, investigating the hold-up, found a supply of carpet tacks in the abandoned car and gained the first clue to the activities of the gang. Pursuing the trail he found the Blanton car abandoned near Micaville. Learning of the purchase by Sprinkle a short time before of a large supply of carpet tacks and ammunition, a warrant was taken for his arrest and the hunt continued until Sprinkle was arrested on another charge in Asheville a few days ago.—Asheville Times.

Condition Of Man Shot And Stabbed, Reported As Fair

The condition of Neade Gentry, 30, of Shelton Laurel, who was seriously injured in a fight in Tennessee Sunday afternoon, was reported fair today by attendants at Mission hospital here. Gentry suffered knife wounds in the back and was shot through the hip.

Taylor Hipps, Madison county man who is charged with shooting Gentry, had not been arrested this morning. Hunter Hipps, a relative, who is said to have cut Gentry, was being held in jail at Marshall.

The fight took place in Greene county, Tenn., across the Tennessee-North Carolina line. Tennessee officers were expected to come for Hunter Hipps some time today. He is said to have admitted cutting Gentry. — Monday's Asheville Times.

IF IT'S SCENERY THEY WANT

North Carolina's claim as the logical state to secure the national parkway is a sound one. Tennessee has many beautiful scenes, superb rivers, but North Carolina's mountain views are no less gigantic, colossal, stupendous and awe inspiring.

There are no more beautiful mountains in eastern America than are found east of the North Carolina line. The towering heights of the peaks near Minneapolis, Elk Park, Boone, Burnsville, and the gorge of Spring Creek west of Hot Springs are pictures of nature's grandeur that is not surpassed—even considering the beauty of the Shenandoah valley of Virginia with its caverns, grottoes and its natural bridge.

Those sections of North Carolina are undeveloped, and in a measure, that is what makes them awe-inspiring. Visitors to that section of the state who have seen the Rockies and Switzerland are as one in saying that scenes in Western North Carolina are on a par with those famed places.

The National parkway finally located may not pass these beauty spots, but it will pass others equally as beautiful and one who knows the mountains doubts that Tennessee scenery, possibly the Roan mountain section one travels in going from Elk Park, N. C., to Elizabethton and Johnson City, Tenn., can compare with any section of the Tar Heel state.

The parkway is to connect federal parks of eastern United States; the plan calls for a scenic route. That is why North Carolina's claim is a sound one.—The Charlotte News.
