HEARD AND SEEN AROUND TOWN By LANK

A dirty, ragged boy "putting out" a man's work. (I sincerely hope he will have an enjoyable Christmas.) A slight flurry of snow fell at midnight Wednesday night. Wondering how people saw it. Guy V. Roberts chewed the end of a long cigar. Some amateur crooning round here, and VERY amateurish. Heard that Edna Sprinkle had won the new Plymouth she was working for. Congratulations. Two beautiful Little Christmas trees in a filler. Enough for this.

Dr. Dinwiddie and Roy Rice starting out early Wednesday morning cracking jokes. Various comments on the ability of the high school basketball team. One or two local people staunchly defending the Asheville Walkathon; others declaring it a frame-up. Main Street a slushy, muddy mess after the snow. A bus driver stopping long enough to "shoot the machine" in the Coffee Shop. Paul Roberts showing some of the boys where a few birds shot struck him in the leg while hunting Tuesday (so he says). Several persons utterly disregarding the sign in the drug store library which reads "Free reading hour from 3 to 4:00 A. M. only," or w to that effect. Roy Rice with one prettiest pistols I've long time. Many loads of trees, holly, and through Marsha. Several local home from them actual the holiday. A France. On bit i fic.
