NO CLUB MEETINGS NEXT WEEK

Mrs. Ramsey To Be Gone But Leave Instructions

Mrs. R. R. Ramsey, Home Demonstration Agent, wishes us to say that she will not meet her clubs next weeks due to the fact that she will be in Raleigh. She also wishes us to say: "All women interested in making hooked rugs, see Mrs. Ramsey Saturday, Jan. 5, before 12 o'clock. Rugs are to be 22 by 36 in size. Please let her know how many they can furnish a week. If 200 to 300 rugs a week can be furnished to a certain party, there is a sale for 3000 rugs. Dyed material will be available for 5c a pound. She would like to have about 100 workers."

MRS. W. T. DAVIS, JR., HONORED WITH TEA HERE TUESDAY

Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock, Mrs. W. A. Sams and daughter, Miss Katy Sams, entertained at an informal tea for Mrs. W. T. Davis, Jr., a recent bride. Mrs. Davis and Miss Sams were schoolmates at Meredith College, Raleigh, N. C.

Among those who called during the hour were: Mrs. E. R. Tweed, Sr., Miss Lillian Whitehurst, Misses Mabel, Lucille and Belva Farmer, Mrs. L. L. Storey, Mrs. Vivian Rector, Mrs. E. E. Ramsey, and Mrs. W. T. Davis, Sr.

BAPTIST CHURCH ELECTS OFFICERS FOR 1935

A part of the service hour last Sunday morning was used in the election of church officers for 1935. The election was by secret ballot without nominations, and the person receiving the highest number of votes was declared elected. The results follow:

DEACONS—J. M. Baley, J. A. Campbell, O. S. Dillard, Wm. V. Farmer, H. L. Storey, A. W. Whitehurst, W. M. Worley.

TREASURER—Miss Edna Robinson.

CLERK—Mrs. Myrtle Mashburn. SUNDAY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT—O. S. Dillard. ASSISTANT—S. S. SUPT.—J. A. Campbell.

MRS. B. S. DeBRUHL PASSES AWAY

MOTHER OF MRS DEWEY LIENBEE LAID TO REST TUESDAY

Mrs. B. S. DeBruhl, age 53, died suddenly at 11:30 o'clock Sunday morning at her home in the Jupiter section. She is survived by her husband; six daughters, Mrs. Dewey Lienbee, of Marshall, Mrs. W. S. Bailey, of Oteen, Mrs. Troy Miller, of Candler, Mrs. Eula Rymer, Miss Marjorie DeBruhl, and Miss Gertrude DeBruhl; five sons, Allen DeBruhl, of Asheville, Joe and Ernest DeBruhl, of Alexander, Elmer DeBruhl, of Asheville, Troy DeBruhl, of Hawaii; and three brothers, R. M. H. C., and J. B. Anders, of Asheville. Funeral services were Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at Oak Ridge Baptist church, conducted by the Rev. W. B. Sprinkle and the Rev. J. B. Grice. Pallbearers were Murray and Clyde DeBruhl, and Luther, Leonard, Glen, and Claude Anders, nephews of the deceased. This good woman will be missed by her many friends.

AN OLD-FASHIONED POUNDING

To show their appreciation for the many good sermons they'd heard in the past year, the people of Big Pine gave their pastor, the Rev. D. K. Cohn of Marshall, an old-fashioned "pounding". They brought their gifts to the church house one morning and there presented them to Mr. Cohn, thus lending the occasion more of the Christmas spirit. The house was beautifully decorated and special mention must be made of Mr. G. W. Wild who bought extra trimming himself. Singing was furnished by the choir and two of the girls, Misses Clara Buckner and Geraldine Baker, recited special Christmas poems; then an interesting sermon was preached by Mr. Cohn. The people brought canned food, meat, potatoes, corn, flour and other things. It all amounted to about twenty-nine dollars and we know that this doesn't nearly pay Mr. Cohn for the good he has done in our community.

DAVIS—VAUGHAN

The marriage of Miss Mary Laura Vaughan, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon T. Vaughan, of Nashville, N. C., to Warren Thomas Davis, Jr., of Hot Springs, N. C., was solemnized at 7 o'clock, Christmas evening, at the home of the bride. The home was beautifully and artistically decorated with native ferns and evergreens. Candles in silver candelabra were placed throughout the entire lower floor, which was thrown en-suite. An improvised altar, surrounded by long leaf pines and Irish juniper, was placed before the fireplace in the music room. The mantle was banked with pink carnations with lighted tapers at either end, with a large mirror in the center. On either side of the altar were tall floor baskets of pink carnations and ferns.

In the south end of the music room were long leaf pines with standards bearing lighted tapers. Grouped in this end of the room was a choir of twenty-four voices, composed of friends of the bride. Miss Louise Burton, pianist, of La Grange, Georgia, played "Caprice Viennois," by Kreisler, before the ceremony. Her number was followed by two violin solos, "Meditation," from Thais, by Massenet, and "My Heart At Thy Voice," from Samson and Delilah, by Saint-Saenes, rendered by Ross Vaughan, brother of the bride.

To the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, sung by the choir, the bridal party entered. The four ushers, J. Kelley Bridgers, Jr., of Chapel Hill, Milton Strickland and Hunter Griffin, of Nashville, and Leon T. Vaughan, Jr., of Newport News, Va., entered and took their places on either side of the altar.

Immediately following the ushers, the six bridesmaids entered and formed an aisle in the door of the music room. Next to enter were the two matrons of honor, Mrs. Leon T. Vaughan, of Durham, and Mrs. Ben Vaughan, of Southern Pines.

Immediately preceding the bride came the maid of honor, Miss Frances Aycock, of Goldsboro. The bride then entered with her father. She wore a gown of white satin made along princess lines with a double train. The square cowl neck line was ornamented with rhinestone clips and ripples fell over the shoulders and were caught low in the back with a rhinestone pin. She wore a veil of illusion caught over a white satin cap with rhinestone ornaments on either side. Her shower bouquet was of white carnations. Her only jewelry was a pair of gold bracelets given her by a great aunt for whom she was named.

The bride was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, his brother, John C. Davis, of Hot Springs. The vows were taken before the Rev. Samuel T. Habel, Jr., pastor of the First Baptist church, of Enfield, and former pastor of the bride. During the ceremony Miss Burton softly played "Liebestraum," by Liszt.

A reception followed the ceremony in which were Mr. and Mrs. Leon T. Vaughan, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Warren T. Davis, Sr., first in the receiving line, followed by the bridal party. In the dining room, punch and wafers were served.

Mrs. L. T. Vaughan, Sr., wore a gown of black chiffon, with a corsage of white carnations and valley lilies, and Mrs. W. T. Davis, Sr., wore a gown of black lace and she also wore a corsage of white carnations and valley lilies.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Vaughan, Sr., and comes of an old and very prominent family. She is one of the most attractive young women of Nashville's younger set. She was educated in the Nashville high school and attended Meredith college.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Davis, of Hot Springs, N. C., and is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and at present holds a position with the government at Greensboro. After a brief honeymoon the bride and groom will return to Greensboro where they will make their home for the present.

MARSHALL LAWYERS FORM PARTNERSHIP

Mr. Guy V. Roberts and Mr. James M. Baley, Jr., have formed a full partnership as of Jan. 1, 1935. Mr. Baley has been associated with Mr. Roberts for the past year.

COLLECTIONS FINE ON FARM CREDITS

Cherryville, N. C., Reports 100 Per Cent Collected

FARM CREDIT ADMINISTRATION OF COLUMBIA, North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina, Florida, Harold C. Booker, Information Agent

Columbia, S. C., Dec. 20—Ten production credit associations in the third district, comprising the states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, have reported 100 per cent collections, Ernest Graham, president of the Production Credit Corporation of Columbia, has announced, following receipt of a telegram from the Cherryville (N. C.) association that it had completed its collections.

The ten associations are the Greenville, Kinston and Cherryville associations in North Carolina; th Marion, Dillon, Lake City, Bennettsville and Kingtree associations in South Carolina and the Americus and Sandersville associations in Georgia.

In North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, the production credit associations have loaned approximately $6,200,000 this year of which all but $475,000 had been repaid by farmers on November 30, Mr. Graham said. Most of the balance of loans outstanding, he said, is not yet due and in Florida, the fourth state in the district, a large part of the credit extended is for citrus production and will not mature until next year.

"There is no finer tribute," said Mr. Graham, "to the co-operative system of short-term credit established by the Farm Credit Administration under the supervision of Governor Wm. I. Myers than the repayment record of these associations. This system has provided the seasonal financing of thousands of cotton, tobacco and other farmers on a cooperative basis for the first time; and these borrowers have shown their good faith from the start by repaying their loans promptly when due and thus protecting the sources production credit provided for them."

CHRISTMAS BRIDE

Mrs. Warren Thomas Davis, Jr., who before her marriage Christmas Day was Miss Mary Laura Vaughan, of Nashville, N. C.

ROAD WORK BEST FOR UNEMPLOYED

Raleigh, N. C., December 29, 1934—

The most constructive form of unemployment relief is road building. "That North Carolina, with its proud record of highway construction, should in this time of need not only neglect its highway program but actually cripple it is one of the most illogical and shortsighted developments on record," George Ross Pou of Raleigh, General Counsel of the Highway Protective League of North Carolina said today.

His statement focused attention on the loss of Federal Aid which threatens the state's highway system unless that neglect is remedied. Mr. Pou pointed to the fact that under present conditions there are no state funds available for highway construction, while in 1935 the necessary amount to match Federal Aid or else lose it is $3,000,000 and the same for 1936.

"Millions of dollars of CWA money has been spent on projects of varying value," Mr. Pou said, because immediate work of some sort was imperative.

ative basis for the first time; and these borrowers have shown their good faith from the start by repaying their loans promptly when due and thus protecting the sources production credit provided for them."

THROUGH STATE CAPITAL KEYHOLES

By Bess Hinton Silver

(Crowded out last week)

CRIMINAL LAW—Recent executions have been followed by vociferous discontent with State statutes which permit a person who beyond all doubt hired another to do a murder to escape the death sentence while the man who committed the deed often pays with his life. Another law sent four men to the death chair for the murder of one in the Taylorville bank robbery case. Still another case recently sent three negroes to the chair for killing Howard Jernigan, Sampson county white man. It is not at all unlikely that efforts will be made to revise these laws to make all parties in a hired killing equally guilty while a paradoxical effort may be made to confine the death punishment to the party committing murder. Prospects for revision of these laws are not bright although any move in that direction will be of interests to every citizen.

JOBBS—Lieutenant Governor A. H. (Sandy) Graham and Secretary of State Stacey W. Wade have long been besieged with applicants for jobs during the Legislature. Over on the House side of the Capitol the Speaker will have jobs to dish out but since there is a three-cornered battle between Representatives Robert Grady Johnson, of Pender, Laurie McEachern, of Beaufort, and Willie Lee Lumpkin, of Franklin, the applicants will wait until one of them is elected—woe be unto him. MADISON'S LEGISLATOR

HON. HERSCHEL SPRINKLE, who leaves next week for Raleigh.

CARTER—MARTIN

The marriage of Miss Hazel Lee Martin, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Martin, of Alexander, and Mr. Ben Carter, of Asheville was solemnized on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride. Evergreens and candles in silver and bronze candelabra were placed throughout the lower floor which was thrown en-suite.

The vows were spoken before an altar improvised of greenery and interspersed with pink snapdragons and arched with greenery. On either side of the altar and in the center front were tall white standards, each bearing seven glowing cathedral candles.

Miss Robbie Thompson played the wedding music, first rendering "The Flower Song". She also accompanied Mrs. L. P. Miller, who sang "At Dawning". The wedding march from Lohengrin was used for the processional and the wedding march by Mendelssohn was used for the recessional.

The ushers were: Mr. Gaines Sluder, of Columbia, S. C., Mr. Leo Bagwell and Mr. H. B. Harmon, of Asheville, Mr. Calvin Edney, of Mars Hill, Mr. Paul Carter, of Ivy, and Mr. W. B. Bethune, of Raleigh. The best man was Mr. Ellis Martin, brother of the bride. The bridesmaids were: Miss Gela Nix, Miss Amy Carter, Mrs. Katherine Baggwell, of Asheville, Miss Katherine Roberts, of Alexander, Miss Pauline Davis, of Canton, and Miss Palma Carter.

The bridesmaids were gowned in taffeta made alike in pastel shades of blue, pink and green, with cowl neck lines and in train. They carried large arm bouquets of pink snapdragons tied with tulle to match the gowns.

Mrs. H. B. Harmon, of Asheville, was the matron of honor, and was attired in peach satin made on long lines and in train. She carried a large arm bouquet of talisman roses. Immediately preceding the bride was the little flower girl, Doris Jean Anderson, who wore a pink satin frock and carried a basket filled with pink sweet peas. The ring bearer, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carter brought in the ring in a small silver tray.

The Rev. J. B. Grice, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, was the officiating minister. During the ceremony Miss Thompson played softly Mendelssohn's "Spring Song". A reception followed the ceremony.

In the dining room punch, coffee, and accessories were served by Mrs. Ola Byrd, Mrs. Mabel Duncan, and Miss Anne Mae Davis. A large wedding bell of pink and silver was suspended over the center of the dining table which held the wedding cake decorated with a miniature bride and groom. Ivory candles in silver holders were on either side.

The bride's mother wore a gown of brown chiffon velvet with a shoulder bouquet of pink sweet peas. The bride is descended from old and prominent Buncombe county families. She was educated at Mars Hill college and Western Carolina Teachers college at Cullowhee and has been a teacher in the West Buncombe school.

Mr. Carter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Carter, of Ivy. He has been connected with the chain grocery stores of Asheville, Charlotte, and Johnson City, Tenn. The couple will reside at 183 Woodfin street, Asheville, after a wedding trip. The bride's going away suit was of dark blue tweed with matching accessories, and Thad Eure, unopposed for Chief Clerks of the Senate and House respectively, are also hearing from the job-hunters. Somebody is due to receive a big disappointment since, in these days of economy, legislative jobs no longer grow on trees.

SURPRISE—Persons engaged here in collecting advance information on views of members of the next Legislature express surprise at sentiment in favor of a change in the State's prohibition laws. They will tell you that more than the expected number of solons would legalize liquor sales under strict supervision and taxation. Old political heads around the capitol shake their grey locks, however, and opine that this is not the time to attempt revision of the dry laws. From all indications this situation is

FARMERS HEAR TALK ON CATTLE

I. L. Case Chief Speaker At Gathering Held In Marshall

Mr. I. L. Case, specialist in animal husbandry, spoke to a group of farmers and cattlemen from Madison, Yancey, Avery, and Mitchell counties Saturday afternoon in Marshall. He outlined plans whereby farmers may obtain beef cattle from the exchange in Kansas City, Mo., to replace the government cattle removed from pastures in this section for which feed has been stored away.

Mr. Case predicted the price of beef would be higher within a year. He showed by a chart that the drought in the West has changed the cycle of cattle production there and the unnatural condition will raise the price of beef and cattle products within the year 1935. Cattlemen here expressed the belief that prices for animals to be shipped here as quoted by the Kansas City exchange are higher than the prevailing price here, but Mr. Case explained that although prices quoted were higher than those here, it was probably because the choice animals were mainly the ones in question. Lower prices existed for lower grade stock, he said.

Guy V. Roberts, president of the Madison County Hereford association, told the group that this county and other Western North Carolina counties do not need the grade cattle, that there are enough of them here already. The people of this section need, he said, purebred breeders in order to build up their herds.

Representatives of the Asheville Production Credit Association outlined plans whereby cattlemen may mortgage their cattle in order to buy more cattle. It was explained to them that it is not so much a matter of credit here as a question of improving the Hereford cattle breed in the county. Only a few orders for cattle were placed with Earle Brintnall, Madison county farm agent, but he expects several more to be placed soon in order to make out the carload quota.

CHRISTMAS SURPRISE

Mrs. Jane Rector, who has been very ill for some time, had a most beautiful surprise Christmas tree given for her by her grandchildren: Mr. and Mrs. McClellan Deaver of Knoxville, Tenn., Mrs. Chas. Heinz and family, also of Knoxville; Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Ramsey of Marshall; and Miss Anna May Deaver and Miss Alva Robinson of Asheville. The beautiful and useful presents were too numerous to mention. Despite the fact of her advanced age and feeble health, Mrs. Rector enjoyed very much an elaborate Christmas dinner served by her daughter, Mrs. Will Deaver, and granddaughter, Mrs. Otto Henderson. Others present were her son, Mr. Charley Rector and family, and Mr. Otto Henderson.

THOMPSON—RAMSEY

Miss Martha Catherine Ramsey of Walnut and Mr. Eugene Thompson, of Louisville, Ky., were married at the bride's home at Walnut Tuesday, January 1, at five o'clock P. M., the ceremony being performed by the Rev. B. E. Guthrie of Walnut. The attractive and accomplished bride is the only daughter of Ex-Sheriff R. R. Ramsey of Walnut and was a member of the Marshall school faculty. She was married in a blue transparent velvet dress made on close fitting lines. Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left for Knoxville and points in Kentucky and, after January 15, will be at home at Elizabethton, Ky. The groom is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and has been connected with the U. S. Geological Survey about eight years.

P. T. A. TO MEET NEXT TUESDAY

The Marshall P. T. A. will hold its first regular meeting at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 8, we are asked to announce. A full attendance is desired.

likely to result in a clash of considerable proportions but the odds will appear to be with Drys.
