It was indeed gratifying to see the large attendance at our first summer Sunday evening union service last Sunday at the Methodist Church. We were especially glad to see so many of our own members present. We trust that the fine spirit will continue.

Beginning Sunday evening we will have two young people's groups, meeting at the hours stated above. In having the two groups we feel that we will have more of the young college folk to join us, especially for the summer. Too, the children will have a better opportunity for leadership development.

All young people who are expecting to attend the Y. P. Conference at Farm School next week are asked to notify the Rev. P. P. Thrower by Sunday morning.

Y. P. SOCIALS FMDAY

The Christian Endeavor Society, which has been the only religious organization for the young people of Marshall, has been composed of young people and children of all ages. COUNTY FARM NEWS

By Your County Agents

STRIP FARMING
Following the heavy rains of the past week end in most sections of the county it is easier to see the dire need for strip farming to help control gullies. New gullies have started on plowed hill sides; old ones have washed deeper, carried off many tons of fertile soil. Just look at the French Broad River. Some one has said too many farmers are satisfied with second class soil because they allow the first class soil to be carried off annually. That is why most of our soils are so red in color.

One of the examples of strip farming in the county is found on Mr. L. A. Zimmerman's farm in No. 2 township. He came originally from Kansas, a level state, and may realize the need more fully of conserving soil by improved practices. Because of his good example of strip farming for the mountainous section two experts in advanced farm planning will be at his farm this week to draw maps and take pictures to be used for courses of study in summer schools. This farm will be used to illustrate good mountain farming. More farmers should use real strip farming to help in their biggest job that of holding the fertile soil in place.

GROWING BABY BEEFS

With the Asheville Fat Stock Show again this fall farmers and 4-H Club members are taking more interest in this attractive enterprise.

Mr. Case, livestock specialist of State College, will be here in the county next week, June 18 and 19 to help you with your livestock problems. Any one in county intending to grow out a fat baby beef for show should leave word in the county agent's office if he or she would like to be assisted with expert advice. Mr. Case will also help in the cooperative marketing of lamb - a movement started by interested farmers.

VACCINATING PULLETS

Sore head or chicken pox is a disease of poultry which usually attacks pullets when laying themselves thin. The best time to do this work is during the summer after the cockerets are sold, and before the pullets are 16 weeks old. In case this disease has ever been in your poultry houses it is by far the safer practice to vaccinate. It is much more profitable to prevent. If pullets get sick with chicken pox they may die, usually molt and are a long time coming back into production. For a few cents per dose it hardly pays to take the chance.

MEXICAN BEAN-BEETLE CONTROL

C. H. BRANNON Extension Entomologist

Rotenone should be used for Mexican Bean Beetle control. BEST RESULTS HAVE BEEN OBTAINED WITH A DUST.

DUST
Use the following formula:
7 1/2% rotenone - 100 lbs. dust.
Apply at the rate of 20 or 25 pounds to the acre on any and all crops.
This material can be obtained all over the State and it is strongly advised that it be purchased ready mixed. (The rotenone-talc dust cannot be used as a spray).

SPRAY

For those wishing to spray, the following formula should be used:
SMALL AMOUNTS
DERRIS OR CUBE WATER
(GROUND ROOT) 4%
ROTENONE
10 level tablespoons 3 gallons
(5-8 of an 8 ounce measuring cup)
3 level tablespoons 1 Gallon
LARGE AMOUNTS
1 1/2 pounds 50 gallons

DOES IT PAY TO GRAZE YOUR TIMBER LAND

Mr. Claude Forester, Mars Hill, N. C. has thoroughly convinced himself that it pays him well to keep his cattle out of his timber. He once had his fence through his woods allowing his cattle in part of the timber and not the other. The timber the cattle were not allowed in made so much faster growth

ADJUSTED SERVICE BONDS

To All Veterans And Others Concerned

JAMES A. FARLEY
Postmaster General

and had so much more small timber starting that Mr. Forester decided of his own observation that he was losing money, time and valuable timber by allowing his cattle to go into it. He does not allow his cattle to go into any of his woods now.

He has a pine forest thinning project now. He believes in a few years he will be caring for all his timber as advised by the extension forester the same as he does for his tobacco.

With most of our supply of timber exhausted we should give this one clear thought for the future. In a number of our eastern North Carolina counties farmers are paying as high as four to six dollars a cord for wood to cure tobacco.

With this situation at hand we cannot go wrong by putting our idle waste land to timber. It is possible to get $5.00 per acre for reforesting land when you come in on the New Soil Conservation Program.

Ask the few farmers who have tried liming their land for the answer.

According to a demonstration conducted several years ago in this county the results were as follows:

On Mr. G. H. Roberts' farm, Marshall, N. C., where no lime was used the yield per acre of dry hay was only 234 lbs. Where 1000 lbs. of lime was used the yield was 1984 lbs. of dry hay. Where 2000 lbs. of lime was used the yield was 2080 lbs. of dry hay per acre. Where 3000 lbs. of lime was used the yield of dry hay was 2112 lbs. per acre.

These results show very little difference in yields between 1000 lbs. and 3000 lbs. of lime used per acre. The land was treated the same except the difference in amounts of lime applied per acre. The second year after liming the crop of legumes especially red clover was a much better stand, and the crop grew faster.

Now is the best time to lime, and get help from the government under the Soil Conservation program. It is conservatively estimated that 99% of all farm land in county needs lime.

Don't allow broom sedge to thrive in pastures, or clover fail to grow good on your land. You can get Federal aid if you act before June 20.
