Some Peculiar Ideas About Bees Persist

State College Extension Beekeeper W. A. Stephen says that he runs into some peculiar ideas about bees in his travels over the state. But a mountaineer recently came up with some of the weirdest "misinformation" he's heard lately.

Stephen says that Graham County Agent Denver Robinson was overheard in a conversation with the old mountain man who asked, almost demanding, "Do you know where that thar honey comes from?"

Robinson good humoredly said he had always understood that the bees got their honey from flowers. The old timer then asked, "Where do the flowers get it?" Without waiting for a reply, he said that flowers "get it from the air." Then he offered the information that "they now have machines that will take that thar honey from the air."

While Robinson puzzled over this startling bit of news, some bees taking "cleansing flights" flew by and the old man said, "See that! The bees are carrying out their honey."

New Bill Would Help Our Farmers

A new bill has been reported favorably by the House and Senate committee and has the support of the President. This bill would exempt our farmers from the two cents a gallon Federal tax on gasoline when used in their tractors and other farm machinery.

In order to take advantage of this saving farmers should keep all receipts for gasoline so they can justify claiming the exemption. The government plans to send out forms upon which this exemption can be claimed.
