S. Cleveland Hipps, 72, Passes On Saturday; Rites Held Monday

S. Cleveland Hipps, 72, a retired farmer and blacksmith of the Spring Creek section of Madison County, died Saturday, May 26, 1966 at 5 a. m., in an Asheville nursing home after a long illness.

He was a native and lifelong resident of Madison County, a son of the late J. M., and Adeline Woody Hipps. He was a member and deacon of the Flats of Spring Creek Baptist Church and for a number of years the superintendent of the Sunday School there.

Funeral services were held Monday at 2 p. m., in the Flats of Spring Creek Baptist Church. The Rev. Coleman C. Caldwell, pastor officiated, assisted by the Rev. Doyle Miller, and burial was in the church cemetery.

Surviving are one brother, Lee Hipps of Fresno, Calif.; three sisters, Mrs. Renie Clark of Spring Creek, with whom he made his home for a number of years; Mrs. Nancy Miller of Canton and Mrs. Essie Cogdill of Fresno Calif.

Nephews were pallbearers and nieces were flower bearers. Crawford Funeral Home was in charge.

The average 1964 income of 50,000,000 men who had some income was $3,200 and for some 28,000,000 women, the average figure was about $1,200. This was about the same as in 1963, but was considerably higher than in 1945.

droup returned home with them.

Mr. Willard Waldroup was visiting in Balfour Monday. He also visited Mrs. Sue Smathers in Canton.

Miss Helen Bright spent Monday night with Violet and Lois Woody.

Essay Winners On Savings Bonds To Be Named June 6

Greensboro, May 18. — Hundreds of Home Demonstration Club members throughout North Carolina have participated in an essay contest on "Twelve Reasons Why I Should Buy U. S. Savings Bonds" and county winners are being honored this month at meetings of county Home Demonstration Club councils.

District and state winners are to be announced June 6 in Raleigh during the annual Farm and Home Week program. Awards of savings bonds will be presented by J. C. Cowan Jr., vice chairman of the board of Burlington Industries which is cooperating with the state office of the U. S. Savings Bond Division and the State Home Demonstration Club organization in sponsoring the contest.

Winners in each of North Carolina's 100 counties are receiving a box of hosiery from Burlington Industries. Committees, composed of educators, editors, bankers, Treasury Department representatives and others, are judging the various contests.

Purpose of the project is to encourage wise use of farm family income insofar as savings are concerned, and to promote investment in U. S. Savings Bonds by the families of farm women throughout the state.

Walter Johnson, state savings bond director, said that participation in the project by members of Home Demonstration clubs has been "excellent," and that the contest had been used as part of a study project by the county clubs to help farm women become better managers of family income.

Awards to be presented by Mr. Cowan on behalf of Burlington In-

HERE COMES THE BOOKMOBILE

On our way home Friday afternoon, "Bookie" asked me in sort of a cool tone of voice, "What about our plans for next week?" "Ride the route as usual; why do you ask?" was my reply. Still kind of huffy-like, "Bookie" said "Because for the past two weeks we have been mixing things all up." "Now, Bookie, dear," sez I, "we haven't been mixing things all up at all. Due to your sick spell, we simply ran "Wednesday's route on Friday, week before last. Last week, we ran three of the Big Pine stops on Friday, so we could go into Marshall on Wednesday to meet a library lady that had come all the way from Raleigh to see us.

"We must not get 'sot in our ways.' People will think we are getting old.

"Don't you know? 'Variety is the spice of life.'"

"Didn't you enjoy seeing all those nice boys and girls on Big Pine, Friday afternoon?"

"Wouldn't they have been there on Wednesday?" asked "Bookie."

"No; they were still in school then," answered I.

"That," says "Bookie," makes everything all right with me. I am glad we changed to Friday. Very, very glad."
