The nice shower of rain here Monday afternoon was most welcomed — although heavy rains have washed away much soil and crops in some sections of the county recently, Marshall, Mars Hill and other sections have had the minimum of rain — Blanche Stines finds that staying away from Marshall is mighty hard — although she has moved to Little Pine, she finds her way to Marshall about every day — I hope she continues to "visit" Marshall 'cause she's a mighty cute gal — from the muddy appearance of the French Broad River, there must have been plenty of rain somewhere — Dr. Holt delivered a fine sermon Sunday night — I think we should all try to set our sails in the right direction — we were delighted to have the Rev. and Mrs. George Winecoff and daughter, Mary, visit us Monday night — Mrs. Winecoff is the former Miss Wanda Sams — we had quite a supper up home — Jean Stines and "Bill" fixed up a meal "fit for a king" and in addition to George, Wanda and Mary, we also had the pleasure of having Fred Sams, Skip and Jean plus our family, including "Scop," our pet Persian cat — Jean cooked some Brownies and about 11:00 o'clock we decided to have a dunking party — looked in the refrigerator and there was no milk — so, we came to town, purchased some good cold milk and went to Jean's home where we enjoyed dunking Brownies — changes are being made in Marshall — the welfare department is now on the second floor of the Masonic Temple — the Health Dept. is on the 3rd floor of the Bank of French Broad — last Saturday, Leake and Reeves Law firm moved to the front offices on the 3rd floor of the French Broad Bank and Dr. John McLeod is getting moved on the second floor of Moore's Pharmacy — if things keep changing, it'll be hard to remember where certain people are — Dorothy Eatmon, Sharon Tomberlin, Patsy Holcombe and Sandra Edwards came down from Mars Hill Tuesday and decided to cool off in the swimming pool — Dorothy and Sandra came down to see Charlie and found that he was working in Asheville — Tuesday night I did something I've wanted to do for several years — that is, go to the Flat Rock Playhouse near Hendersonville — "The Grand Prize" was the title of the play and it was certainly highly entertaining and humorous — if you are a lover of stage productions, I heartily recommend the Flat Rock Playhouse — the 4th of July was quiet around Marshall — that is, except for the heavy traffic that flowed through town all day.

Miss Ann Hunter
Bride Of Dr.
John R. Nelson Jr.

Charlotte, June 30 — Miss Ann Hunter, daughter of Mrs. Robert Eugene Hunter of Charlotte and the late Mr. Hunter, and Dr. John Raymond Nelson Jr., of Bryn Mawr, Pa., son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Raymond Nelson of Mars Hill, were married June 30 at 7:30 p. m., in St. Martin's Episcopal Church, Charlotte.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. Moultrie Moore Jr. John D. Morrison, organist, presented a program of wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Lt. Robert Eugene Hunter Jr., of Kingsville, Texas. She wore a Chantilly lace and satin dress with a fitted bodice, tapered sleeves, full bouffant skirt and chapel train of lace and tulle. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was attached to a miniature crown of matching lace. She carried a bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis and fleur d'Amour.

Mrs. Robert Eugene Hunter Jr., of Kingsville, Texas, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a dress of French blue crystalet with a matching bandeau of illusion. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pale pink snapdragon and American beauty roses.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. I. Harding Huges Jr., of Winston-Salem; Mrs. James S. Hunter of Charlotte; Miss Nancy Long of Glen Alpine and Mrs. E. Baxter. Their costumes were identical to that of the honor attendant.

Dr. E. P. Ellis Jr., of Chevy Chase, Md., was best man. Ushers were Jack Sharin of Winston-Salem, Dr. John R. Corbett Jr., of Wilmington, Ed W. DeArmon of Washington, D. C., and James S. Hunter of Charlotte, brother of the bride.

A reception was given by the bride's mother in the parish house of the church.

For a wedding trip to Miami, Fla., the bride wore a navy blue sheath dress with matching jacket, white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Nelson is a graduate of Queen's College in Charlotte. For the past four years she has been a member of the faculty of the Winston-Salem City Schools.

Dr. Nelson is a graduate of Wake Forest College and the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, Winston-Salem. He has just completed a year's internship at Bryn Mawr Hospital, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

The couple will be at home in Philadelphia, Pa., where Dr. Nelson will be stationed with the U. S. Navy at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital.

A TIZZY AMONG ENGLISH LORDS

A tizzy was narrowly averted in the House of Lords recently when debate was begun on a bill concerning hotel proprietors.

It seems a ruckus almost developed when Lord Conesford had the audacity to disagree with H. W. Fowler, the author of the book "Modern English Usage," on the use of an "an" or an "a."

It seems that Lord Conesford thought that a bill about hotel proprietors should be titled "An hotel proprietors bill." Mr. Fowler supported the title—"A hotel proprietors bill." Conesford said, however, the article "an" came before an aspirated "h" when the first syllable of the word was unaccented.

But there was no general agreement on the point, and a delicate situation was narrowly averted when it was decided to skip both the "a" and the "an."

In the end, the bill was titled, "The hotel proprietors bill." A major crisis was averted, and the English language left intact, such as it is. Good show, nevertheless.
