$200 PER WEEK CAN YOU QUALIFY?

We are not kidding about the above earnings, nor do we want you to take our word for it. You are more than welcome to talk with our salesmen who are making this amount of money right now. Go out with them for a day and watch while they put commissions of $50 or more in their own pockets. If this doesn't convince you, nothing will.

I will hire three salesmen this week. These men will have the following qualifications:

- (1) Ability and willingness to work hard.
- (2) Preferably between the ages of 21 and 45.
- (3) Own a late model car.
- (4) Willingness to learn.

Those selected will be trained thoroughly in the basic fundamentals of salesmanship. Qualified prospects are furnished daily. Accumulative bonus is paid semi-annually. In many instances the annual income from bonus checks alone is as much as the average man earns during the course of a year.

If you are dissatisfied with your present income or position, this legitimate top-flight proposition merits your sincere consideration. Personal interviews only. If our offer is not worth a personal visit and a half-hour of your time, you are not the man we want. If it is, this may well be one of the important decisions of your life.

FOR APPOINTMENT: Write Billy E. Bryant, Box 5273, Biltmore, N. C., giving these details: Age, occupation, make and year of car.

limitations this season," Mr. Hawkins said. "That is why farmers should come to the county office just as soon as possible to discuss the program and see how they can participate in this nation-wide attack on surpluses and at the same time benefit themselves."

The other feature of the Soil Bank is known as the Conservation Reserve, under which general cropland is taken out of production and devoted to conservation uses. Details of this portion of the program will be announced later.

The Easier Way

First of each month, a young businessman was hounded by dress shops, shoe stores and other retail establishments for bills his wife ran up buying clothes. At last, a banker friend took him to one side and said: "You're getting a bad reputation around town for not paying your wife's bills. Why don't you put a stop to it? Her buying is getting out of hand."

Sighing, the young man replied, "Well, it's this way. It's a lot easier to make arrangements with my creditors than it is with my wife."

Moving Testimonial

The businessman was finding it more difficult than he had expected to write a letter of reference for his recent assistant. Happy to see the former employee leave, he still felt he had no right to blight a budding career — nor to mislead another employer.

Finally he dictated a single sentence: "We believe this young man will go far, and we are pleased to have had a part in helping him get started and keeping him moving."

A DA VINCI FOR $450

Chicago — Hanns R. Teichert, Chicago interior decorator, bought a painting in a New York antique shop a year ago for $450. The painting has been identified by a number of art experts in this country, in Italy, France and the Netherlands, as the work of the master, Leonardo da Vinci, famed for his "Mona Lisa." Teichert, who has been offered $500,000 for the painting, says he will keep it for a while and then donate it to an American

May a beneficiary in an attested written will be an attesting witness to the will?

The simplest and best advice to a testator is that he should bet someone other than a beneficiary, or the spouse of a beneficiary, to witness the will. A beneficiary, or the spouse of a beneficiary, is what the laws call an "interested witness."

A beneficiary or his spouse may be a competent witness to a will; but, if there are not at least two other witnesses to the will who are disinterested, the interested witness and his spouse and anyone claiming under him take nothing under the will. The will is valid only so far as their interests are concerned. Therefore, no beneficiary or his spouse should be requested to sign as an attesting witness.

Cheaper by the Dozen

An eight-year-old boy, visiting a neighbor, was asked how many children there were in his family.

"Thirteen," he answered.

The neighbor observed that so many children must cost a lot of money.

"Oh, no," the child replied, "we don't buy them — we raise them."
