this column, I found that my brain, along with the steel and aluminum workers had gone on a strike. So I ran out to ask "Bookie" what I could write about this week. "Full of ideas, just full of 'em," ses "Bookie." "Now just hold on, 'Bookie.' All I want track. right now is one." "Tell 'em July is over." "Don't be foolish,

'Bookie.' They know that." "But they don't know that you have counted up the circulation figures and that we gave out 2193 books in thirteen days on the route, and that is 320 more than in June." "Okeh, 'Bookie,' I have told 'em that Now, just one more idea." "Don't you think it would be kind of nice to tell 'em that it has been almost a year since you and Harry drove down to Wilson?" "Oh! it has, hasn't it? Do you remember that storm, 'Bookie'? It was one of the kind that they call 'Arabella,' or 'Beulah,' or 'Clementine,' or something like that. Do you remember how we had to wait for the eye to pass - that's what they call the worst part before the man would fix you up for the trip? Do you remember how Harry and you stayed ahead of me all the way, except when we lost each other once, and how we never could figure where you tow went, and how you came driving up behind us just when we were beginning to feel desperate?", his Thunderbird-powered Ford in "The thing I remember best," | top shape for this week's event. sez 'Bookie.' "is when I first saw a mountain. What thrill! I had never in my whole life been out of Wilson County." "Let me ask you something, 'Bookie.' Do you behind Jarrett in track points. still get a thrill when you look at the mountains?" "Do you," asks 'Bookie.' "Yes, I do" - "So do I - I do - I do," sez 'Bookie.' "NO OVER-DUTERS" HONOR

Stock Car Race At Asheville . * * * * * * * *

Asheville, Aug. 9 - Ned Jarrett of Newton Saturday night shook off the winner's jinx that has ridden with him at McCormick Field Speedway since June 23 when he won his second straight sportsman feature on the new

Although he had finished high in the money each race, he hadn't been able to win again until Saturday when he roared home in front of the field to register his third win on the local track. He took the lead on the 12th lap when leader Banjo Matthews of Asheville was involved in a wreck. and held it the rest of the way to win. The victory boosted Jarrett's leading track points to a solid 336.

That Jarrett's driving is much improved over years past was proved Sunday afternoon when he finished second in the 100-lap modified and sportsman feature at Asheville-Weaverville. He has been the steadiest driver here at McCormick Field all season and seems well on his way to the track championship.

Jarrett will head the field again this Saturday night when Promoter Jim Lowe presents another 125-lap sportsman and amateur racing program. After his two races last weekend, Jarrett has He will have to contend with Ralph Earnhardt of Kannapolis and Bobby Waddell of North Wilkeaboro, who are running 2-3

Banjo also will be on hand in his hot rod Ford. The field will include Red Norris of Newton, Carlos Abbott of Hickory, R. L. Combs of North Wilkesboro, Reed Moore and Harold Moore, both of Mooresville, and George Mantooth, Tommy Boger and Dink Widenhouse, all of Concord.

The program will consist of two 10-lap heats and a 30-lap main event for amateurs, two 10-lap heats, a 15-lap consolation and a 40-lap feature for sportsmen. Time trials begin at 7 p. m., racing at 8.

May a man be requir od to ort his illegitimate child? Yes. It is a criminal of in North Carolina' for a man to wilfully neglect or refuse to support his illegitimate child.

child is defined within the meaning of the particular statute as any person less than 18 years of age.

The burden is on the State prove not only that the defendant is the father of the child, but also that the neglect or refusal to support is wilful; that is, intentional "without cause, excuse or justification" after notice and request for support. The only way support for an illegitimate child may be obtained is through criminal action. The action must be brought within 3 years after the birth of the child; or where the paternity of the child has been judicially determined within 3 years of its birth, at any time before the child attains 18 ther has acknowledged paternity of child by payments of support child by payments of support within 3 years next after birth, within 3 years from date of last payment. The court may fix by order, subject to decrease or increase from time to time, the sum necessary to support the child. The court in fixing this sum may take into consideration the circumstances of the particular case, the financial ability and earning capacity of the defendant, and his willingness to cooperate for the
