W. C. T. U. Report

Ten quilts, an Afghan and a heavy woolen blanket were made and sent to foreign relief. A large shipment of used hose went to Japan, where they are knitted into garments by the inmates of rescue homes. Also a box of brackets and writing paper was sent. A large shipment of garments and $35 were sent to a needy Indian school in South Carolina. Some Christian literature was sent to the Marshall jail; some to our colored school; two hundred books to a missionary in the Philippines, who was to be extravagantly grateful that he made an exhibit of them, and sent a snapshot picture of them. We have distributed hundreds of evangelical tracts, through tract racks. We have a prayer band composed of shut-ins. Several thousand used Christmas cards were sent to missionaries. A lovely scrapbook was sent to each Home for the Aging in North Carolina, and many were sent to Otteen and other hospitals. The postage on the above things which were sent abroad was paid by Mrs. George S. Hargrove of Lumberton and to her we are greatly indebted. We also gratefully acknowledge the donations sent us by several Women's Missionary Societies, especially Enon and Paint Fork. Some did not leave their names. We shall be grateful for any further donations of such materials as these during the coming year from any source.

This is not a complete account of all the WCTU has done, but we hope we have told enough that our members who cannot attend our meetings and the gentlemen who have given us a contribution may see what they have helped to do.

We sincerely thank you.
MRS. S. W. VANCE, Secretary.
MISS HATTIE EDWARDS, President.

TOURIST "TRAP"
Roundup, Mont. — This small Eastern Montana community is making it hard for tourists to pass through. They are liable to "arrest" for "operating a vehicle without out of state license plates." The police chief, sign wailing and red light flashing, occasionally stops a tourist car as it prepares to leave the city. The "sentence" for driving through Roundup with out of state plates includes a free night's lodging, dinner with the Mayor, a free movie, free breakfast and a wash and lubrication job for the car.

Good Idea
"No! No!" cried Mrs. Parker as Mrs. Rogers raised the bowl menacingly above her head.
Mrs. Rogers grinned. "I wouldn't throw it—not really. Besides, I think his honor has a good idea. Why not have Mollie call her sister?—at our expense. I think we all owe her a holiday gift."

We all heartily agreed. The mayor himself said that the plan was a dandy when we told him about it. He promised to write to Elsie to make sure she'd be home when the call came through; it wouldn't be a surprise, or a present, if Elsie weren't at the other end of the line on New Year's Eve.
When Mollie Nesbitt left Phil's Diner on New Year's Eve it was snowing. When she reached home it was snowing harder. By the time she opened the front door to admit our joyous delegation a regular blizzard was under way. We charged the telephone, carrying Mollie with us. She let out a squeal of delight when we told her that she'd soon be talking to Elsie. Her eyes grew bright with anticipation when Mrs. Parker placed the call. Then Mrs. Parker clipped our chatter. Her face was grim as she faced us:
"Martha Weeks says the lines are down. Big snow storm out west. We'll not be able to talk to Elsie tonight."
We were stunned. Mollie sat still for awhile, trying not to look too disappointed. A bit later she trotted into the kitchen for a tray of cookies, but they stuck in our throats.
Company
"Someone's coming up the walk," said Mrs. Parker. "Looks like Mayor Fulcrum but it's hard to tell with all this snow. It is the mayor—and there's a lady with him!"
Mollie opened the door—then let out a cry that brought us all to our feet. "Elsie! Oh what a wonderful present!" And she threw her arms around her sister's neck.
"Happy New Year, mayor!" cried, grasping his hand warmly. "You sure brightened things up around here. Whatever made you decide to bring Elsie to Hillcrest?"
"Well, I ran into Mollie last week at the post-office, where she was mailing a package to Elsie. She was sending hearing-aid batteries. Thinking that Elsie might be tired of hearing to worry on a long communication, I thought I'd send her brain ticks. I'm sure she'll appreciate a hearing-aid battery."

CALL FOR New Year's
E. F. L. Rooley
SOME OF THE NEW YEAR'S resolutions have already been made. Mollie Nesbitt had lived the best nearly eleven years. We found out about her. Elsie. We heard the news. Mrs. Parker, who seemed a bit ashamed for not having covered it earlier.
"Imagine!" exclaimed the active Mrs. Parker, as we wrote the last of the New Year resolutions in the Hillcrest Town. "The poor soul hasn't seen in more than ten years."
"Why?" asked Mayor Fulcrum.
"Mollie says her sister lives west; guess she just can't afford to buy a round-trip ticket."
"She works at Phil's Diner,"

"She works at Phil's Diner, doesn't she," mumbled the mayor.
"Doesn't she?" mumbled the mayor, stuffing Christmas candy into his mouth. "Phil pays her, I presume."
"She's always helping someone," said young Mrs. Rogers with a frown, as she reached for the mayor's candy bowl. "Whenever any one of us needs a baby sitter we think of Mollie Nesbitt. When the children want a sucker, or kite-string, or pick up a silver—it's always Mollie Nesbitt."
"Why doesn't she call her sister on the phone?" asked the mayor. Then, turning his back on our little group, he strode off in search of new tid-bits.

Lincoln Proclamation Issued on New Year's
On New Year's day, 1863, President Lincoln issued a proclamation freeing the slaves in states and parts of states where the people were then in rebellion. The areas designated were Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and large parts of Louisiana and Virginia. Tennessee was accepted from the proclamation, although the Union armies were far from complete success in their task of bringing it under government control. The Emancipation Proclamation did not abolish slavery. That was accomplished by the Thirteenth amendment, which went into effect Dec. 18, 1865.

We wish you twice as much good cheer as you have had before.

Fire Department

A fire truck to a fire shall remain with the fire truck at all times—operate the pump and will be responsible for checking equipment back on the truck before returning to the fire station. This rule shall not apply in cases where a man is relieved by the officer in charge.

6. No fireman shall leave the scene of a fire until given permission by the officer in charge.
7. Every fireman will report existing fire hazard in the town of Marshall known to him to the fire chief.
8. It will be unlawful for the fire truck to leave the corporate limits of Marshall under any circumstances.

It was also announced by Chief Duckett that in order to test the fire siren, the whistle will make one blast 30 minutes prior to the meetings every other Thursday night (7:00 p. m.). This will also remind firemen of the meetings.
Future plans call for the siren to be moved from its present location to the top of the Sprinkle-Shelton Wholesale Building where it can be heard better from all directions.
Every fireman is being taught how to operate the pumps on the truck by Jim Story, assistant chief, and Chief Duckett plans further training of firemen to combat fires of various types and under different conditions.
The next meeting of firemen is scheduled for Thursday night, January 3, at 7:30 o'clock.

Globetrotters
fresh out of Carrier Mills, Ill. High School.
The Spas, who twice in recent years have ended Globetrotter winning streaks which passed the 100 mark, are headed by pivotman Jim Gribocki, a 6-foot-10 star in his second year with the professional team, and Charley Burns, an excellent set shot artist.
An affiliate of the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association, the Spas also will have Len Winograd, a star at Brandeis College; Tom Brennan, 6-5, of Villanova; Kevin Thomas, 6-8, from Boston University; Vince Letz, 6-5, from Lyncemore College; Jim Munch, 6-2, Albright College; and Joe Mikez, 6-4, Murray State Teachers.

To prove their playing power, the Globetrotters last year racked up 333 consecutive victories in the U. S., Europe, Middle East, South and Central America and the Caribbean. Playing against the best college talent in the nation in a post-season exhibition series, the Globetrotters won 11 of 21 games.

Highway Shakeup

Under the proposed changes, the governor would designate one of the seven members to serve as chairman for a two-year term.
The primary purpose of the smaller commission would be to provide a more unified operation throughout the state, and build roads according to the over-all needs of the state.
Other recommendations include:
1. The Highway Commission should prepare plans, periodically for additions, construction, and maintenance of secondary roads in each county. The plans, based on the standards and allocations established by the commission, would be discussed with the board of county commissioners. The board could recommend changes in the plans, but final decisions would be up to the Highway Commission.
2. Improved and expanded "planning" activities to insure adequate long-range development of roads and highways.
3. Allocation of funds to roads and highways on the basis of needs and traffic, rather than on the basis of formulas which do not consider geographic variations in costs of construction and maintenance.
4. Improved personnel policies to provide more incentive to highway employees, better supervision, and greater efficiency in operations.
5. Better planning of right-of-way acquisition, including provision of scenic roadside development and limited access right-of-way where needed.
6. Creation of a legal branch headed by an assistant attorney general.
7. Creation of an accounting branch "to provide a basis for proper financial management of the state's highway operations."

8. Creation of an operations branch "with responsibility for construction, maintenance, equipment, and laboratory work."
9. Creation of a program branch to develop a "long-range financial plan and long range program."
10. Expansion of the highway commission's public information program. An informed public, the study group said, "would have a fuller understanding of our road and highway activities" and would be "more ready and more willing to support it."

The study commission did not specifically consider prison operation, since another study commission was working on that. But it made the point that highway funds should pay only for prison labor actually used on highways. The remainder of the cost of prison operations should, the report stated, be supported from the general fund.
The director of highways, the report stated, would be the chief executive officer of the Highway Department. He would be responsible for carrying out the orders of the Highway Commission which would determine policy at all times. The director would appoint other officers and employees of the department, but in the case of the controller his appointment would be subject to the approval of the Highway Commission and the governor.

The study commission said the attorney general "should be responsible for all of the state's legal activities." The report added the opinion that "it is unwise for the highway commission to have legal counsel operating separately from the attorney general's office."
It recommended that the highway's legal branch be headed by an assistant attorney general, whose salary and staff would be paid from the highway fund.
The study touched briefly on highway public relations, criticized as inadequate by Gov. Hodges earlier this year. The report said a "public information" concerning highway problems and achievement "is a positive hindrance to the commission achieving its fullest effectiveness." An expanded public information program would result in stronger public support, it predicted.
