Conservation Judges Are Named For N. C.

Raleigh—C. M. Ladd, former president of the North Carolina Association of Soil Conservation Districts, has named judges to determine North Carolina's winners of the 1956-1957 annual national soil conservation awards program.

Judges selected are all of Raleigh. They are: J. Frank Doggett, extensive soil conservationist, N. C. State College; William C. LaRue, associate editor of Progressive Farmer; Dr. C. Brice Ratchford, assistant director of Agriculture, Extension, N. C. State College; and Edmond Aycock, manager, agriculture department, Wachovia Bank and Trust Co.

Outstanding district of the state for the year ending April 30 selected by the judges will receive a bronze plaque for permanent possession and the right to name one member of its board of supervisors and the outstanding farmer-contractor. The two men they select will be guests of the program's sponsor Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., on an all-expense vacation trip to the Wigwam guest ranch and Goodyear Farms Litchfield Park, Arizona, next November or December.

Scoresheets of N. C. districts entered in the program should be sent to Doggett in Raleigh postmarked not later than May 15.

Winners of the grand awards in the national competition will be announced from Akron, Ohio, during July. The current program is the fourth on a national basis and the fifth annual program will begin May 1 and end on April 30, 1958, with similar awards offered.

Soil Bank—

Stabilization and Conservation Committee, cautioned growers today.

A list of crops approved by the State and County Committees for protective cover was given to each farmer at the time he signed his agreement to take part in the Acreage Reserve program, the chairman explained.

He emphasized, however, that approval of a cover crop on Acreage Reserve land does not void the agreement not to harvest a crop from the designated acres. If a grass, legume, or other crop is approved for protective cover on Acreage Reserve land and would mature a crop in 1957 which could be harvested for grain or seed, it must be disposed of in such a manner that no part of the crop can be harvested. September 30 is the deadline for disposing of such a crop in Madison County.

Farmers are urged to check with the County ASC office if they have any question about this or other phases of the Soil Bank program.

Acreage Goals—

cotton, 45,577 acres of flue-cured tobacco, 423 acres of burley tobacco, 12 acres of rice, and 67,850 acres of winter wheat. The wheat includes winter wheat agreements signed last fall, less cancellations, since only winter wheat is allotted in North Carolina. The tobacco acreage includes both burley and flue-cured, which are the two eligible types grown in this state. The report also includes corrections in county sign-up reports and some cancellations of agreements which were cancelled before the sign-up deadline.

Deadlines for 1957 Acreage Reserve agreements were March 1 for cotton and tobacco, and March 8 for corn and rice, but farmers who previously indicated that they wished to do so were permitted to put "over the limit" acreage in the program after these dates. Most of this "over the limit" acreage has now been accepted. Producers were not permitted to cancel their agreements after the closing dates as funds for Acreage Reserve compensation were obligated on the basis of farmers' agreements at the time of the applicable closing dates.

According to Avert, the final report from the State ASC office, 60,621 Acreage Reserve agreements have been signed. This includes 27,001 agreements on cotton, 10,016 agreements on corn, 13,949 agreements on flue-cured tobacco, 1,010 agreements on burley tobacco, 1 agreement on rice, and 8,644 agreements on wheat, showing 60,621 farmers participating in the Acreage Reserve phase of the Soil Bank Program in North Carolina.

If signatory producers comply with the requirements of the program, they can earn $17,842,584 on the 318,751 acres put in the program; $7,235,108 on cotton, $2,768,205 on corn, $5,998,856 on flue-cured tobacco, $130,830 on burley tobacco, $564 on rice, and $1,709,021 on wheat.

Avert added that only farmers with acreage allotments for wheat, corn, upland cotton, rice, and the two types of tobacco are eligible to participate in the Acreage Reserve Program, which is designed primarily to reduce current production of these "basic" crops.

Garrett Gardner, Jimmie Roberts, Allen Joyce.

11th grade B: Joe Gentry, Betty Ann Fleming, Alene Waldroup, Eula Dean Stamey, Agnes Mathis.

12 grade B: Charles Coward, Wanda Beasley, Merita Keener, Nathan West.

A: Vance Davis, Betty Lou Ferguson, Ann Plemmons.

Marvin Cook Killed—

Adolphus Cook received undetermined internal injuries.

Mrs. Callaghan received lacerations of the head and face, a fractured wrist and fractured ankle. Callaghan received a fracture of the left knee cap, Long said.

Marvin Cook died of a broken neck, the patrolman said.

Long said that the Cook auto, traveling north, left the highway on the right side, went 122 feet on the shoulder, then 95 feet down the pavement and collided head-on with Callaghan's car in Callaghan's lane.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the Chapel Hill Baptist Church. The Rev. N. H. Griffin officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery. Pallbearers were friends.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Nellie Cook; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Cook, all of Marshall RFD 3; five brothers, Dewey Jr., of Greenville, Tenn., Adolphus, Odell, and Burns, all of Marshall RFD 3, and Tasie of Cleveland, Ohio.

Bowman-Rector Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Milk Checks—

duction is climbing at a very rapid rate, and alfalfa production just as rapidly. Shipped hay and shucks are decreasing to a dribble. Milk routes are going to have to be changed for the trucks serving Madison producers are becoming overloaded before they reach the end of the route.

Yes, the grade A picture is good, and the grade C or manufactured milk trucks are finding a more heavily laden pay load on their trucks. Howard and Dorothy Payne of the Paw Paw section represent the spirit of the grade C producers. In three years they have gone from no alfalfa acreage to fourteen acres.

They are planning on building another silo and a barn with a platform milking parlor this year. When this is done Howard says they will purchase a milking machine to make the milking easier. The small cow-to-can milker with a strainer in the line is fast becoming one of the most popular machines in the county. Mr. and Mrs. Troy Rice of the Franklin Mountain Road are not only enjoying easier milking because of theirs but are saving a long haul to the highway because their increased production made the trip profitable to the hauler.

The golden tobacco leaf has long been the currency standard in Madison County but the monthly and semi-monthly milk checks are adding to them now.

McCormick Field Speedway News

(Brought From First Page)

Banjo Matthews and Grady Cox, a couple of Asheville drivers who won feature races at McCormick Field Speedway last Saturday, are primed to try for their second straight victories this Saturday as the sportsmen and amateurs roll again around the quarter-mile track.

Matthews beat out Ned Jarrett of Newton by almost a quarter of a mile to take first money in the sportsman feature, but Banjo started from the outside pole position and Jarrett from the extreme rear. Banjo and Jarrett won the 10-lap heats and Tommy Boger of Concord took the 15-lap consolation.

Grady Cox had a dogfight on his hands all the way as he sped home first in the amateur feature. At the end he was a scant four feet ahead of Perry Jones of Hendersonville. Clayton Hollar of Granite Falls was another 40 yards back in third place. Cox and Pender Fox of Asheville won the 10-lap heat races.

This coming Saturday the sportsmen again will run two 10-lap heats, a 15-lap consolation and a 40-lap main event, and the amateurs will travel in two or three 10-lap heats, depending on the number of cars, and a 30-lap feature. Time trials will start at 7 p. m., and racing at 8.

Jarrett and Matthews both said they will be on hand this week to continue their fight for track points. Jarrett was last year's champion and the points he earned at McCormick Field helped him place second in the national races for sportsmen honors.

The local contingent of sportsmen drivers, headed by Dickie Plemmons, did well Saturday night and will be back this week to try their hands again. Plemmons, Lloyd Phillips, Andy Roberts and Jack Sprinkle were among first 10 in Saturday's feature.

Sportsman veterans Harold and Reed Moore, Tommy Boger, Junior Stewart, and various others will join the field for the coming race.

Almost 40 amateur cars showed up for Saturday's opening races and 27 of them ran in the feature which was reduced by 11 cars after the second lap. A six-car smash-up took out six cars on the second lap and various forms of mechanical trouble accounted for five more victims.

Although Grady Cox stayed in front all the way to win, it was no easy victory. He had plenty of competition from Jones and Hollar and a few other drivers. A strong contingent of Canton ston-Salem. Through this offering, they will make it possible for their hospital to continue serving thousands of men, women and children who are in need of hospitalization or medical care but do not have the money to pay for it.

In 1956, Baptist Hospital gave more than $500,000 worth of free care to needy sick persons from 92 of North Carolina's 100 counties. This figure does not include the free doctor's care received by these patients. The generosity of the coming Mother's Day offering will determine largely the amount of free care that is possible this year.

Hospital officials report 61,135 visits to the out-patient department in 1956. Operated for those who cannot afford the full cost of care, this department conducts clinics for many patients who do not require hospitalization and thus serves thousands who could not be accommodated in the limited space of the 150-bed institution. However many of these patients need to be admitted as in-patients and the Mother's Day fund make it possible to give them the hospital care they so desperately need.

The slogan "Honor Your Mother by Helping Another" is being used in preparation for the offering. Through informing all Baptists of the work their hospital does for the needy sick and stressing the importance of providing the funds for this work, Baptist leaders are laying the foundation for what they hope will be their denomination's most successful Baptist Hospital day.

Last year the French Broad Association won the distinction of being the first and only association in Western North Carolina to be 100% in gifts to the Baptist Hospital through the Mother's Day Offering. It is expected to retain this enviable record again this year.

drivers including Forrest Messer, Charlie Blalock, Bob Browning, Johnny Rhodarmar, Jim Long and Carroll Pressley, will prove tough to beat before the season gets too old.

Asheville's list of amateurs last Saturday included Willie Doid, Harry Clay, Cox, Ernest McTindall, Kenneth Long, Bill Bartlett, Rufus Warlick, Charlie McConry, Floyd Willingham, Carl Maynor and Pender Fox, and will be swelled by others this week.

Hendersonville had several cars in the race — Casey Jones, Jim Hoots, Toad Bradley, J. B. Oarkner and Perry Jones. Granite Falls, Hickory, Waynesville, Marion and Swannanoa were represented by several cars.
