BACCALAUREATE SERVICE HERE WELL ATTENDED

The Marshall High School Baccalaureate Service was well attended in the Marshall school auditorium last Sunday afternoon. The Rev. L. Richard Mellin, pastor of the Marshall Presbyterian Church, delivered an inspiring message.

The Priests March was used for the Processional and following the Doxology the Invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Mack Reeves, pastor of the Walnut and Marshall Methodist Churches. The choir then sang "There Is A Balm In Gilead." The Rev. D. B. Gross, pastor of the Marshall Baptist Church, read several verses of Scripture. This was followed by a solo, "Bless This House," by Mrs. Howard Barnwell. Following the sermon the choir sang "Lord To Thee Our Hearts Are Raised." Mr. Gross pronounced the benediction.

Marshals for the service were Robert Bowman, chief; Olin Jarrett Jr., Merel Fisher, Dora Lee Edwards, Juanita Windsor and Patsy Ramsey.

Mascots were Walda Harrell and Bernie Brigman.

Outlines Program For Blind; Delegates Are Named

Arnold J. Hyde, of Asheville, field representative for the State Commission For The Blind, spoke to the Marshall Lions Club here Monday night, outlining the program for the blind and what the Lions can do to help carry out the program. Among the main points he told the interested Lions were concerning the Aid to the Blind; medical eye care, clinics, cost of glasses, services provided to blind through State Association and the Rehabilitation Program. It was pointed out that the Marshall club had cooperated with the programs and had contributed $89.00 to the White Cane Drive. The club has also furnished visits for many and sponsored visits to clinics, etc.

Following Mr. Hyde's talk, the club then made plans to attend the State Convention of Lions which will be held in Asheville June 9-10-11. Lions O. A. Gergory, W. W. Peek and H. E. Bolerger were named delegates with Lions Jim Story and Bernard Brigman, alternates.

BERT FREEMAN INSTALLS HAY FORK IN BARN

Even though farmers are finding ways of doing jobs easier and faster it seems they do not have much leisure time. Bert Freeman of the Ivy community in Madison County figures he has cut almost half the time it takes to store his hay crops, but he has not had an opportunity to use the abundant supply of locusts found on his farm for bass fishing bait.

Bert has installed a hay fork in his large stock barn and can unload a trailer load of loose hay in 7 to 10 minutes. This is quite a time and labor saver as Bert harvests about 30 acres of alfalfa and the barn will store around 90 tons of loose hay.

The total cost of this labor saving device amounted to a little over $100.00 with Bert installing the fork himself.

429 VEHICLES ARE INSPECTED HERE LAST WEEK

John Corbett, safety coordinator for Madison County, announced this week that 307 cars and 122 trucks (a total of 429 vehicles) were inspected last week at the Inspection Lane on the Mashburn property. Rains forced the lane to close at noon Friday instead of at 4:00 o'clock.

The total of 429 vehicles inspected during the five days surpassed all previous records.

Mr. Corbett again expressed his appreciation to the Marshall Lions Club and also to the four garages who cooperated.

"Several out-of-state cars took advantage of the free inspection lane, too. It is gratifying to see that the inspection lane is becoming more popular year after year," Mr. Corbett concluded.

BAND CONCERT THRILLS CROWD MONDAY NIGHT

Lackey Presents Letters To Ten; Audience Well Pleased

Over 150 people attended the Marshall school band concert in the auditorium Monday night and expressed their appreciation by loud applause after each number and yelling for "More... More..." at the conclusion of the program.

There was absolutely no doubt about the ability and accomplishments of Mr. John Lackey, band director. Each selection showed great versatility and talent both from the junior band and the senior band.

The first portion of the concert was by the "little band." The band opened the entertainment by playing "America." For the second number, the little musicians played "There's Music In The Air," with Billie Jean Haynie and Glenna West in leads. A duet, "Are You Sleeping?" was rendered by Judy Payne and Tommy Nix. Sandra Henderson and Caroline Rice joined in a duet, "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star" and the junior band concluded its portion of the program by playing "German Waltz." They were loudly applauded by the audience.

The Senior Band or "Big Band" opened with the stirring "El Capitan" which was followed by the "Gypsy Festival Overture." The excellent band then played "Stardust." This number was dedicated to Margaret Corbett's newly born colt which she has

TEN YOUTHS ARRESTED FOR DRAG RACING

By KARL FLEMING

Thirty-three warrants charging 10 Western North Carolina youths with participation in recent "drag-races" on the Leicester Highway in Buncombe County were served in a lightning move by Troop E of the State Highway Patrol Wednesday.

The arrests climaxed three weeks of secret surveillance of mass races by uniformed members of the Patrol.

More warrants are to be served. The warrants served Wednesday, which constituted the strongest blow yet delivered against organized "drag racing" in this area, all allege either actual participation in races or aiding and abetting them.

Two youths were charged with aiding and abetting in the form of acting as "official starters" for the races, which last Saturday drew a crowd estimated at 300.

ALL-NIGHT SING HERE JUNE 8 FOR RED CROSS

FARMERS URGED TO SUBMIT SOIL SAMPLES

"It is not too early," said Noville Hawkins, chairman of the Madison County ASC Committee, "to begin taking soil samples on land that will be planted to small grain and winter cover crops during the fall season." Mr. Hawkins stated that he had information to the effect that the Soil Testing Laboratory of the State Department of Agriculture is not heavily loaded with samples at this time. They are, therefore, in position to give reasonably quick service in analyzing soil samples and reporting lime and fertilizer needs of those soils.

Research studies have indicated that application of limestone and fertilizer in accordance with soil test analyses give uniformly good results, with a minimum expenditure for these materials. Mr. Hawkins suggests that farmers plan ahead and submit soil samples now in order that they may know their needs when filing for ACP cost-sharing for fall seeding under the Agricultural Conservation Program.

No Court Story Due To Holiday
