Patrolman C. H. Long led the motorcade and was met at the Asheville City Limits by Asheville police who escorted the motorcade while in Asheville. Practically all the cars in the motorcade were new 1958 models, which were bedecked with flags.

Led by Patrolman Long, the motorcade returned to Marshall at 12:00 o'clock with the visitors and several members of the Sponsor's Committee stopping at the Marshall Presbyterian Church where a luncheon was awaiting special guests and members of the sponsoring committee.

The Fellowship Room of the church was beautifully decorated with gorgeous flowers, table decorations bearing out the post office motif, with miniature modes of transportation on each table. The Rev.
