OUR UNITED APPEAL

GUEST EDITORIAL

—Ву—

DR. ROBERT SEYMOUR

Mars Hill, N. C.

The time has come when a very frank and positive word must be said concerning those agencies that refuse to participate in our Madison County United Appeal. It is unfortunate that we cannot receive complete cooperation in such a worthy civic endeavor, but there are several groups which have seen fit to reject our invitation to enter the United Appeal. They are planning to compete with it rather than to work within its framework.

Fortunately, many of those agencies included in our county budget are very much pleased to participate. The Boy Scouts and the Red Cross, for example, have discovered that it is far more effective to be partners in one well planned united solicitation than to promote their own drives separately. These, along with all the other well-known annual appeals, were asked to submit a request for funds to our Budget Committee with the promise of receiving a fair and proportionate amount of money from our county.

The groups less inclined to cooperate are the medical agencies, but our Budget Committee has designated a sum of money for each of these in the hope that they would accept it rather than sponsor a separate solicitation. There is of course no way of compelling an agency to come under the United Appeal, even though it be included in the budget. However, we are in a position to encourage their participation by letting it be known that we are giving only in the 'united way.'

Last week fifteen hundred persons in Madison County received an appeal from the Tuberculosis Association. Of course this agency does a good work and it is worthy of our support. Nevertheless, we feel that the Tuberculosis Association is making a mistake by its failure to acknowledge the wishes of our county by conducting an independent solicitation. Our Budget Committee guaranteed to this group a gift of not less than $1000, provided the overall goal is reached, a sum which exceeds last year's drive receipts by $200. Despite this fact, the Tuber-Association has seen fit to promote its own appeal at the cost of unnecessary overhead and administrative work. This is unfortunate.

Such an approach to our county by any organization is basically irresponsible, if not selfish. It seems to say, "We are out to get as much money from adison County as we can, and we are not interested in the success of any other drive but our own." Furthermore, this approach fails to realize the relative importance of one appeal over another. The sensitive citizen will also label such action as poor public relations.

The time has come when some of us must decide whether our higher loyalty lies within the county or with some outside organization. Our United Appeal is locally planned and administered by the wise guidance of our most able citizens. It is a way of giving designed to help us meet all of our charity and civic obligations in a manner commensurate with our resources and proportionate to a stated need. Every group has the privilege of requesting a place in our budget, and we wish each recognized agency to receive our best support.

The United Appeal has been proved by countless communities to be the finest system of responding to the many charity and civic causes that seek our help. You can do much toward establishing this plan in our own county by saying to all those agencies that would by-pass our United Appeal, "We are giving the united way." Eventually, perhaps, they too will realize that the combined drive is the best way to secure a maximum contribution to their cause.

It is indeed gratifying that the employees of amarlund Manufacturing Co., of Mars Hill, have dged more than $2,000.00 in the fair-share set-up Madison County United Appeal. Dr. Robert Sey-ir, who contacted Hammarlund, stated that 75% to employees were cooperating.

This is indeed a splendid indication of the co-tion amployees are giving United Appeal.

Dear Sir:

Thank you very much for the two issues of your local paper containing accounts of the dedication of your new post office in Marshall.

I know the post office staff is very happy to have a nice modern building to house the many activities that go on in the handling and moving of the mail, especially in an office as large as Marshall, and too, that the patrons will have pride and enjey the benefits, shows what a community spirit will do.

I have visited your town, and my wife thought it was one of the prettiest places she had ever seen, and maybe we will pay you a visit sometime in the future.
