HEARD AND SEEN By 'POP'

If it rains or snows much more the ground is going to be so soft that a person might just get "mired under" — many roads are just about impassable — one thing is for certain — the county basketball tournament is going to be very interesting — some years it's almost a foregone conclusion which teams are going to emerge the champions — but not this season — both girls' and boys' teams are evenly matched and accuracy from the foul lines may be the main factor in the tournament — wonder who the nice-looking fellow was that "Cricket" was eating dinner with the other day? — Arthur Ledford certainly looks fine — he's going back to the hospital for a spell but soon expects to be here permanently — Dr. Derthick, U. S. Commissioner of Education, is going to speak over WMMH Saturday at 12:45 p. m. — Congressman Basil Whitener is also going to be here — be sure to listen if you're concerned with secondary and college education to our national problems — we had an unusual evening service at our church (Marshall Baptist) last Sunday night — sort of a congregational participation — it was very interesting.

Mrs. Gregory Is Hostess To Book Club Monday

Mrs. Overton Gregory was hostess to the Marshall Book Club Monday evening, January 20. Mrs. Arthur Ramsey had charge of the program. She discussed current fiction and non-fiction on the National Best-seller list, then gave a most enlightening review of "The Century of the Surgeon" by Jurgen Thorwald, a factual story of great medical pioneers. A social hour followed during which refreshments were served to guests, Mrs. Lee Knight, Mrs. Eugene Bolinger, and members present: Mrs. Ted McKinney, Mrs. J. B. Tweed, Mrs. R. R. Ramsey, Mrs. Carl Stuart, Mrs. Clyde Roberts, Mrs. John Corbett, Mrs. Walter Ramsey, Mrs. Arthur Ramsey and Mrs. Paul Dinwiddie.

Scheidt Lists "Giving Pointers" On Safe Winter Driving

Raleigh — Motor Vehicles Commissioner Edward Scheidt said this week if Tar Heel motorists had a choice between "giving" and "taking" in traffic there should be a lot more of the first, especially during the cold weather months.

He had these "giving pointers" on safe winter driving: "Give to the other fellow on the highway the right of way when there's doubt at an intersection," he said. "Also give him the courtesy of lowered headlight beams when you meet him after dark.

The pedestrian, Scheidt declared, will appreciate receiving "more than casual attention, for many persons on foot depend on drivers more than they really should. Give the walker the same break you would expect if you were on foot."

"Give yourself as a driver additional time for traveling when road and weather conditions are hazardous," Scheidt emphasized. "Give yourself more space between your car and the one ahead on slippery pavement, and adjust your speed to give yourself better control of your vehicle on ice-over highways. Give yourself the benefit of increased traction afforded by good anti-skid tire chains when the going gets rough."

"Give your passengers the comfortable feeling they are riding with a driver who recognizes winter driving hazards and knows how to deal with them," the commissioner concluded.

BETWEEN US WOMEN THE FARMER'S WIFE

So we are back to the sack dress of the roaring twenties — the fashion magazines have some nice pictures of them and they are called chemise — so much more glamorous than 'sack dress,' don't you say? — inconvenient is the one word to describe them — a sudden long step and the side seams must be sewn again — a high step, such as a bus or train and we were completely hobbled — in front of the court house — once I saw this problem solved — a pull from someone inside a T-model and a hefty push from the rear, got a well dressed gal aboard — the chemise is definitely not for those with knobby knees — neither for platform sitting — they are economical of material, we must say — with the sack dresses we wore the cloche hat — if someone spoke on the street we could do one of two things: throw the hat back at right angles to see under the brim or push the hat up on the forehead till we could see — have you seen the by-pass building? — we who have sons are getting free information as to the name and make and purposes of each piece of machinery used — if we could only make English that interesting to them — most teenagers can name the make and year of each car we meet on the road — most of us older people only know the colors or approximate age — such is youth.

CITIZENS BANK REPORTS FINE YEAR IN 1957

The annual stockholders meeting of the Citizens Bank was held in the home office at Marshall on Tuesday, January 21, with a large number of the stockholders present.

The Cashier's report indicated that 1957 was one of the most successful years in the history of the bank.

The following officers were re-elected for 1958: E. R. Tweed, president; C. J. Wild, vice president; R. B. Chandler, executive vice president; Frank T. Moore, cashier; Miss Mae Fleming, assistant cashier; Carl Cody, Manager at Mars Hill and Joe Tilson, manager at Hot Springs.

C. E. Mashburn was reelected chairman of the Board and the following directors were reelected: E. R. Tweed, C. J. Wild, E. C. Teague, J. O. Corbett, S. A. Ramsey, R. B. Chandler, J. H. Sprinkle Jr., Mrs. Annie May White, Carl Cody and Dr. Hoyt Blackwell.

Stockholders and directors transferred $25,000.00 to the surplus account, making a total of $100,000.00 in capital stock, and $200,000.00 in surplus account.

Following the stockholders meeting, the directors declared a dividend of 70c per share to stockholders of record as of January 1, 1958.

It was also announced that reserves in excess of $50,000.00 would be maintained. Mr. Chandler also stated that the bank's growth indicated the steady growth of the economic picture of Madison County and that the full resources of the bank would be pledged for continued growth and prosperity of the county.

Garden Club Met Thursday With Mrs. Baker

Mrs. Leonard Baker was hostess to the Marshall Garden Club Thursday, January 16, at 2:00 p. m. Following refreshments, Mrs. S. C. Rudisill, president, presided at a business session, during which various committee reports were heard. A brief discussion of fund raising projects for the club was held. Upon completion of business, Mrs. Clyde M. Roberts, program leader for the meeting, presented the program on the theme "Wild Flower and Bird Sanctuaries, Assets to the Community."

Mrs. Roberts pointed out that individuals could do much to conserve wild flowers and bird life by becoming more familiar with each of these resources. "By learning how wild flowers are propagated and assisting Nature with their propagation by preventing slaughter of wild flowers, many species may be protected from becoming extinct. Similarly, bird life may be conserved by providing food, water and nesting materials," Mrs. Roberts stated.

Mrs. Roberts will present the complete text of this program over Radio Station WMMH Tuesday morning, January 28, at 10:15 o'clock. Nine members and two guests, Mrs. Lee J. Knight and Mrs. B. W. Gahagan, attended the meeting. The February meeting of the Garden Club will be held in the home of Mrs. J. L. McElroy, and Mrs. Bernard Brigman will be program leader.
