A 'CLEAN' STORY

Lagsport, Ind. — A burglar "cleaned" Frank Lawler while Lawler was taking a bath in his home.

Lawler told police he thought he heard someone in his apartment but didn't investigate because he was not wearing any clothes.

When he finished his bath he saw a man after and his dis-robe, and table cloth

Inez Reese Named Betty Crocker Homemaker Here

Inez Reese has been named the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow in Marshall.

She received the highest score in a written examination on home-making knowledge and attitudes taken by graduating girls in Marshall High School.

Her examination paper now will be entered in competition with those of 390 other school winners to name this State's candidate for the title of All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and will also be considered for the runnerup award in the State. For her achievement, she will receive an award pin designed by Trifari of New York.

Each State Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 scholarship and an educational trip with her school advisor to Washington, D. C., Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and New York City. A $500 scholarship will be awarded the second ranking girl in each state. The school of the state winner receives a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

A record 327,000 young women in 11,800 of the nation's public, private and parochial high schools participated in the fourth annual Betty Crocker Search sponsored by General Mills. This year's huge entry brings the four-year participation over the million mark. A total of 1,071,000 girls has enrolled in this national homemaker project since it was launched in 1955 to assist schools in education for home and family living. A total of $106,000 in scholarships will be awarded this year.

The national winner will be named April 17 at a banquet in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City. The scholarship of the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be increased to $5,000. Girls who rank second, third and fourth in the nation will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships, respectively.

Science Research Associates of Chicago prepared and scored the examination through which local, state and national Homemakers of Tomorrow are selected.

tobacco agreements. All Acreage Reserve contracts are effective for only one year.

According to the ASC Chairman there are two major changes in the 1958 tobacco Acreage Reserve program. The first one deals with the requirements that a Soil Bank base and permitted planting acreage of base crops (general crops) be established for each participating farm. The second change has to do with the 1958 acreage payment rates. The payment rate per acre on tobacco placed in reserve for 1958 will be 18c per pound times the normal farm yield with no maximum per acre rate, whereas in prior years the maximum payment rate per acre on burley tobacco has been set at $340.00. This means that it would be possible for some tobacco farmers within the County (those with a maximum normal yield) to earn as much as $441.96 per acre if they participated in the program. Mr. Hawkins said that farmers who participated in the 1957 tobacco reserve program would also be eligible for a 10 percent increase in their payment if they participated in this year's program and designated their 1957 reserve acreage as their reserve for 1958. The basic objective of the Acreage Reserve program is to reduce production and surpluses of basic crops and to stabilize farm income.

In conclusion, Mr. Hawkins urged all interested tobacco farmers to contact the ASC office at Marshall to get the full details of the program and to remember that March 7 was the last day for executing a 1958 tobacco Acreage Reserve contract.

Lions Charter Night

In charge of the program, Lion officials present included District Lion Governor William A. Hart of Weaverville, two International Commissioners, W. E. Michael Jr. of West Asheville and Roy A. Taylor, of Black Mountain; G. Henry Ramsey, of Woodfin; deputy district governor of Region 2, and W. E. Zink, of the Marshall club, Zone 4 chairman. Approximately 60 Lions Club members and their wives attended the annual affair.

Following the invocation by Mr. Wade Huey, a guest from Marshall, the group enjoyed a delicious dinner served in the private dining room of the cafeteria. Lion President Franklin then recognized the members, their wives and other guests.

Mrs. Howard Barnwell sang "I Love Thee" as a solo with Mrs. Corbett accompanying on the piano. Mr. Corbett then sang "Sylvia," and then Mr. Corbett and Mrs. Barnwell sang a duet, "Wanting You."

Cards were then handed to the various couples and a "Name The Tune" contest was held with Jim Story as pianist. Ten selections were played and prizes given the couple with the most correct names and also to the couple guessing the least number. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ramsey won top honors by naming all ten selections correctly and Mr. and Mrs. Page Brigan were awarded a prize for having the least correct selections.

Judge Hart then spoke briefly, pointing out the fine work of the Marshall Club and its part in sponsoring the Hot Springs Club. Mr. Michaels, Mr. Ramsey and Mr. Taylor also spoke briefly concerning Lionism and the success of the Marshall Club.

New Deadline

(Brought From First Page)

The office manager explained that farmers who wish to have their allotted acreage of tobacco measured off officially and staked out so as to be able to plant their full quota and no more could do so by filing a written application and the necessary deposit at the ASC office not later than Friday, Feb. 25. All premeasured acreage will be checked after the planting season and if the acreage is found to be planted in the exact manner as staked out, it will be accepted as the final planted acreage unless an obvious error is detected.

The cost for 1958 tobacco premeasurement will be the larger of $8.00 per farm OR $3.00 plus $2 per acre plus $1 for each field in excess of two fields per farm. These rates for 1958 premeasuring are somewhat higher than the 1957 rates; however, the rates for premeasurement and witnessing disposition of any excess acreage for 1958 are up in about the plies to keeping records and filing Social Security tax returns on time. Social Security benefits cannot be based on guess-work, and estimates of income generally won't do. While there is an optional reporting system which permits low-income farmers to pay Social Security taxes on % of their gross income instead of the actual net profit, the taxpayer who had not kept a current record of expenses would not be able to tell at the end of the year which method was better for him.

Alltop expressed concern that some younger farmers may not be keeping up with their tax reports. Failure to do that will make it difficult, if not impossible, for the widow and children to collect benefits, he said, in the event of the farmer's death, and benefits might not be payable at 65 because he has not been under Social Security long enough.

Alltop pointed out that although farmers have been qualifying for old-age benefits with only two years of Social Security credit, those who became 65 after March of this year will require from 3 to 10 years, depending on their age. A farmer who becomes 65 in April, 1959 will require four years under Social Security and one who becomes 65 in April 1960 will require 5 years, while those who become 65 after 1970 will require the full ten years. However, certain survivors benefits are payable if a farmer dies after having had a year and a half of credit in the three years just before his death. These requirements apply to wage-earners, too.

Alltop said that farmers who would like a free farm record book may send a postcard request to Simplified Farm Record Books, Box 1210, Chapel Hill, N. C.

same proportion. The minimum rates as set by the State ASC committee for 1958 are: premeasuring, $8.00 per farm; re-measuring, $8.00 per farm, and witnessing disposition, $5.00 per farm. In conclusion, Ramsey said that all burley producers should study the matter through carefully and govern his actions concerning premeasuring according to what he thinks will be to his financial interest.

his band. The story of her "big break" reads like a modern day fairy tale.

It all began three years ago when Miss Edwards was a junior at Clyde Erwin High School in Asheville. Tex Beneke and his band were playing in Asheville for a week playing for an automobile showing.

Miss Edwards, who has been singing since she was three years old, went backstage to meet Beneke. She told him of her interest in singing, and he had her sing a number for him. He wanted her to go on tour with him immediately, but her mother felt that Pat, who was 16, was too young.

Miss Edwards forgot the incident and went on singing for various events. During the past summer she sang at the Montewese Hotel in New Haven, Conn. She was scheduled to appear on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scout program, but three weeks before her appearance, the program moved to California and she was unable to be on it.

Back at Woman's College in the fall, Miss Edwards was invited to Duke for the "Shoe'n Slipper" weekend and learned that the Beneke band was playing for the event. During intermission Miss Edwards went up to speak to Beneke, and he not only remembered having talked to her but also remembered her name. At his request she wrote down her address for him.

As she was leaving psychology class a week before WC was to let out for Christmas holidays, Miss Edwards received a message that Tex Beneke was calling her long distance from Texas. His regular vocalist had left the band, and he asked Miss Edwards to fly down and join the band on its tour. Beneke had auditioned a number of singers for the band, but no one impressed him like the North Carolinian he had heard sing three years before.

After discussing the affair with her family, Miss Edwards flew to Texas, arriving just in time to join the band for a performance at Waco Air Force Base.

When Miss Edwards walked on the band stand at Waco, Be-

Butler explained he was eating a carton of chop suey at the wheel.

"I was hungry," he explained. He pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving and was fined $25 and costs.

neke heard her sing for the first time in three years. She had not had the time to look at any of the arrangements, but when she did there were only three songs that she knew. At each intermission, Miss Edwards picked up a piece of music, memorized it, and sang it right after intermission. The band had to give an evening performance, and in the bus on the way to the next place, Miss Edwards memorized songs for the evening performance.

Miss Edwards was with the band a month until they broke up for a two-month vacation. She was with them during Christmas, her first Christmas away from home.

Miss Edwards went back to WC on Jan. 8 to finish the semester and take her exams. She will join Beneke's band as soon as their vacation is over.
