ON THE HILL AT PACIFIC MILL

Thanksgiving is over now and just a few more weeks until Christmas. Maybe by that time we will have a lot to write about. Mr. and Mrs. George Wingate were week-end visitors with Mrs. Wingate's brother, Arthur Ramsey, and Mrs. Ramsey. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dalton visited friends in Maryville, Tenn.

LIONS CLUB TO TREAT BLIND FAMILIES AGAIN

The Marshall Lions Club will again give a Christmas Basket to families of blind people in Madison County, it was announced here this week by Earl Robinson, Lion president. The Lions Club started this worthwhile project three Christmases ago and the project was highly successful and appreciated. Officials of the club announced that four valuable prizes would be given away in front of the courthouse on Saturday, December 20, valued at over $200.00. The public is urged to help in making this Christmas a happy one for these handicapped families by seeing any member of the Marshall Lions Club and giving a donation.

HEADACHES AND YOU

A recent survey shows that medical students have more headaches than any other group of citizens in the United States. Running medical students a close second are the business executives.

Medical students, the survey showed, are found to have headaches in a percentage ratio of approximately eighty per cent. Thus, four out of five medical students suffer from recurring headaches.

Business executives run them a close second, and it is estimated that seventy-seven per cent of all business executives suffer from headaches. Total figures show that over fifty per cent of the general population have headaches.

If you have been wondering which group has the fewest headaches, it is the farmer group. Only one out of every two farmers or fifty per cent, are thought to suffer from headaches. Manual laborers do pretty well, and only fifty-five per cent of them suffer from headaches. Salesmen suffer at a ratio of about fifty-eight per cent, and sixty-eight per cent of all clerks are found to suffer from headaches.

Seventy per cent of the housewives surveyed suffer from recurring headaches and professional persons are just one point higher, seventy-one per cent of them suffering from recurring headaches.

No one need interpret these figures. It is obvious that the tension of modern life, especially for those in the tension-filled occupations, are putting a severe load on our nervous systems. These figures help explain the increasing number of heart attacks and strokes, suffered by Americans, as contrasted to lesser percentage occurrences of these attacks among the peoples of other countries of the world.

this past week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Reese Holt visited Mr. Holt's father, R. H. Holt, at Bluff Sunday.

Paul Loving and son, Paul Jr., went mountain climbing Sunday evening on Trolling Mountain. They ran upon a red fox that was more scared of them than they were of him.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Whitson took Sunday afternoon touring Greenville and East Tennessee. Mrs. Whitson works in the spinning department and we know her as Alene.

We wish to take this opportunity to welcome the new employees to our plant: Thelma Ray, Madge Burrell and Betty Jane Cook, all of Laurel. They are working in the spinning room.

Christine Bullman and Lucille Bullman visited their mother, Mrs. Elsie Bullman, at Walnut Gap over the Thanksgiving week-end. They both are students at Warren Wilson.

Mrs. Matthew Ramsey visited her daughter, Mrs. J. V. Roberts, over the week-end. Mrs. Ramsey resides in Walnut.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Franklin and daughters, Carolyn and Regina, were week-end visitors of Mrs. Franklin's mother, Mrs. Roosevelt Franklin. Carolyn, who has been taking dancing lessons, exhibited her skill while visiting by showing off some of her new tap steps.

Mrs. Sophia Franklin of Florida visited her mother-in-law, Catherine Franklin, over the week-end.

The annual Safety Dinner was held Thursday on all three shifts in the plant and was enjoyed by all employees. The menu was fried chicken or barbecue, French fried potatoes, corn bread or rolls, slaw, and pickles, and coffee or soft drinks. This Safety Dinner was prepared by Mr. S. H. Bridges of Lovers' Leap fame, and we hope this turns out to be an annual affair. Pacific Mills rewards their employees for one year without a loss-time accident by giving them a dinner.
