PEACE COMES FROM GOD
Memory Selection: "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him who brings good tidings, who publishes peace."
Lesson Text: Zechariah 7 through 14.

This lesson should help adults realize that true security is always based upon righteous living. The Book of Zechariah is divided into distinct parts. The background of one part is the hardship of conditions surrounding the rebuilding of the temple. The background of the other part is the promising of the blessing of long life for communion with God. Zechariah is a book concerned with world peace. Peace is not idle sentiment, but the supreme issue before Christians and all other members of the human race. If peace is maintained, all other programs of Christianity have a chance. If peace goes down, all the best for which we strive in the Christian Church goes down with it.

We ask ourselves what is the use of tolling for Christian's homes when five minutes of bombing can destroy more homes than can be created in a generation? Why trouble to battle against prejudices or for justice when the race is to perish through war? Why this effort in medical research to prolong human life which a few minutes of fallout can obliterate? Today we want to examine the question: How can Zechariah deals with this matter of peace and has much to say to us. His world was in an uproar. A delegation went to Zechariah, to ask if fasting would bring about peace. To this he replied that going through the forms and rituals of religion will never produce those attitudes of mind and heart which make peace possible. Only great moral convictions and obedience to the deep inner demands of the spirit can provide the foundation on which to build peace.

We, too, see armaments piled on armaments, production of submarines increased in capacity to destroy, planes being made bigger and deadlier rockets invented to seek out and destroy these planes. Confident in his might, certain of our leaders talk of "massive retaliation" and the like. Is there anything in this mad race for arms reminiscent of the method and spirit of Jesus?

Often much talk concerning peace is sentimental, wishful, and superficial. Too often there is praying of the same nature. Zechariah teaches that the only type of religion which can be effective for peace is that which produces disciplined action. Until one is willing to "do something about it," fasting and religious observances are vain. We need to pray for and ponder peace, but we must support our prayers by our deeds if peace is to come.

National and international morality is the sole foundation upon which peace can be built. What, then, are some of the conditions to be met to gain peace?

We must face world hunger. It has been estimated that two thirds of the world's population goes to bed hungry each night. It is unchristian to spend money on luxuries for ourselves while babies and children in other parts of the earth cry for food. Hungry people will always eventually fight for food. We should support our government's foreign aid program to alleviate the world's hunger. We must spend less on our extravagances and more on governmental aid and on the missionary program of the church for the hungry, if we really desire peace.

We must develop a Christian foreign policy. The United States should shift its foreign policy from national interest to world interest. We must support the United Nations. Peace is too difficult a matter to be won by any single nation alone. World peace demands a fellowship of nations, for world peace can come only through cooperative effort.

We must overcome ignorance. We must know more of what other people are thinking, and they must know more about us.

Peace exacts time and effort. The individual Christians must inconvenience himself if he wants peace.

Zechariah is ultimately an optimist. He sings of hope with joy, peace, and prosperity together with the worship of God and "children playing in the streets." There shall be no fear. If we do our part for peace, in the end it will prevail. And in the doing we shall hear again the voice which said, "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called sons of God."

Your Social Security

LUCILLE M. RICKMAN
Field Representative
Madison County

"Dependent husbands or widowers of a woman worker may be eligible for social security benefits on the basis of their wives' earnings," Mrs. Lucille M. Rickman, field representative of the Social Security Administration, stated today.

When a woman worker qualifies for social security payments, her husband may be eligible to receive benefits on her work record, if he was receiving at least 1/2 his support from her during the 12 months before she filed claim for payment.

Proof of his dependency must be filed at the time her claim is filed. If the husband is age 65 or over and his dependency is established, he can receive monthly benefits immediately. No payments can be made until he reaches 65 but proof of dependency should be filed promptly. The dependent widower of a deceased woman worker may be eligible for payments if he was receiving 1/2 his support during the year before her death. This proof must also be filed promptly. If he is age 65 or

The term 'sardine' refers to small fish of any variety, preserved in oil of some sort. The name was seemingly selected because their first use was in the island of Sardinia.

CONSTIPATED? Medical reports show how folks over 35 can establish regularity

After 35, irregularity often becomes a problem. What you need is something that aids nature and helps establish regularity. Such an aid to regularity is the daily use of SERUTAN. Here's medical evidence: A group of men and women took SERUTAN daily under medical supervision. In case after case SERUTAN, taken daily, helped establish regularity. So, for real relief from constipation after 35, try SERUTAN, powder or granular.

COMING: TRUCKS THAT DO THE NEXT BEST THING TO PAVING EVERY ROAD IN AMERICA!

Imagine a truck ride so smooth and cushioned that fragile loads can travel the worst "wash-board" roads with ease. Imagine a truck ride that virtually eliminates shimmy and wheel fight, cuts side sway on curves, makes steering far steadier and easier, keeps drivers far fresher. Imagine a truck ride that permits higher safe cruising speeds, more trips per day with all kinds of cargo over every type of road surface. Imagine a ride that keeps up to 78% of all objectionable road shock and vibration from ever reaching the driver and cargo, a design that sharply reduces twisting and fatigue forces on chassis, cabs and bodies, that keeps trucks young for extra thousands of miles. / Soon you won't have to just imagine such a ride. You can try it for yourself in the trucks that do the next best thing to paving every road in America—new Chevrolet trucks for 1960. You'll see what happens when Chevy's truck engineers design a whole new line of trucks around a whole new kind of torsion-spring suspension. These trucks are new from the ride on up—with wonderfully roomier cabs, brunnier frames, style that's fresh as sixty and more! Don't decide on any new truck till you see the newest of all.
