Corbetts To Attend NC Auto Dealers Meeting Friday

Raleigh, Nov. 9 — John O. Corbett, Service Motor Sales, Inc., Marshall, will be among the honored guests of the North Carolina Automobile Dealers Association at a dinner to be given at the Sir Walter Hotel on Friday, November 13, President Odell Sapp has announced.

As an Area Chairman for the Association, Corbett will be recognized, with other outstanding automotive dealers across the state, for his efforts during the recent membership campaign. The nearly 100 Area Chairmen serve as liaison between the Association and its members during the year.

Mrs. Corbett will accompany her husband to the dinner celebration in Raleigh.

The special Area Chairmen Program will follow the day-long 3rd Annual Working Conference. Several hundred member-dealers are expected to attend the seminar-workshop which will have as its theme "Changing Methods With Changing Times." Outstanding speakers will discuss and advise on problems faced by automotive dealers in an industrial growing state. The NCADA Working Conference will have as its moderator, Thomas A. Williams Sr., a Greensboro dealer and former State Association president.

The Automotive Dealers Association's officers for 1959-60 are: President, Odell Sapp of Salisbury; vice president, C. W. Wickham of Tarboro; secretary, Frank E. Woods, Charlotte; treasurer, J. Wesley Morton, New Bern and executive secretary, Mrs. Bessie B. Ballantine.

ROUGH WEEK FOR BABIES

Syracuse, N. Y. — It was a rough week for children in Syracuse recently, when police received reports of the theft of 20 diapers, a coaster wagon, and a baby's stroller.

HEARD AND SEEN

By "POP"

The football season is over and Marshall finished with a 3-5-2 record — they scored a total of 73 points while allowing the opponents 145 points — the Tornadoes defeated Walnut, Cane River and East Yancey; were defeated by Spruce Pine, NCSO, Hot Springs, Clyde and Drexel; tied with Edneyville and Mars Hill — the record isn't what you would call successful — nevertheless, to me, the 1959 edition of the Tornadoes will go down in my memory as a determined, hard-playing, rugged bunch of boys who excelled in teamwork.

Coach Barnwell was faced with a light and small squad — the schedule was a rugged one — I saw some great plays, both offensively and defensively — I never saw the boys 'quit' under fire nor did I notice any 'loafing' — the Tornadoes are to be commended for playing the fine brand of ball they exhibited throughout the season — after being accustomed to Conference Playoff caliber teams in the past few years, some may look on the 1959 season as "poor" — I disagree — I think it is a fine season and I'm proud of every player who donned a uniform and gave his best — the won and lost record is important, to be sure — but to me its not the criterion — in closing the curtain on the 1959 season, I want to congratulate Coaches Barnwell and Johnson and the entire Tornado squad on a fine season — speaking of football, the LSU-Tenn. game Saturday was the best I've ever seen — Bill and I sat with Jimmy and Gertrude Johnson in the end zone — and believe it or not, it was the best seat in the stadium — practically the entire game was played down our end of the field — LSU's Billy Cannon is truly "everybody's" All-American — Tennessee got two breaks, cashed in on both, held Cannon just short of the two-pointer and were carried off the field victorious in the nation's best game — I'll never forget that one — I'm sorry that I was unable to attend the Walnut football banquet Tuesday night — had another meeting I just HAD to go to — (I was program chairman) — thanks for the invitation, anyway — I hope I can go next year — glad to see Jimmy Spinkle able to be back at work — maybe by next Thursday the new street lights will be up — they're really going to improve the appearance of Marshall — congratulations to the Madison Seminary for maintaining a successful BTU year in and year out — I hear they sometimes have more than 100 attend — not just children, either — adults take a lot of interest — proof: 25 adults attended last Sunday night — keep up the good work, Doyle.
