Tobacco

 their clean flyings, sand lugs, with this ground injured tobacco and, thus, had this tobacco marked nondescript which carried a lower price than if it had been sold separately. This mixture in general on Monday's market was getting the farmer approximately 8c per pound on his good flyings. Tobacco farmers who have not completed stripping and sorting their tobacco should be very careful in catching the tobacco in proper case before it is packed in the baskets in order that it will not be marked "wet." They should also try to keep the particularly damaged tobacco separated from their solid tobacco. Graders and buyers are pulling more tobacco to check the condition of the baskets than at practically any time in recent years. If the grader or buyer pulls tobacco from the basket and finds that the hands of tobacco he pulls are similar to the tobacco on top of the basket, they do not pull additional hands looking for injury or wet tobacco. It is, therefore, important to the farmer to have the tobacco prepared in such manner as to discourage excessive checking by the grader and the buyers.

 70.3 per cent of the net return producers received on the open market. Last year's incentive payment rate on the sale of unshorn lambs to compensate for the wool sold with lambs amounted to $1.02 per hundredweight of live animals sold.
 In conclusion, Ramsey said that it would definitely be to all wool producers' interest to file their documents of wool sales this year since the incentive payments are of more help to the farmer during poor marketing years and this seems to be another such year.

 services to their community. The Junior activities are a supplement to the school program. Guiding the students in their projects is Miss Eileen Mills, Director of Junior Red Cross for the Buncombe Madison Chapter. Teacher sponsors selected by the principals work directly with the students. Teacher sponsors for the Madison County schools are as follows: Hot Springs Elementary, Mrs. Esther Brooks and Mrs. Imogene Gorenflo; Hot Springs High, Mr. Roy Reeves; Mars Hill school, Mrs. Edsel Buckner; Walnut school, Mrs. Lucile Burnette; Marshall School, Mr. Jim Johnson; Spring Creek, Mr. Owen Fish.
 Among the Junior Red Cross activities are; the gift box program, in which schools prepare and send overseas small, colorful boxes filled with articles ranging from toys to health items; the school chest program through which needed school and health supplies are sent by American High School students to young people in other lands whose school system have been upset by disasters; the school art program, correspondence program, promotion of first aid and water safety, disaster, homemaking and many others.
 Each year outstanding Juniors are selected to attend Junior Red Cross training centers held around the nation. These provide special leadership training for young people and increase their knowledge of Red Cross.
