LEARN TO SWIM

Through the fine program of the American Red Cross, plus the interest and enthusiasm of several local mothers, swimming lessons are to be given absolutely free at the Marshall Swimming Pool. Ronnie Hensley, who is now life guard at the pool, recently completed the life saver's course at the National Red Cross Aquatic School at Camp Carolina in Brevard. This course was made possible through the Buncombe-Madison Red Cross Chapter.

Charles Bradley, of Asheville, Water Safety Program Director of our chapter, will assist Hensley in the water safety program.

Several Marshall mothers met with Mr. Bradley and Mrs. Stanley Atkins, instructor, Tuesday of this week and made plans to take courses and otherwise aid in the water safety program.

All this work and these efforts are voluntary and should be highly appreciated by everyone. The opportunity to learn to swim is available to EVERYONE in Madison County. Someone asked the other day if this program only applied to MARSHALL girls and boys. The answer is NO. It is for boys and girls, men and women from ALL sections of the county.

If you do not know how to swim, we urge you to take advantage of this opportunity. Everyone should know how to swim. It could easily be the means of saving someone's life as well as your own.

Contact Ronnie Hensley or Rex Cohn for more information about the lessons NOW.

LET'S KEEP 4th SAFE

Monday, July 4th — Independence Day — is usually referred to as a "Glorious 4th" — let's keep it that way.

One careless driver, one stupid pedestrian, one "show-off," one "harmless" drink, could make the "Glorious 4th" a very sad and costly day never to be forgotten.

Remember, the highways will be jammed with cars, the swimming pools crowded with swimmers, and everybody impatient to get where they're going and hurrying to return to their homes. Many will celebrate with fireworks. In any event, we urge you to use good, sane judgment, not only on Monday, but throughout the long 4th of July week-end.

State Patrolmen are urging drivers to be cautious. This means YOU — not necessarily the OTHER GUY.

Don't be a "show-off" at the swimming pool. Take your time wherever you go. Leave early enough to drive slowly and safely.

Let's keep the 4th a safe occasion.

"He (Jesus) poured water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded" — well, I'm back, and glad to be back — I was supposed to be back last Thursday, but I got home Tuesday night, and then figured I was at least 30 minutes late returning — you can have my part of Florida, especially at this time of the year — if you farmers experience a dry spell and want it to rain, just nickel up enough to pay my wages and let me have another vacation, and I'm sure you'll get the desired rain — it never fails to have the creeks all muddy and high when I take a vacation — Shrimp had the favorable comments of the entire congregation after his leadership of the mid-week prayer service last night — good, boy; hope you set the crowd to thinking around Oak Hill — few things are more pathetic than the sight of one who has become so busy with the Lord's work that he has neglected the Lord Himself — when you have nothing left but God, then for the first time you become aware that God is enough — the man who masters a hard life accomplishes more than the one who is mastered by an easy one — I hope to spend the Fourth with my family fishing — but let's everyone drive carefully and save lives — Viola was afraid of the turtles I brought Ia and Ovella from Florida — until she found out they were not alive — he that stings eth mud surely loatheth ground — Fain will be gone on his vacation next week — hope he has better luck fishing than I did on mine — if happiness could be bought, we would be unhappy about the price — it's a pity that some folks never learn that uncovering the other fellow's faults will never cover up their own — faith is not believing that God can; it is believing that HE WILL — well, I gotta go, but remember: LOVE that makes mothers great, rescues many a person from grime.

The Marshall Scouts won several honors at the camp, including the Water Meet. The local Apache Patrol, consisting of James Lister, Herbert Ponder, Ted Roberts, Weldon Ramsey, Tommy Nix, Kermit Cody Jr., Keith Robinson and Rayburn Reeves, won top honors in the water meet. Ronnie Shelton won the pre-swimming award, scoring more than 20 points out of a possible 25. Tommy Nix won the 100-yard free style swimming event in the water meet.
