BOOKS YOU READ

A casual glance at the shelves in any bookstore, or a glance at the titles of the paperback books in any drugstore, or elsewhere, will reveal a steady fare of fictional trash.

We do not wish to insinuate that the reading of fiction is a complete waste of time; on the contrary, much fiction is educational, and it certainly provides an escape for those who are seeking relaxation or a break from the daily grind, tension, etc.

Nevertheless, there is a lamentable dearth of non-fiction reading in the book field, both in the hardbacks and paperbacks, when it comes to true adventure, inspirational and romantic books.

There is no reason why a true story cannot be as exciting, as unbelievable, and even as romantic and inspirational, as fictional one. In the United States, however, comparatively few readers take the time to look for books containing true stories, which usually are more educational and are quite often just as exciting or interesting as fiction.

In the paperback field, most of the publishers spend little time and effort with stories of great adventures during the war, which are not fiction, great personal stories of inspiration and leadership, which are not fiction, and other exciting adventure accounts — which are true, and which are equally as thrilling as the stories

Wheat Support

be $1.97 per bushel for Grade No. 1 wheat.

Loans on wheat will be available through county ASC offices from harvest time through January 31, 1961. Loans will mature on February 28, 1961. In addition to price support loans which will be made at the support rate on farm-stored or warehouse-stored grain, farmers may enter into purchase agreements with the Government as in previous years.

According to Hawkins the announced support rate is based on a 75 per cent of parity support level. The variable range of support permitted under the law is from 75 to 90 per cent of parity. The level to be used is determined on the basis of the indicated supply and demand situation. The total supply of wheat available for the 1960-61 marketing year is now estimated to be 192 per cent of normal. Under the law a wheat supply percentage above the 120 per cent calls for the minimum 75 per cent level of support.

The rate announced for this state of $1.97 per bushel compared with a national average support rate of $1.78 per bushel. Support on wheat in this state last year was set at $2.00 per bushel.

Hawkins cautioned farmers that in order to be eligible for price support on their 1960 wheat crop they must be in compliance with the 1960 wheat acreage allotment for the farm and they must be eligible to receive a wheat marketing card on all other farms in which they have an interest.

Silage Proves

from Madison County to the State Department of Agriculture showed 60% of all corn silage samples analyzed excellent and the remaining 40% were analyzed as good. Comparative results with hay samples showed 40% good and 60% fair.

There has been built or is currently under construction enough new silos in Madison County to hold 1200 additional tons of silage in 1960. These silos have been built or will be built this year by the following farmers: Joe Brown of the Paint Fork community; Ernest Snelson of Antioch; Jack Boone of Hayes Run; Hall Bruce of East Fork; Lon Sluder of Little Pine; Dewey Foster of Sleepy Valley; Jack Caldwell of Bluff; B. K. Meadows and Tom Meadows of Spring Creek; Mrs. R. R. Ramsey of Walnut and Gerald Burt Roberts of Barnard. For some of the above mentioned farmers this will be their first experience with silage; for the remainder it is an expansion of their silage program.

Commercial concerns and the county agricultural agents have thought up in the imagination of a fictional writer.

Our reading habits in America have been sullied by an over-emphasis on cheap trash and sex, the sooner we can concentrate on worthwhile subjects, which can be just as exciting and thrilling as the cheap thrill in sexual fiction, the better it would be for the country as a whole.

polling place and that the polls should open at 8 a. m., and close at 9 p. m. All eligible voters within the county are urged to visit the polls on the day of the referendum and cast their ballots.

Two-thirds of those who vote must approve quotas before they can be put in effect. The current wheat program, which was voted on a year ago, was approved by 98 per cent of the North Carolina voters.

If quotas are approved, there will be marketing penalties on any "excess" wheat — produced outside the acreage allotment — and the full level of price support authorized for 1961 will be available for those who comply with their allotments. If quotas are not approved, there will be no quotas or marketing penalties, and price support for those who stay within their allotments will drop to 50 per cent of parity.

some 107 buildings subject to flooding. The buildings are commercial establishments of every variety, the Court House, jail railway station, 8 churches, and 20 dwellings. Most of the residential section is on high ground, well above flood danger. The 3 buildings of the Marshall School are located on Blannhasset Island, housing both the elementary and high school grades. A fourth building is being contemplated to meet the growing needs of the school.

The business section of the town is along Main Street, which parallels the river and is the only through street. Short cross streets connect Main Street to the two bridges across the River. The tracks of the Southern Railroad are near the water's edge and are protected from moderate floods by a heavy masonry wall extending the full length of the business district.

The greatest flood on the river in the past 170 years occurred in July, 1916, and covered the entire flood plain. On Main Street, water was 6 to 8 feet deep and 18 to 18 over Blannhasset Island. Other great floods reaching within 3 to 4 feet of the 1916 crest occurred in 1876, 1902, and 1940. Flood damages that would result from recurrences of these floods would be great under present conditions. The deep overflow, coupled with high velocities, would cause damage to the buildings and their contents.

The report covers three significant phases of the Marshall flood problem. The first brings together a record of the largest known floods of the past on the French Broad River. The second treats of the Regional Flood. This is derived from a study of floods and storms in the nearby geographical region, generally within 100 miles of Marshall. The third phase develops the Maximum Probable Flood. Floods of this magnitude on most streams are considerably larger than any that have occurred in the past. They are the floods of infrequent occurrence which are considered in planning protective works such as dams or levees, the failure of which might be disastrous.

It was emphasized at the meeting that extremely hazardous conditions may be expected during a recurrence of the 1916 flood or a Maximum Probable Flood. The entire floor plain area of the river would be inundated, the downtown area of the city would be flooded, the Southern Railroad would be under water, the upper bridge across the river would be submerged, and the lower bridge, rebuilt in 1953, would have water almost to the floor. Coupled with such deep flooding would be swift velocities throughout the flood plains which would undoubtedly sweep away buildings and endanger life.

There was no immediate action taken on the report, but City Attorney Charles E. Mashburn, Chairman of the Planning Commission, said it would be of great assistance in any future planning. The meeting was held at 3:00 p. m., in the REA Building.

Among those present were:

Col. Harry E. Brown, Director, N. C. Dept. of Water Resources; John Hampton, Director, Western N. C. Regional Planning Commission; James E. Goddard, Local Flood Relations Branch, TVA; Joseph E. Enloe, Hydraulic Data Branch, TVA; Marvin S. Shadel, Local Flood Relations Branch, TVA; City Attorney Charles E. Mashburn; Wayne Brigman, Madison County Commissioner; James I. Story, Pres., Chamber of Commerce; J. J. Ramsey, Bank of French Broad; Frank T. Moore, Citizens Bank; D. M. Robinson, REA; Delmar Payne, Pres., Lions Club; W. F. Holland, Pres., Merchants Association; J. H. Sprinkle Jr., Merchant; E. C. Teague, Merchant; and about 20 other business and professional men and women of Marshall.
