

Mars Hill College To Officially Begin Monday

Freshmen May Stay For 4 Years; Pre-School Sessions Today

Pre-school meetings preparatory to the opening of the 106th year of Mars Hill College next Monday are scheduled to begin today, Sept. 8.

A workshop for the faculty and administrative staff will begin tonight and end Saturday with the annual picnic. During the same period the second-year leaders of the BSU and the house government organizations will hold a retreat to complete plans for the new term.

Keynote address of the faculty workshop, which will center on the theme "The Dimensions of Christian Education," will be given by Dr. Carlyle Marney, pastor of the Myers Park Baptist Church and a trustee of the college.

Workshop discussions will be led by President Hoyt Blackwell, Dean R. M. Lee and members of the faculty. Topics for discussion include inter-faculty relations, professional competence, faculty-student relations, organizations, morals, and college regulations.

The fall semester will officially begin Monday with freshman orientation. Registration will continue through Thursday and classes will begin at 8 a. m., Friday, Sept. 15, for 55 instructors and approximately 1,050 students.

For the first time since the high school division of the college was abolished in the late 1930's, freshmen face the possibility of a four-year stay at Mars Hill. Plans are being made to convert the school into a senior college, and the 1962-63 term has been set as the tentative date for adding the third year. This year's freshmen would be juniors by that time and could continue their studies, getting their degrees at the end of the 1963-64 school year.

The plaintiff told Sheriff Ponder that she was visiting a sister of the defendant when the attack occurred. The girl stated that the two were alone in the room at the time of the alleged crime.

ROLAND PEEK IS INJURED IN AFFRAY ON SAT.

Buncombe County Man, Out On $1,000 Bond, Is Also Injured

Roland Peek, 56, who lives near the Madison-Buncombe County line, was admitted to Memorial Mission Hospital Saturday night suffering from a 22 cal. rifle wound in the calf of his left leg.

Peek's assailant, identified as H. B. Flynn, 70, of Weaverville RFD 3, was arrested following the altercation Saturday near Petersburg in this county.

Flynn, charged with assault with deadly weapon with intent to kill, is now out on $1,000 bond, Sheriff Ponder said.

Sheriff Ponder said the affray occurred on Peek's farm near Petersburg. Flynn, he said, had a road to his farm running through Peek's farm, and apparently the altercation started over the road.

Peek is also employed by the State Highway Department in addition to his farming.

Sheriff Ponder said that Flynn, who was working on the road at the time of the argument, was also injured, receiving lacerations on his head. He was taken to a local doctor by Sheriff Ponder.

Both men are reported greatly improved with Flynn able to be back at work.

Ponder said a preliminary hearing in the case would probably be heard September 17 before J. Hubert Davis, justice of the peace, at the City Hall in Marshall.

STOLEN GOODS FOUND IN HOME OF PATROLMAN

Stockville Men At Large Patrolman Is Innocent

State Patrolman A. L. Feldman, trying to be considerate, carried a portable radio and an electric sewing machine to his home late Saturday night after he investigated an accident near Blood River, in the Hot Springs area.

It was reported that about midnight Saturday, a 1950 Dodge car driven by Berl Anderson, of Stockville, who was accompanied by his son, Junior Anderson, had wrecked near Hot Springs, resulting in injuries to both men. They were taken to an Asheville hospital for observation.

Patrolman Feldman, who investigated the accident, found the radio and sewing machine in the wrecked car and thinking they belonged to the Andersons, took them to his home for safe keeping.

In the meantime, Mrs. Leo Baldwin, of the Rollins community of Marshall, reported that her home had been entered and that her radio and sewing machine had been stolen.

Sheriff Ponder, putting the two incidents together, went to Patrolman Feldman's home and found that the stolen merchandise was that found in the wrecked car.

Sheriff Ponder said that the two men had not been seen since leaving the hospital but that he was searching for them.

MARS HILL MEN INJURED TUES. IN CAR WRECK

Three persons were injured two of them seriously, in a two-car collision about 7:45 p. m. Tuesday on U. S. 19-23 just north of Asheville when one vehicle was struck by another as it was turning into a private driveway, Trooper L. O. Wright of the State Highway Patrol reported.

Tommy Ledford, 21, and Jobie Reese, 22, both of Mars Hill, were admitted to Memorial Mission Hospital. Ledford was reported in fair condition this morning. He suffered a head injury in the wreck. Reese, who was unconscious when he was brought to the hospital about 8:15 p. m., was reported in poor condition Wednesday.

The car occupied by Ledford and Reese struck an automobile operated by Mrs. Robena Stewart, 39, of Jonestown road, Woodfin, as she was attempting to make a left turn off the highway, Wright reported. She was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital about 8:15 for a fracture of the right arm.

Lone Bull Bellows At Low Bid Of $150

At a recent sale of fine blooded dairy cows at North Carolina State Fair Arena, the cows were selling well. Bidding was spirited and prices were good, jumping quickly from $300 and $400 starting prices to $600 and $700.

The one lone bull to be offered during the day came to the block. A junior yearling calf, he looked pitifully small, even scrawny as compared to the big milk-producing females which had preceded him.

The sales chairman extolled his pedigree, the owner bragged on his percentage, qualities and his future. The auctioneer called accordingly for bids. Finally there was a single bid: "$150!"

Almost as if he understood, the calf uttered a long low, bewilderment to protest. The auctioneer looked to the promoting calf: "No, that's all I'm doing the best I can for you!"

MILLSAPS IS ORDAINED TO MINISTRY

On Saturday evening, August 20, council was called for the purpose of examining Roland Millsaps, a Mars Hill College student, who had recently been called to the pastorate of the Trinity Baptist Church, French Broad Association.

The council, composed of W. B. Sprinkle, E. F. Baker, L. A. Rich, Jeter Sherlin, W. J. Edwards, David B. Roberts and Ray Hooper, was formally organized. David B. Roberts was made moderator and Ray Hooper was elected clerk. The council asked David B. Roberts to direct the examination.

Mr. Millsaps was questioned relative to his conversion, call to the ministry, doctrine, and his denominational loyalty and support. He gave an unusually good account of himself. Whereupon the council immediately recommended to the Trinity Baptist Church, where he is both member and pastor, that he be set aside to the full Gospel ministry. The church unanimously accepted the recommendation, and instructed the council to proceed with the ordination.

Virginia Blue, Companion, Crash Tuesday in Pennsylvania

A single-engine plane crashed on a college football field in Chester, Pa., Tuesday, narrowly missing 16 players who had just turned out for practice.

Before the plane hit, nose down, a section of the door fell at the feet of a player who was running for a forward pass.

Two burned and disfigured bodies — those of a man and a young woman — were removed from the four seater plane (Piper Tri-Pacer).

The coroner's office said that charred papers indicated the victims were Virginia Blue, about 20, of Watertown, Mass., and formerly of Walnut, and the owner, Carl Maico, 36, Atlanta, Ga. In Atlanta, however, it was reported that the owner was alive and that he believed the man aboard the plane was his brother, Rudolph, whose age also was given as 36, of Boston. The Atlanta man said his brother was a veteran of about 3,000 flying hours. He said he had no details of the flight.

Miss Blue was the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. George Robertson Blue, formerly of Walnut. Mr. Blue was pastor of the Walnut, White Rock and Hot Springs Presbyterian churches. Miss Blue was well-known in this section, having visited in the county many times.

"We were having a catch and talking," said Al Filoreto, a 20-year-old sophomore quarterback at Pennsylvania Military College. "I heard this pattering sound and I looked up. A plane was circling the field. It circled once and pieces seemed to come off. Then the right wing folded. It banged against the side of the plane which went into a spin.

"It came straight down and crashed without bouncing. The plane folded like an accordion," he said. Filoreto continued: "I could see a body in the wreckage, and the radiator had come down near the charging sled the linemen practice on."

Bruce Kunkle, 19, was running toward the baseball diamond when he heard the plane and looked up. "It appeared to be coming right at me," he said. "I started running in the opposite direction, back toward the other fellows, but (Continued To Last Page)

Marshall Meets Tryon Friday Night On Island

First Conference Game; A Large Crowd Is Expected

The Marshall High School Red Tornadoes will meet the Tryon eleven on the Island Friday night at eight o'clock.

This will mark the second game of the season for Coach Ed Morton's charges and the first conference game.

Coach Morton's team, idle last week, has been practicing overtime this week getting prepared for the strong Tryon team.

Defeated 7-6 by Harris High on August 26, the Tornadoes however were impressive, especially defensively. Coach Morton, although disappointed in losing the first game, was satisfied with several of the players and the team, as a whole.

"The mistakes made in the first game should help us in future games. The boys are showing great spirit and we hope to get into the win column come Friday night," Morton said.

A large crowd is expected to be on hand for the kickoff.

In a unusual, cautious driver — don't break the family circle.

Attention Local Merchants

Plans are now underway for the biggest promotion in the history of Marshall. The event will be sponsored by the Marshall Merchants Association and will begin possibly this month and continue through December 24. The event will be similar to last year's except it will be conducted for a longer period and have more valuable prizes. Complete plans will be announced in the near future.

Robert Chandler and S. C. Rudisill are contacting merchants who wish to participate and the response has been splendid. However, it is possible that some merchants who wish to be included in the plans may not be seen. Mr. Chandler and Mr. Rudisill urge any merchants who haven't been contacted to notify them before Saturday, September 10, as this is the "deadline" for accepting participants in the "Trade In Marshall" campaign.

"Last year's promotion was the most successful in Marshall's history and we are looking forward to an even better promotion this year," officials of the association stated.

Brady Paces Mars Hill Over Hot Springs, 20-7

LIONS BEGIN FALL FOOTBALL PRACTICE TODAY

The Mars Hill College Lions will begin fall football practice today (Thursday) with approximately 60 candidates expected for the opening workout.

Coach Dan Henderson said the team would workout twice daily until registration begins next Wednesday, then taper off to one-a-day drills. The opening tilt of a nine-game schedule is slated at Mars Hill September 17 against the Lees-McInnes Bobcats, a Western Carolina Junior College Conference rival.

Henderson will have eight lettermen and three other squadmen from last year's squad including all-conference and Ford Parker, a former Lee Edwards star, and all-conference halfback Wesley Windle, an elusive runner from Lenoir, Tenn.

Among the promising freshmen who have been added to the squad are: ...
