AVOIDING AND CURING COLDS

We would not discourage those who think they have discovered a cure for the common cold, but so far as science is concerned, there is not yet any vaccine or serum that will prevent an individual from, at some time or other, "catching cold."

About the best defense for the individual, anxious to prevent colds, is to avoid those who have a cold, dress warmly and avoid becoming chilled or wet, eat properly, get enough fresh air, exercise and rest.

Of course, the above rules constitute sound advice, whether one wants to dodge a cold or not. They represent common-sense applied to the job of living well. The advice will tend to prevent one from getting sicknesses of any kind. About all that it will not help prevent is an accident, or the unexpected visit of an unwelcome relative.

The average person is apt to overlook the possible serious consequence of the ordinary cold. If taken in hand, a slight cold may not be dangerous, but, if neglected, it can develop into a more se-

CARD OF THANKS

To our many loyal friends, relatives and neighbors who stood by us during the illness and following the death of our husband and father, we would like to express our sincere and heartfelt gratitude. Also our thanks for the many and beautiful floral tributes. Your sympathy and condolences will never be forgotten.

nous malady. The experts suggest, if you get a cold:

- 1. Don't hesitate to take plenty of rest, and, if at all possible, stay in bed.
2. Eat rather lightly and drink plenty of fluids.
3. Avoid mingling in crowds and, as nearly as possible, stay in an even temperature. By keeping away from others, you also protect them from your cold.
4. If the cold continues and you develop fever, call your doctor. There may be some other cause for the fever.

Real Test—

Young men graduate from college with two degrees — and the world is waiting to give them the third.

If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. (II Corinthians 5:17.)

Fred was a student in high school. One day, unnoticed, he cheated in his chemistry test. A few days later he attended a religious meeting where he made a decision for Christ.

As he thought of his old life, he decided to correct what could be corrected in it. He soon remembered his cheating. He went to meet his teacher and said, "I deserve a zero in my chemistry test because I cheated."

The teacher was astonished, but Fred explained that he had given his life to Christ.

"I will give you a zero," he teacher answered, "but it will be a noble zero."

Fred's decision was a blessing to his teacher as well as to his fellow students, for many of them came to know Christ as their personal saviour.

PRAYER: Help me, O God, to show my faith in what I do wherever this may be. I gladly surrender all that I have unto Thy hands that my faith may manifest itself for Thy glory. In the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father, who art in heaven... Amen."

Thought For The Day: Today I will do only what manifests my faith.

Way Of Life—

There are few dark and gloomy days ahead for the folks who have learned to spread sunshine.

The Citizens' Committee For A Better Madison County Proposes:

A five man County Board of Education with equal geographical representation from the various school districts.

That Madison County school teachers to be selected on their merits.

To restore Walnut School and to give it the support from the County Board of Education to which it is justly entitled.

To abolish the Tax Equalization Board and return the power of taxation to the County Commissioners.

To fight for representation county-wide and the powers of local government not be confined to a few individuals.

To fight for clean elections in Madison County so that all voters, regardless of their political affiliation, will be assured that their votes will be counted as cast.

To endorse Fred Holcombe as a Democratic write-in candidate from Madison County in the State Legislature to accomplish these objectives.
