

Septic Tank Permits Are Now Required

Ordinance Is To Become Effective On Friday, August 11

John Hutchins, Madison County Sanitarian, announced this week that an Ordinance has been adopted by the Madison County Board of Health requiring a permit for construction of septic tanks within this county. The Ordinance becomes effective on August 11, 1961.

The Ordinance reads, in part, that every person, firm or corporation building a septic tank, or any property owner on whose property a septic tank is proposed to be built, shall first procure from the Health Officer a permit, prior to commencing such construction.

Plans and specifications for such proposed septic tanks shall be submitted to the Health Officer for approval before such permit shall be granted.

Inspection of all septic tanks are required before covering after completion.

It was explained that the minimum capacity of a septic tank is 800 gallons.

Violation of this Ordinance shall be classed as a misdemeanor and guilty persons shall be fined not more than $50 or imprisoned not more than 30 days.

A complete notice of the Ordinance is published on Page Seven of this issue.

N. C. Has Smallest Average Size Farm In United States

Figures now in from the 1959 Census of Agriculture show that North Carolina farms are now increasing in size for the first time since the Civil War.

The average Tar Heel farm in 1959 had 83.4 acres, or about 15 more acres than in 1954. During the five-year period from 1950-54, North Carolina farms averaged gaining only one acre.

While the trend is now the same, the increase in size of North Carolina farms is far below the average for the United States.

In 1954, the average U. S. farm had 242 acres. By 1959, it had increased to 302 acres.

North Carolina farms are still the smallest in the Nation by a considerable margin.

TWO MINUTES WITH THE BIBLE

BY CONSIDERED BY MANY THE GREAT REVEALATION OF JESUS CHRIST

THE REVEALATION OF JESUS CHRIST

The last great book of the Bible opens with the words: "The Revelation of Jesus Christ," and from the words it derives its title: "The Revelation." In this book St. John deals largely with the return of Christ in glory to judge and reign.

II Thes. 1:7, 8 tells us that one day "The Lord shall be revealed from heaven . . . in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ." This is what the book of the Revelation deals with.

But this phraseology is also used in Paul's epistles, for in Gal. 1: 11, 12 he says: "I certify you, brethren that the gospel which was preached of (by) me is not after man, for I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the Revelation of Jesus Christ."

Surely this is not the same "revelation of Jesus Christ" of which John wrote. St. Paul refers not to "the revelation of Jesus Christ" in glory, but to "the revelation of Jesus Christ" in grace while He delays the judgment, not His revelation to the word in person, but His revelation to and through Paul the chief of sinners, saved by grace.

In verses 15, 16 of Gal. 1, the apostle says: ". . . it pleased God . . . to reveal His Son in me." What a revelation of grace to a sin-cursed world when God saved Saul, His blaspheming enemy! He tells about it in I Tim. 1:16-18, where he says: "(I) was a blasphemer, and a persecutor, and injurious. . . . Howbeit, for this cause I obtained mercy, that in me Jesus Christ might show forth all longsuffering, for a pattern to them which should hereafter believe on Him to life everlasting."

This is why Paul says: ". . . Son in me." By saving the chief of sinners (as Paul calls himself in I Tim. 1:15) God would show us that He is willing to save ANY sinner, "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Rom. 10:13).
