PARKING PROBLEMS HERE

GUEST EDITORIAL

—By—

WADE HUEY, Mayor of Marshall

For a long time the business owners and business managers in Marshall have realized that the lack of customer parking facilities in the Town of Marshall was hurting their business. They placed the blame for this on the Town Officials for failing to enforce traffic and parking regulations and that many of the employees, owners, and officials were parking on Main Street and elsewhere all day long, thereby taking up all the available parking space that our fine and faithful customers should have.

There are 160 commuting automobiles that belong to owners, employees, and officials which come to Marshall every day. There are only 98 parking meters in the town. Therefore, if two-thirds of the 160 were allowed to park on the street there would be no room left for the trading public. I would like to state this fact — that a good number of the 160 commuting people were kind, unselfish, and considerate of others in that they would not take advantage of the trading public, and they found parking space elsewhere. Also, the County Commissioners purchased a lot for all of their employees for which we are grateful. But even with these two facts, a large number of the 160 were still taking the street where the trading public should have had the opportunity when they came to Marshall. This parking problem became so serious that two of our business men carried a petition to the business firms in Marshall and it was signed by owners and managers almost 100%. The petition, in part, and I quote: "The undersigned respectfully and urgently petition the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the Town of Marshall to begin immediately the enforcement of parking regulations in the Town of Marshall. Realizing that the undersigned business and professional people and residents must bear a portion of the responsibility, we pledge as follows:

To fully cooperate and to require our employees to secure off-street parking so as to leave street meter parking available for customer parking."

This petition or agreement FAILED. Many promises were not kept. Who failed? Many of the business owners, managers, and employees. I have checked the street many times and found almost 100 of these commuting vehicles parking on the street where our faithful customers should have had the privilege of parking. One business almost daily without exception would have at least 5 cars on the meters without paying. Customers were coming and saying to the Town Officials "we drove from one end of this town to the other and cannot find a place to park. How do you expect us to trade?"

These pleas from our friends would cut deep into our feelings and conscience. So on Tuesday night, February 6, 1962, a Mass Meeting was called by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the Town of Marshall to discuss the parking and traffic problems in Marshall. Every business in Marshall received a personal notice to be present. If they were not present it was their own fault and now they should not be complaining as some are.

The facts were presented to the fine group present. A thorough discussion was made on each item presented — all present were in agreement and of one accord. Let me say from the depth of my heart that every thing agreed upon was for the protection, benefit, goodwill, and respect for all the trading public in Marshall. We are trying to take care of you. We welcome you to Marshall; we want to help you when you come. We want you to have parking space when shopping in Marshall so it will not be necessary to drive all over town trying to find a place to park or to carry your merchandise which you have purchased a long distance. If you drive the length of the time you are trying to find a place to park, you have spent more than the nickel parking. Many of you have told me that they had much rather put up with the parking meter than to drive all over

A Lino Operator's Musings

By COLMAN CALDWELL

There is one body, and one Spirit, . . . one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all — it feels good and is refreshing for a change to be able to sit and hear the pastor at another church preach — that is what we did Sunday when we visited Casey Fork Baptist Church — we enjoyed a wonderful fellowship in Sunday School and especially in the Sunday School class — not only with T. R., the teacher, but by the goodly number of men and youths present — then we heard the Rev. Mr. Goforth, pastor, preach a wonderful sermon — clear, concise, and strictly to the point with no punches pulled — the welcome we received assures us that we'll have to go back soon — Billy Graham says that evangelism is costly: it costs prayer, earnest submissive prayer; it costs compassion; if we do not love people, we will not mind their being lost; evangelism also costs faith, energy, time, organization and money, but above all, it costs the dedication of one's self — things are pretty well evened up in this world: other people's troubles are never as bad as yours, but their children are always a lot worse — I miss Gwen, who's been off this week and part of last, all — she's our proof reader, and I have to fill in; also, no matter how badly she feels, she's always got a ready laugh — and by the way, she's just now walked in the door — welcome back to the shop, Gwen! — and they say that there is always room at the top, and I believe lots of things make it up there — especially prices — friendship improves happiness and abates misery by doubling our joy and dividing our grief — soul winning is the greatest safeguard against faithless Christians and dead churches, and I thought Billy Graham's rules for this great work were most appropriate — you know, I think we should thank God when we get up in the morning that we have something to do that day which must be done, whether we like it or not — I often hear careless criticism of a preacher's sermon, but before you pass judgment on your pastor's message, first try it out in practice — did you ever try out a chain saw? — borrowed Patton's Saturday, and it jars and jolts my teeth — but it really cuts a log in two — Pop is always talking about Bill's love for cats — well, I haven't said much, but up until Sunday before last I have had a Persian cat (Puff) that I thought the world of, and what happens: he comes in staggering and unable to eat; then disappears and is still gone — I want another one — got any ideas? — I guess I've rambled enough for this week, but before I go, remember that the secret of winning souls for Christ was given by a Sunday School teacher who said, "I just keep shelling my pod of P's; I pray, plan, prepare, pour out and pull in."

News from the Services

Great Lakes, Ill. (PHOTO) — Carl D. Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Edwards of R-1, Mars Hill, completed recruit training, Feb. 2, at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. The nine-week training includes instruction in military etiquette, drill, physical fitness, swimming and survival, first aid, shipboard safety precautions and security duty. Marking the end of the training period was a full-dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

PASSENGER SERVICE

Birmingham, England — A housewife, Alice Churchill, suddenly had a very disturbing thought speeding along on an express train. She had forgotten to take a rice pudding out of the gas oven. The train porter remembered a signal to some distance down the line. He picked her up, wrote a note and he tossed it out of the window as the express whizzed by. The alert signalman saw the bit of paper and picked it up. He called the police station where Mrs. Churchill's daughter worked and relayed the message. Incidentally the rice pudding was retrieved from the oven just as it was "done to a turn."

Progress

The trend of today is to translate new ideas from theories to practical purposes.

town or to the island to find a parking place; that they had much rather park near the business where they were trading.

If you have a problem while in Marshall, please see the Mayor or one of the Aldermen and we will do our best to help you. If you think you have been mistreated, please see us. We believe, with friendship and fellowship, all problems will be settled and you and we will be happy. We are listing the seven traffic regulations for your study and consideration. If you do not agree with any one of these, please feel free to discuss this with the Town Officials. We welcome you. May I say again we are trying our best to take care of you — the trading public.

Parking and Traffic Regulations

1. Parking meters will be enforced (beginning Monday morning, February 12, 1962).
2. All businesses with rear or side entrances must load or unload all commercial vehicles between the hours of 8:00 a. m., and 5:00 p. m., at these entrances rather than on Main Street, and that all other unloading or loading will not result in double parking and the vehicles must be within the yellow line.
3. Double parking, and particularly double parking to carry on conversation will be strictly prohibited.
4. The speed limit on Main Street in the Town of Marshall is 20 miles per hour. Speeders will be arrested and fined.
5. All garages, service stations, car lots, and other businesses are not to park on the sidewalks.
6. The Main Street of Marshall must always be open for a lane of traffic traveling in each direction.
7. All vehicles must park on their right and not on the left in order that congestion will not be created when they attempt to re-enter the main stream of traffic.

invitation to visit your church on Sunday evening, February 25, to talk about the work among the refugee children.

"Beside talking about the work I will bring also slides with me which I have taken at the border to the East, even the Wall in Berlin as well as pictures from the refugee camps and from our home in Eckemulde where we care for 220 boys and girls.

"I am not quite sure what kind of information you like to have. I was born in Sweden, came later to United States and I am an American citizen. Nine years ago in 1953, I left U.S.A. and went to Europe as I had heard refugees were coming from behind the iron curtain and somehow I felt that God wanted me to go and see what more could be done. I saw at that time a terrible need in different countries in Europe and through the help of God and through His inspiration I got people interested here in U.S.A. to help helpless refugee children in Europe. With empty hands but looking to God for help, homes have been built where we now care for refugee children and youth."

ALLANSTAND

MRS. BIRCHARD SHELTON Correspondent
