

Bill Cobb Resignation Is Accepted Last Saturday

State Senate Candidate To Succeed Cobb Not Yet Named

The Central Committee of the Republican party in North Carolina, meeting in Greensboro Saturday afternoon, accepted the resignation of William E. Cobb of Morganton as state chairman.

In a brief letter addressed to Miss Stella Rutledge of Charlotte, vice chairman, Cobb expressed his desire to be relieved from duties of the office and requested the committee to act favorably on the resignation.

The meeting of the 24-member committee, of whom 19 attended, was called for the specific purpose of considering Cobb's request.

It was announced that a new state chairman would be elected at a meeting of the GOP State Executive Committee to be held in Greensboro on August 18.

The central committee Saturday cancelled a meeting of the 300-member executive committee previously set for August 4 in New Bern.

Cobb's resignation follows hard on the heels of the disclosure last Wednesday that for more than two years he has maintained two homes, one with his wife and three-year-old adopted son in Morganton, and another in Roanoke, Va., with a woman identified as Lillian (Linda) Renshaw Parker. Cobb is the father of her two children.

He was first elected state chairman of the Republican party in 1958.

COBB WRITES NOVEL SIMILAR TO EXPERIENCES

An ironic footnote was provided Monday night to last week's disclosure of the double life of William E. Cobb.

Cobb said he is the author of a novel yet unpublished in which the central figure is a businessman turned politician whose political career is destroyed by scandal—revelation of a double life.

Cobb's own political career was shattered when it was disclosed that he had been maintaining two homes, one in Morganton with his wife and three-year-old adopted son and the other in Roanoke, Va., with Lillian Renshaw Parker, a 33-year-old divorcee and mother of two sons by Cobb.

Cobb has resigned as state chairman of the Republican Party and dropped out of the race for the State Senate.

His book entitled "An Inch of Snow," has been rejected by publishers in Charlotte and New York, though one called it a "work of merit." The manuscript now is in the hands of a publisher at Winston-Salem.

The novel is a book behind the scenes of a political campaign. Cobb said he drew "from my personal affection" in writing the book and that he wrote the third draft during and after his 1961 trial in Madison County.

Other competitors from Madison County in the state demonstration contest were Norris Gentry, RFD 2, Marshall in Entomology and Everett Mace of RFD 6, Marshall in Soil and Water. These boys were also awarded free trips to 4-H Club Week for winning the district contest in their fields.

Mars Hill College Expenses

Mrs. Ronald Mitchell, daughter of Marshall recently discovered among the personal effects of her late father a 23-year-old pamphlet that would be amusing to any parent who is currently facing the problem of getting a son or daughter off to college.

It is a copy of the "Catalogue and Annual Announcement of Mars Hill College" for the 1899-1900 school year.

Tuition in the primary department that year was $1 per month. In the intermediate department it was $1.25 to $2 per month, and for college-level instruction it was $3 to $4. Music and art instruction was an additional $2.50 each, but stenography was only $2. An "incidental fee" of 10c is listed but unexplained. Room rent alone was 50c to $1 per month and room and board ran only from $5.50 to $7.

Professor E. L. Moore, who had become president of the struggling school two years earlier, cautioned parents in a closing paragraph "not to tempt their children to an extravagant and wasteful expenditure" by giving them more than $50 for the full term.

Hot Springs Little League Team Wins WM Championship

Marshall, Laurel in Thick Of Battle For Runnerup

The classy Little Leaguers of Hot Springs have won the West Madison baseball championship with a combination of fine defense and plenty of power at the plate plus some fine pitchers.

Summer-up teams are Marshall and Laurel, who meet this (Thursday) afternoon on the Island.

Marshall's 1-0 victory over Laurel Tuesday gave the team a game advantage and put them squarely in second place. And if they should again defeat Laurel this afternoon the Marshall team, managed by Jerry Richards, would have a 2-0 lead in the playoffs of normal games.

However, if Laurel should win this afternoon's game, the two teams would be scheduled for a second game. Should this occur it is likely that a one-game playoff would be scheduled as a second place winner could be decided.

In any event, the second round place this will mean the Spring is a "best two out of three" game.

Should Marshall defeat Laurel's game, the playoffs will be a best-of-three series. The first game will be held on Tuesday, August 7, at 7:00 p. m. The first round of the playoffs will be played at Marshall and the second round will be played at Laurel.

Marshall's manager, Jerry Richards, said that the team was very confident of winning the championship. He said that the team had been very successful in the playoffs and that they were looking forward to the championship game.

Trout Season In County Extended Until September 30

There is a hunk of good news for Tar Heel trout anglers. At its last meeting the Wildlife Commission voted to extend the mountain trout season from September 8 to September 30 on sections of some 42 trout streams in 25 western counties.

Counties affected are: Allegheny, Ashe, Avery, Buncombe, Burke, Caldwell, Cherokee, Clay, Graham, Haywood, Henderson, Jackson, Macon, Madison, McDowell, Mitchell, Polk, Rutherford, Swain, Transylvania, Watauga, Wilkes, and Yancey.

Lists of the streams affected are available from the Wildlife Commission, Raleigh, and are posted on the courthouse door of each of the counties involved.

For a number of years there has been public pressure to extend the trout season later in the fall, but at the same time fish biologists believed that later fishing might cut into brood stock for the fall spawning season.

This extension, then, is somewhat in the nature of a compromise. It affects only those portions of streams where little or no natural reproduction occurs, or where spawning populations are subnormal, and as a safeguard, the cool limit in those streams has been reduced from 50 to 45 degrees.
