Many Veterans Of World War I Are In Need Of Aid

The heroes of 1917-1918 have reached the advanced average age of seventy years, and are now known as the forgotten men. How quickly honor fades away, and thousands of these old soldiers are in dire need here in the richest nation in all the world. In this land of plenty, many of these veterans are being deprived of the bare necessities of life. Many thousands need medical and hospital care; also many have no income other than a small welfare check. Some are too proud to ask for additional help. Why should these veterans be neglected?

Our nation is feeding millions of peoples all over the world, and neglecting the veterans who sacrificed so much during the period of war, and are still suffering from the fact that our Government has forgotten them, while the U.S.A. pours billions of our tax dollars into the hands of those who were, and may still be our enemies if war should break out involving the United States.

Our old veterans are not treated as good as the Cuban refugees who are living the life of Riley, basking in the Florida sunshine, living like our old veterans should be living.

If our needy old veterans were given the care and a fat government check equal to what these Cuban refugees are receiving, there would be little or no complaint from the veterans of World War One.

The veterans of World War I are invited to join our national organization. There is a barracks near you. If not, please contact the person whose address appears below.
