mentally competent at the time of his trial.

Both Bobik and Wacker were from Ohio and Bobik was brought back to Asheville to stand trial only after extradition proceedings in Cleveland.

U. S. District Judge Wilson Warlick, who originally sentenced Bobik, will hear the petition to declare Bobik mentally incompetent. Bobik also faces the remaining 16 years of an original 25-year term given him in Ohio for armed robbery.

Farmers Repay—

of the state's agricultural economy.

Mr. Hearn also reported that in 1962 his agency had its biggest year in history. Nation-wide, Farmers Home Administration lending totaled $754 million, an increase of 56 percent over the amount for 1961. In North Carolina lending totaled $37 million, an increase of 55 percent over the amount for 1961.

Of the $37 million loaned by Farmers Home Administration in North Carolina during 1962, $13 million went to 4746 farmers to buy equipment, livestock, fertilizer, pesticides, feed, tractor fuel, and other supplies for farm and home.

Farm ownership loans totaling $7 million were made to 569 North Carolina farmers to buy, develop, or enlarge their farms and to refinance debts.

Rural housing loans totaling $15 million were made to 587 North Carolina farmers and rural residents to build or improve houses and service buildings on farms and in rural communities.

Emergency loans totaling $2 million were made to 587 North Carolina farmers to assist in maintaining normal farming operations following disasters, such as excessive rains and flood waters.

The Food and Agriculture Act of 1962, signed by President Kennedy in September, added a number of new loan authorizations to the Farmers Home Administration of supervised credit in the state, Director Hearn reported.

Farm operating and ownership loans were broadened to include the financing of recreational enterprises designed to help supplement farmers' incomes.

Small towns and associations of farmers and other rural residents now may also borrow funds to finance changes in land use, including development of recreational facilities.

The Senior Citizens Housing Act of 1962 established a Farmers Home Administration program of loans to individuals, corporations and groups to build rental housing for the elderly in rural areas. Loans were also authorized to individuals over 62 to buy, build or renovate housing for themselves.

These new authorizations were in addition to a general modernization of Farmers Home Administration existing lending programs brought about by the Agricultural and Housing Acts of 1961.

All Farmers Home Administration loans are accompanied by technical advice on farm and fi-

Shuler commented.

He also scored parents who habitually defend their sons when they have been arrested for some violation. "Those parents are not protecting their children but are more likely adding them in becoming more dangerous on the highways. They may wake up too late someday when their children are found dead in a car wreck," Shuler concluded.

He was introduced by Lion Jim Story who presided in the absence of Lion President Ed Niles.

Fifteen members and two visitors were present.

Patrolman Shuler stated that he would be glad to get films for any group who might be interested in showing "Highway Safety."

Annexation—

duction of the 1963 acreage of the three feed grains. Farmers who feed grain to livestock on the farm will find this an added benefit.

Also, farmers taking part in the program may put all of their '63-crop corn, grain sorghum, and barley under price-support loans and purchase agreements. Previous programs limited price support to the normal production of the acreage.

The '63 program does not include oats and rye . . . so no reduction in acreage is required in order to be eligible for price-support loans or purchase agreements on these grains.

ASCS county offices have mailed information to producers, listing their 1963 feed grain base acreage, yields, and payment rates to help them figure out the pros and cons of the feed grain program in terms of their own farming operation, and decide whether they want to participate. Also, Hassell said, the folks at your local ASCS county office are available to discuss this program with you if you need more information. Don't forget, you have to sign up to participate, and the deadline for signing up is March twenty-two.

L. Hyde of Asheville for Western Carolina and E. P. Dameron and F. Kent Burns for opposing customers, that in his hearing of the case he would be limited "strictly to the record certified by the (State Utilities) Commission to the court." He noted that using a trial court as an appeals court over an administrative body is a rather delicate affair.

In their argument, Walton and Hyde contended the SUC did not include all the evidence. They also said the SUC denied the rate hike on grounds that the fair value of the company's properties could not be determined from the testimony presented during the hearing.

The attorneys argued that Thomas H. Sawyer, Western Carolina president, had testified as to the company's properties and that he was specific concerning material and labor costs.

Walton and Hyde argued the SUC took a "mechanistic" approach to the case, and did not apply the law as it was intended.

On the other side, Dameron and Burns agreed with the original findings of the SUC, arguing that the company had not furnished competent evidence as to the value of its properties. They contended that the company's records were "deficient and speculative," and that the firm operated entirely on "judgment."

Burns contended the company used five-year-old figures to explain higher costs. He said the firm could pay all its expenses plus the normal dividend rate, and still show a profit of $17,000 for its surplus account without raising rates.

The attorneys also submitted a 149-page document containing testimony from telephone subscribers alleging poor service.

Judge Walker asked the question by saying, "I don't know whether I can straighten it out. I may have some questions to ask in the hearing."
