Girl Scout Week Is Being Observed Here

Open Letter To Friends Asks For More Volunteers

Tuesday of this week marked the 51st Birthday of Girl Scouting in this country. Girl Scouts in Madison County join with the more than 3,000,000 Girl Scouts in the United States during the week of March 10-16, in the celebration of Girl Scout Week.

To "Serve the Future" — to move into the next half-century of Girl Scouting, this is the theme for the 51st Birthday and certainly no theme would more appropriately focus on the role of the Girl Scout leader. It is the leader who brings to girls the meaning and richness of Scouting. Girl Scouts' service to the future begins with the leader's service to girls.

In Madison there are three Girl Scout troops serving 50 girls. The leaders of these trips are Mrs. C. E. Mashburn and Mrs. Troy Reid, Marshall Brownies; Mrs. Curt Sears, Marshall Intermediate Scouts; and Mrs. R. R. Ramsey, Walnut Brownies.

These leaders are busy women who spend time every week guiding the girls in this community.

These women bring to the Girl Scout Program all the values they have learned in school or home or business; and the leaders help the girls discover those values for themselves. They enjoy cookouts and camping — flag ceremonies and discussions. They like to see the girls govern themselves. Girl Scout leaders are there not to tell them what to do, but to advise.

CANCER FACTS BROUGHT INTO PUBLIC VIEW

High Point — As recently as the turn of the century cancer was rarely reported outside medical journals, and public information about the disease hardly existed. USE PLASTIC WITH EARLY TOBACCO PLANTS

Last spring Mr. Doyle Cody of Mars Hill prepared a 9 foot by 100 foot tobacco plant bed in the usual manner on his farm, states Harry G. Silver, county agent. After the bed was prepared and seeded, he built a frame around the bed and covered it with clear plastic. Doyle received the following benefits from his plastic covered bed:

1. Better germination of seed.
2. Plants came up 10 days earlier.
3. Plants grew off faster.
4. Earlier transplanting to field.
5. Tobacco harvested earlier than old system.

The late freezes and wet ground has delayed tobacco plant bed seeding in Madison County. Some of the higher elevation communities normally have a shorter growing season because of late plants (Continued To Page Four)

GOP ABSENTEE BILL IS KILLED IN HOUSE WED.

A Republican-sponsored bill to abolish absentee voting was killed by the N. C. House election laws committee Wednesday and a Democratic-sponsored bill to tighten up absentee voting was turned over to a six man subcommittee.

Action on the two bills by the House committee came only minutes after it had met with the Senate elections laws committee to hear the state chairmen of the Democratic and Republican parties urge that steps be taken to end abuses of the absentee voting laws.

Democratic Party Chairman Bert Bennett told the committees he did not favor abolition of the absentee voting, but unless the legislature took steps to clean up abuses, "I think the people will demand that he absentee ballot be abolished in 1965."

GOP Party Chairman Robert Gavin said, "the evils of the absentee ballot system completely outweigh the good which may be ascribed to it." He said abolition was the only effective means of ending abuses.

Bennett commended State Elections Board Chairman William Joslin and the state board on the recommendations which went into the democratic sponsored bill (Continued To Last Page)

Ivy River Causes Damage; Many Roads Badly Washed

Residents and businessmen who live or have businesses near the French Broad River breathed a sigh of relief Wednesday morning when skies cleared and the French Broad River receded following a night of anxiety and suspense.

Torrential rains Monday night sent the French Broad some 18 feet above normal stage with swirling and muddy water nearly reaching flood stage here. Although the Island was covered, causing cancellation of school for several days, the river missed Main Street in Marshall by a few feet. The river rose Tuesday afternoon with water pouring into the lower classrooms of the school.

Businessmen worked feverishly Tuesday night moving merchandise to higher shelves. Many basements were flooded but damage was kept at a minimum due to quick work of employees and volunteers.

Ivy River perhaps caused the most damage and the Ivy road was completely washed away in certain points. So rapid did Ivy River rise that several heads of livestock and some hogs were washed downstream.

Toll telephone service was disrupted from Tuesday until about noon on Wednesday. Electricity remained on, however, during the entire day and night.

Pumps were used Wednesday afternoon to draft water out of several of the classrooms in the (Continued To Page Four)

Legend Of County Minerals, Rocks And Precious Stones

Byard Ray Has A Large Collection On Display In Courthouse

By JIM STORY
The old saying, "There's gold in them thar hills" can actually be applied to Madison County.

Byard Ray, present tax collector of Madison County, has proof that there is gold in Madison County. Although gold is only one of many valuable traces of minerals, rocks and semi-precious stones found in Madison, Mr. Ray is quite proud of the gold traces he has collected, with an actual gold count of .00503 per ton.

"We also have the legend of the lost Duck Shelton silver mine at Laurel and Hot Springs," he says.

"We wondered how he knew so much about minerals, rocks, etc. When asked this question, Mr. Ray said that for the past twenty years he has been keenly interested in what "these hills had in them." For the past 20 years he has collected samples and has explored countless miles of rugged terrain in every section of the county.

We were cognizant that Mr. Ray was a well-known musician who has his own string band. He also serves a master of ceremonies at many hillbilly shows and is performing at the weekly programs held in Hot Springs. He is a former teacher in the Veterans' Training Program and was (Continued To Last Page)
