MONKEY WRECKS SHOP

Menlo Park, Cal. Police were notified by Mrs. Alice Tucker that some had ransacked her pet shop and stolen her $700 South American monkey, Bisco. Inspector Frank Marlowe found Bosco and had in inspiration. He put the monkey on a leash, set him back into his cage, hid and watched. Bosco promptly unlatched the cage and headed for the front door. Bosco, the culprit, had broken every light bulb in the shop, stuffed himself on candy and dog food and disconnected the air pump to the aquarium.

HEARD AND SEEN

By "POP"

Sometimes a writer of a column comes up to press time and discovers that he hasn't written his weekly column — he then hasn't time to concentrate and, in order to have a column, must search elsewhere for rapid "copy" — a few "local" thoughts come to mind, however — here's hoping the Tornadoes can bounce back "off the ropes" from the 60-0 defeat last week and win the Homecoming game Friday against Bakersville — or at least make a good showing — will be glad when all the girls and boys have completed "Annual" solicitations — enjoyed the supper at the Baptist Church Wednesday night — lots of good eats, as usual — including pineapple upsidedown cake, my favorite — Troy Ramsey and Ernest Teague really "informed" me (and others) at the supper — just hope what they said comes true — Wade Huey, supposed to be on a diet, forgot the diet and really dived into that good food — several times — ended it with ice cream and cake — that's no way to keep down weight, Wade — but I do the same thing — I never go to a supper of this kind or a picnic that I don't think of Dr. Bob Holt — he, too, always like those "feeds" — and so did Jack Gross — wish they could have been here last night — will close out the column with a few "borrowed" jokes: One of those high-pressure salesmen was doing a house-to-house canvass by telephone. "Hello," answered an obviously small boy. "Let me speak to your mother or father!" the salesman requested brusquely. "They're not home," replied the small boy. "Is there anyone else there I can talk to?" inquired the salesman. "My sister," came the reply. "Well, put her on," demanded the salesman. There ensued a long silence, then the little boy's voice finally came back on the phone. "I can't lift her out of the playpen."

The telephone rang in the hospital and when the nurse answered, an excited male voice on the other end blurted out: "This is Patrick O' Crosby. I'm on my way. That is, I'm bringing my wife in to have a baby!"

"Now sir," soothed the nurse, "slow down and let me get a little information. Is she having any pains?"

"Yes. This is Patrick O' Crosby, and my wife is having..."

"Is this her first baby," asked the nurse.

"No," came the reply. "This is her husband!"

Marshall PTA To Meet Monday In School Cafeteria

The Marshall PTA will meet Monday, October 7, at 7:30 p. m., in the school cafeteria.

All parents and friends are urged to attend. "Back to school night" will be observed and our theme will be the famous words of Elizabeth Akers Allen:

"Backward, turn backward, O Time in your flight; Make me a child again just for tonight!"

Today's MEDITATION from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

Read II Corinthians 4:6-11 Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer... be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life. (Revelation 2:10.)

On a dark night following a tropical storm, I stepped out onto the porch. Unrelieved gloom shrouded everything. No star shone in the sky, and no lights were showing from the doorways of village houses across the valley.

Then I was surprised to see above my head a bit of yellow light flashing on and off. Though small, it was vivid and cheering.

On investigation, I found it to be a glowworm on the ceiling of the porch—alone and out of its natural environment, but continuing to shine. Either the storm had driven the little glowworm there, or for some other reason it had completely lost its way. Nevertheless, its bright glow was undimmed.

The Christian slaves of Caesar's household, as have countless Christians ever since, bravely let their lights shine through times of danger, disaster, and suffering. The dark nights of discouragement need never be without their guiding gleam if we are faithful in our witness.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Thy faithfulness to us and for all those whose courage and trust in Thee have enabled them to endure. Do Thou so sustain us, O Lord, as we try to bear witness to Thy saving and keeping power. This we pray in the name of Jesus, our Savior and Master. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: I will do today what I can where I am and leave the rest in God's hands.

H.D. Achievement Successful Here; Officers Installed

Home Demonstration Achievement Day was attended by approximately 75 club women from the county. Each club in the county was to put up a display representing some area of work studied over the past year. A covered dish luncheon was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. E. O. Burnette installed our new County Council officers. They are as follows: President, Mrs. Allene Worley; vice president, Mrs. Eileen Henaley; secretary, Mrs. Neva McLean; treasurer, Mrs. Bill George.

After the installation service, Mrs. Gilbert Stackhouse gave a brief report on Green A' Growin, the pageant given by N. C. Home Demonstration Club women.

The history of HD work in Madison County was given by Mrs. Allene Worley. This history is far from being complete but many of the club women are working to complete this so we can have a recorded copy for our files.

The program ended with announcements and awarding of door prizes. There were won by Mrs. Bill George, Mrs. Norma Carter, Mrs. E. O. Burnette, and Mrs. R. R. Ramsey. The prizes were lengths of material for a dress, skirt and two blouses.

The day was enjoyed by all. Let's start planning now for next year achievement day.

Mrs. Louisa Conner Passes Tuesday; Final Rites Today

Mrs. Louisa Rector Conner, 73, of Rt. 2, died in an Asheville hospital Tuesday morning, October 1, 1963 after an extended illness.

She was a lifelong resident of Madison County, daughter of the late Hiram and Siddle Stanton Rector. She was a member of Grandview Baptist Church.

Surviving are the husband, John Conner; a daughter, Mrs. Lillian Payne of Rt. 2; two brothers, Ernest of Marshall and Vic Rector of Asheville; and two sisters, Mrs. Lattie Davis and Mrs. Texie Baldwin of Marshall.

Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. today (Thursday) at Grandview Baptist Church.

Officiating ministers will be the Rev. Howard Ogle, the Rev. V. C. Fisher, and the Rev. Truman Fisher. Burial will be in the church cemetery. Pallbearers will be Erroy and Frank Buckner, Fred Fisher, James Briggs, Jonah Rice, and Jasper Triplett. Flowerbearers will be ladies of the church.

Bowman Funeral Home is in charge.

SOME WAY TO DO IT

Bluefield, W. Va. — A dental patient insisted that a local dentist melt down her gold wedding band to use to fill her teeth. When the dentist assured her there was a better and cheaper way she told him that she had promised her first husband that she would always wear his ring. Since she was getting married again, and her second husband had insisted that she wear only his ring, she wanted the dentist to use the first gold ring as filling for her teeth. In that way she could keep her promise to both.
