FARMER COMMITTEE ELECTIONS

The farmers elected as community and county ASC committee-men in September will play a very vital role in the administration of ASCS programs, according to Ralph Ramsey, officer manager for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee.

Ramsey says that the farmer-committee system of administering farm programs is over thirty years old. In fact, the system was first authorized by Congress in 1933. Since that time, these committees have performed very varied duties. In wartime, these committees headed up the local production goals program, worked with rationing committees, and many other very important wartime functions. When the war ended, they again started working with production adjustment programs, price support, the agricultural conservation program, wool program, conservation reserve, feed grains, wheat stabilization and many others.

According to Ramsey, these farmer-elected committees are the real key to the success of many ASCS programs. They make suggestions and offer ideas that help adapt the programs to the needs of local farmers. Another of their functions is to keep their neighbors informed of the various programs and how they operate. Ramsey urges all farmers to vote in the up-coming committee elections which will again be held by mail so as to make it more convenient for all farmers to vote. Ballots will be mailed to each known eligible voter on August 31 and farmers have through September 11 to return their ballots by mail or in person to the ASCS Office. By voting on the best qualified committees, farmers can assure themselves of continued capable leadership in the administration of farm programs.

Mara Hill Boys—

one or two runs being the difference. The Babe Ruth team chalked up its fifth championship in six years of play but barely nosed out a tough Marshall team which finished in second place. Mara Hill had a season's mark of 6-2 while Coach Fain Davis' boys finished with a 5-3 record.

Heavy hitting was the trademark of success for the Little Leaguers. In one game, they were behind 9-0 at the end of the first inning but came back to win 15-9. Pacing the hitters were Bobby Holcombe (8b), Gregg Briggs (lf), and Ricky Jamerson (c). The pitching staff included little David Thomas (3-0), Bruce Murray (3-0), and Kenneth Payne (1-1). Others who saw action were infielders Ken Castelleo, Aaron Ball, Bobby Stines, David McKinney, and outfielders Gerald McKinney, Allen Buckner, Danny Slagle, Jim Eller and Charles Ammons.

Stellar pitching by Steve Davis (3-1) and Mike DeBruhl (3-0) and good defensive play sparked the Babe Ruthers. Both pitchers provided batting power throughout the season, but the real slugger turned out to be a youngster who did not break into the starting lineup until mid season. The sub's name is Richie Rice and he hit over .650. Centerfielder Ed Castelleo was probably the most valuable player with his excellent all-around play. Allen Briggs and Dennis Cark made a good keystone combination. Others who contributed much were catcher John Large; infielders Terry Hunter, Bill Pegg and Bill Rhymor; and outfielders Gary Randolph, Larry Griffin, Bob DeBruhl and Larry Yelton.

Much credit is due the Mara Hill Civitan Club which again sponsored both teams.

Biltmore has asked their producers to take about a 60c per hundred weight reduction on milk that was used in the marketing area where the milk war is going on. Mr. John McLean, president of the Sealtest producers' organization, presented a proclamation from his organization which stated that they were against taking any price reduction. Mr. Joe Hamlin, president of the Biltmore Producers Association, presented an address stating that the producers were against taking

4-H GIVES FACTS
ON ENRICHED
CORN MEAL

By KAY and FAY HENSLEY
Mara Hill Community 4-H Club
Members

The law of North Carolina does not require meal to be enriched. This way many people are not getting the benefits of the vitamins and minerals which are added to the enriched corn meal.

Extra food value is added to enriched corn meal. Enriched corn meal has the 3 B vitamins, thiamine or B-1, riboflavin or B-2, and niacin added, along with the mineral foods iron and sometimes calcium. These vitamins and minerals are important for good health.

Corn meal is enriched by a little inexpensive feeder placed on the mill and it only costs a few cents more per bushel. All these processes are worthwhile. The vitamins which are added are needed for healthy nerves and digestion and also for good eyesight and clean, healthy skin.

Enriched corn meal looks, tastes and bakes like meal which is not enriched. The extra food value is the difference. The word "enriched" is marked on the bag. You will be sure you are getting the best, if you buy enriched corn meal or insist that the feeder which puts these minerals and vitamins in the meal be added wherever you have your corn ground.

any reduction and urging the manufacturers to find some other way to fight this price war in South Carolina. The decision as yet has been limited down by the Milk Commission, but it is hoped that some way will be found to stop this proposed price reduction.

WWI Veterans—

Veterans of World War I of the USA, stated today, that arrangements have been completed for a rally of World War I veterans at the Madison County Courthouse, Marshall, Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock.

Knight pointed out that on August 11, the House of Representatives passed H. R. 1927, a bill to grant extended benefits to the veterans of World War I. He also emphasized that the bill would add many more World War I veterans on the rolls which have been denied this opportunity due to the income limitations. H. R. 1927 passed the House by a vote of 388-0.

The State Adjutant pointed out that H.R. 1927 liberalizes the benefits, and gives "Housebound Veterans" a $35.00 per month income above present pension rates. Under the new provisions there is no disability percentages at age 65. We have high hopes that this bill will pass the Senate before the adjournment of the 88th Congress, he added.

All World War I veterans are cordially invited to attend and copies of this new bill will be distributed to all veterans attending.

spite limited graders and packers. When in full operation, the plant is expected to have 20 packers working daily.

Eight professional packers were on duty Saturday while 16 graders, mostly local women, were busily employed. In addition to these, some 30 local people were used as checkers, loaders, etc.

"We are looking forward to full operation and are most pleased with the response shown by tomato growers thus far," Harry Silver, farm agent who was instrumental in the construction of MATO, said this week.

According to one of the officials of the packing plant, through Wednesday night, approximately 187,000 pounds, or 9,350 boxes of tomatoes have been processed and graded.

AGENT URGES USE OF LEGUME HAY
AND CORN SILAGE

The next eighty days will determine our production for this winter. Many of us have not been producing enough of the right kind of silage to carry our cows through the winter in top production. Here are some of the things that we should look out for when we produce corn silage: High moisture is one factor which lowers silage quality. Be sure that your corn silage reaches the proper maturity before cutting. The highest TDN and higher animal production is obtained when corn is cut at the later stages (full dent to hard dent). Usually, when the moisture content in the stalk and leaves is getting low for good pickling, this means that a happy medium must be reached and when you cut corn at this later stage, in order for it to ensile properly, you must be extra careful to pack well and seal tight. If you find the moisture in your silage is running about 70 per cent or above, you should use some material which will soak up this moisture, such as 125 to 150 pounds of corn and cob meal plus 150 pounds of straw per ton. If the moisture runs between 65 and 70 per cent, usually no preservative is necessary. If the moisture measures 65 per cent, water should be added or 80 lbs. of molasses per ton to insure proper pickling. It has been proven time and time again that your cows will produce just a little better if they have about four pounds of high quality legume hay along with their silage. A dairyman should try to obtain some hay for his winter feeding, if he is going to get the most milk from his cows.

of the most widely-known barbers in the county — Ben Frisby — who "retired" from regular barber duties Monday to devote full time to surveying.

Mr. Frisby is known by practically everyone in the county, having for years been noted as an outstanding magician, ventriloquist and sign painter.

Mr. Frisby has worked for 55 years as a barber and for the past 35 years has been barbering in the same building in the Palace Barber Shop.

"I wish to thank the thousands of customers throughout these years for their kindnesses and faithfulness and although I am not working regularly anymore, I may 'pinch hit' for some of the boys if needed. I plan to continue as a surveyor and am looking forward to serving the people as I have in the past," Mr. Frisby said.

It was decided to make this a long range project but to make as rapid headway as possible. The Security lights will be installed immediately and it is hoped they will be ready for the first home game.

The next meeting to be held the third Monday night in September marks the end of the first year of the club and the election of officers will be held.

When permitted by the courts to take the necessary steps, the board is prepared to certify Norton. The decision favoring Norton was unanimous.
