Jury Commission

Troy Ramsey as secretary. The new board also agreed to include names of all wives of husbands who are on tax ledger who are not at the present in the jury boxes. This will result in almost twice as many names in the boxes and will increase the chances of wives being selected for jury duty in the future. The board also purged the old jury boxes and a complete list of names will be placed in the boxes in time for the next drawing of jurors to serve in the May term of superior court.

The three-man jury commission, instead of the one-man jury commission, was ordered by the current legislature.

election, and each two years thereafter, shall file with the board of elections at least three weeks before the general election.

The candidates would be listed on a separate ballot entitled "school board" with no political affiliation shown. The five candidates receiving the highest number of votes would be elected.

The bill would become effective immediately, and if enacted would disband the present board as of May 31.

The bill, with the Republican sponsorship of Mrs. Ramsey, is expected to be killed in the House Education Committee to which it was sent.

LIONS CLUBS PLAN ANNUAL CONTESTS

Seven Zone Four Lions Clubs in Buncombe and Madison counties are participating in the first annual Junior Lion and Lioness-of-the-Year contests.

Senior class boys and girls at high schools in each community are being selected on the basis of citizenship, scholarship, and leadership.

Monthly selections are being made by the principal, faculty committee, and chairmen of club boys and girls work committees. Junior Lion and Lioness-of-the-Month award winners are being recognized as special guests at club meetings.

Each club has been asked to nominate Junior Lion and Lioness-of-the-Year at the end of the club and school years in May.

Contest judges will be a group of international counselors, all past District 31-A Governors of Lions Clubs in WNC.

Club nominations should be submitted prior to or by May 15 to Robert S. Matthews Jr., of Erwin District, Zone Four Chairman.

Participating clubs include Erwin District, French Broad District, Hot Springs, Marshall, Weaverville, West Asheville, and Woodfin.

al parks and forests along the Blue Ridge Parkway.

Taylor conceded that while a modest fee for camping and perhaps a few other activities might be acceptable, a charge for picnicking was "carrying fees too far."

"Fees for picnicking are impractical and virtually unenforceable," the Congressman declared. He also called the picnic policy "unreasonable," "unwise," and a "petty procedure" for acquiring federal funds.

Taylor said the fees would drive picnickers to undeveloped road spots where their presence would contribute toward traffic problems and littering.

He also warned that insistence upon picnicking fees will result in a damaging loss of public esteem for the national park and forest service.

As a member of the House Interior Committee, Taylor said he could not recall a single occasion during several months of hearings on the fund bill when reference was made to the possibility of fees for picnicking.

"I believe that the collection of such fees is contrary to the legislative intent of the Interior Committee, Congress and the wishes of the American people," Taylor wrote the two cabinet officers.

Safety Program

terent.

To reflectorize license plates will help to reduce night-time accidents. (The death rate at night is more than twice that of daytime).

Two hundred (200) Patrolmen to be added over the next four years. All of us realize that extra Patrolmen on the highways, placed there for our safety and protection, will be another strong deterrent to highway accidents.

And last, periodic motor vehicle check.

All statistics from other states bear out the fact that this will contribute materially to lowering the accidents and deaths on our highways. During the one year that North Carolina had such a statute, the death rate dropped by more than 100 in comparison with the year before. Due to the methods by which this inspection was administered, there was a great deal of confusion, great periods of waiting in line to be inspected and many other irritating experiences connected with it.

There was such a great agitation upon the part of the people because of the many inconveniences and troubles that the motoring public had to face in the inspection program that the Legislature, in its wisdom, removed the law from the books of North Carolina. The following year the date rate on the highways again increased by more than 15%. The safety check if bill presented by the Governor and now being considered in the Legislature is materially different in those items that have to be inspected and in the administration in comparison with the 1947 law.

Q: Who can qualify to inspect?
A: Under the provisions, any person or firm with good character and reputation that can meet the very simple qualifications will be eligible as inspection stations. There will be no cost for the license to operate such stations. In all probability, beginning in January of 1966 the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles will issue each car owner a sticker to be placed on his windshield. On this sticker will be the time of the year that this particular motor vehicle should be checked. As the inspection dates will be spaced over the year, no one would be inconvenienced by having to wait in line as there would be ample stations over the state — in every county, town and most villages.

Q: What parts of the vehicle will be checked?
A: Those items to be checked on the car to be sure they are in safe condition are: Horn, Brakes, Lights, Steering Mechanism, Windshield Wipers, and Directional Signals if they are required to be on the car. These items are the bare minimum to be checked for the safe operation of a motor vehicle.

Q: What is the cost and suppose a motorist is not satisfied with the check, what then?
A: $1.50; go to another station. I would like to emphasize that if this legislation is enacted into law that the motoring public will not be faced with the hardships that were encountered under the 1947 law. I would like to reiterate that statistics from the more than 20 other states that have inspection prove beyond a reasonable doubt that motor vehicle inspection will reduce collisions and will lower the death rate upon the highways.

Services For Aged

fare medical services. All persons eligible for old age assistance may receive medical services. Persons who are not eligible for welfare money payments may be able to receive medical services if they are medically indigent, he added. Dental services are also available to persons over 65 years of age.

"Besides financial assistance for needy aged persons," said the Commissioner, "public welfare services to the aged are available regardless of economic status. They include counseling with elderly persons to help them plan to continue to live normally in their own homes, visits by caseworkers to licensed homes for the aged and family care homes to help operators meet residents' needs, homemaker services, and counseling with relatives to help them resolve plans for elderly relatives."

Commissioner Brown stated that "the welfare of our older citizens is one of the primary concerns for public welfare." He pointed out that through casework services the 100 county departments of public welfare in the State seek to make workable plans which satisfy the needs of both family and aged relatives.
