Criminal Court To Begin Here Monday; McLean Judge

List Of Jurors From New Box Drawn; Civil Court Follows

The May term of superior court for the trial of criminal cases will begin here Monday morning with Judge W. K. McLean, of Asheville, presiding. Robert S. Swain is the solicitor.

About 75 cases are on the docket scheduled to be tried during the criminal term the first week. It was further stated that the second week of court is listed for civil cases but it might be necessary to make it a mixed term—both civil and criminal.

Jurors Drawn
The first list of jurors were drawn from the new jury box in the presence of the new jury commission shortly before noon Monday. Members of the newly appointed jury commission are Raymond Stines, chairman; Troy Ramsey and Arvil Gosnell.

The actual drawing of names was done by Johnny Ray, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dedrick Ray, of the Revere section in the presence of the jury commission, attorneys, clerk of court, and others.

Herbert Hawkins, clerk of superior court, in whose office the drawing took place, stated that the new metal jury box contained two compartments, each compartment having three keys and locks. This requires all three members of the jury commission to be present when the box is opened. The box is 34" long, 12" deep and 12" in width.

It was further explained that the old jury box was purged and a completely new list of names entered into the box which were taken from the tax ledger and voter registration books. It was announced that the names of wives of all eligible taxpayers were included in the box who had not previously been included in the jury box.

BULLETIN! Education Bd. Bill Is Killed By Committee

Raleigh — A Republican effort to reorganize the Madison County Board of Education along non-partisan lines was stifled in the House Education Committee Wednesday.

By an apparent unanimous vote, the all-Democratic committee voted to kill a bill sponsored by Madison Rep. Mrs. F. Crafton Ramsey, a Republican. The bill would have ousted the present board, of which Zeno Pender of Marshall is chairman. In its place, a new five-member board of three Democrats and two Republicans would have been installed June 1 to serve until the 1966 general elections when members would have been elected on a nonpartisan basis.

The present Madison school board of five members is solidly Democratic.

RE-EXAMINING PICNICKING FEES IN AREA

Plans to charge a fee for picnicking in federal recreation areas in Western North Carolina are being re-examined, Congressman Roy A. Taylor said in Washington Friday.

Edward C. Crafts, director of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, has assured Taylor that the entire national recreation fee system is being restudied. He promised the Congressman that consideration will be given to a more reasonable approach of the policy on picnic fees.

A recent announcement by agencies under Crafts' direction of intentions to charge fifty cents per adult for picnicking brought an angry reaction from Rep. Taylor. He sent protests to the agencies involved. He charged that fees for picnicking was contrary to the legislative intent of Congress.

Taylor discussed the matter personally with Interior Secretary Udall. He enlisted the support of Rep. Wayne Aspinall, Chairman of the House Interior Committee, who introduced the bill. He has also gained the support of North Carolina's Senators and other Congressmen.

Under a portion of the law written by Rep. Taylor, no en- (Continued To Last Page)

Madison County Friends: Enclosed is the list of organizations contacted prior to the EOA meeting held on Thursday, May 13, together with those organizations which were listed on the night of the meeting. (Some 78 organizations were listed).

You will recognize immediately that this is a mailing list, a working draft — it is NOT an "official" roster of individuals making up the organization. I am taking the liberty of sending this letter to the Madison County Chapter of American Red Cross and the four major industries in the county (Hammarlund, Mills, Mato and Pacific Mills), and this will serve as the invitation to those agencies to send official representation to our next meeting.

The next meeting will be held on TUESDAY, MAY 25, at the courthouse in Marshall. We shall begin promptly at 7:30 p. m.

It is imperative that we have a good turnout of people actually selected by their organizations for representation in the EOA organ- (Continued To Last Page)

Ward Explains Programs; Thomas Is Temporary Chairman

An estimated 160 persons from practically every section of Madison County attended the Economic Opportunity Act meeting at the courthouse here last Thursday night. Representing the EOA from the State office were Robert H. Ward, assistant coordinator of EOA in Raleigh and Eddie Brown, technical assistant of EOA in Raleigh. Mr. Ward explained to the large crowd the purpose of the Economic Opportunity Program and told what the citizens of this county must do to become eligible for 100% aid.

He said it was up to the citizens of the county to establish a program and he further stated that the benefits, if approved, are unlimited. "It's up to your imagination," he said, in pointing out what types of the program the people would agree to secure.

In speaking of the Community Action Programs (Title 2-A), Mr. Ward said a private, non-profit corporation would first be chartered and the application sent to the Attorney General whereby it will become legal.

He further emphasized that the Community Action Committee must be non-political — free from any political influences.

In explaining what constitutes a Community Action Committee, Mr. Ward pointed out the necessity for all agencies, associations, (Continued To Last Page)

Rabies Control Program In County Is Successful

COOPERATION IS NEEDED IN CROP MEASURING

Representatives of county ASCS offices will soon be visiting farms to measure acreage of allotted crops, according to Ralph W. Ramsey, office manager for the county ASCS. These reporters will also measure acreage diverted from production under the feed grain and wheat stabilization programs.

Ramsey said that these reporters will be well trained and qualified to make accurate acreage determinations. Tobacco acreage will be determined by ground measurements, whereas, generally the other acreage determinations will be made by the use of aerial photographs. These systems have proven to be very accurate and the most practical means of measuring crops.

Next Week Designated As Soil Stewardship Week

"Challenges of Growth" Is Theme; Gov. Moore Proclaims

The following proclamation was this week issued by Governor Dan K. Moore:

Soil Stewardship Week 1965 will call attention to the general theme "Challenges of Growth." During the week May 23-30, North Carolinians will be privileged to join with millions of other Americans to consider the significance of our natural resources in the orderly progress and growth of our State and nation.

We see evidence every day of the productivity of our soil, water, forests and wildlife resources. And yet, our supplies of these God-given resources are limited, and He expects us to care for them as responsible stewards. It is a responsibility that demands vision, planning and coordinated efforts on the part of all citizens.

North Carolina has a relative abundance of these resources and the leadership and know-how to develop, conserve and use them wisely. Each among us must share (Continued To Last Page)

CHURCH SUNDAY TO BE OBSERVED BY 4-H CLUBS

As part of the 4-H club program, 4-H Church Sunday is being observed by the 4-H clubs in the county on Sunday, May 23. Each club, with the assistance of their leaders and in agreement with their pastors, worked out the program for their service.

Why do the 4-H'ers observe 4-H Church Sunday? The spiritual development of the individual is essential to a full, well-rounded life of service to the community and to the Nation. During these critical times it is more important than ever before to recognize that in this development the church plays a large part. Therefore, it seems most appropriate that 4-H members set aside one Sunday during the year as 4-H Sunday.

1. To show 4-H members how (Continued To Page Six)

Sen. McGeachy told the Senate, "In my opinion, it is not the will of the people that the manufacture of liquor be legalized.
