Head Start Program At Halfway Mark In County

J. C. Wallin, Director, Well Pleased With Program, Response

The Head Start program in Madison County has reached the halfway mark this week and from all indications is most successful.

J. C. Wallin, director of the program designed to acquaint next year's beginners in public schools with many phases of school behavior, attitudes and training, said here this week that he was pleased with the fine response being received both by students and parents.

Mr. Wallin said that at present, 202 students were enrolled in the eight county centers. "This enrollment is more than was anticipated," he remarked.

When asked if he thought the program was as beneficial as it was meant to be, Mr. Wallin remarked, "Definitely so. It is remarkable to see the day-by-day improvement of the attitudes of the students. They are learning many things which will be of great value to them in adjusting to public school life."

He stated that medical examinations were now in progress under the supervision of the Madison County Health Department and volunteer physicians.

The halfway mark reveals the following enrollment in the eight centers:

Spring Creek, 16; Hot Springs, 22; Laurel, 25; Walnut, 27; Marshall, 42; Mars Hill, 38; Ebbs Chapel, 17; Beech Glen, 15.

TRUCKS COLLIDE WALNUT CREEK FRIDAY MORNING

Driver Narrowly Escapes Burning Vehicle Loaded With Asphalt

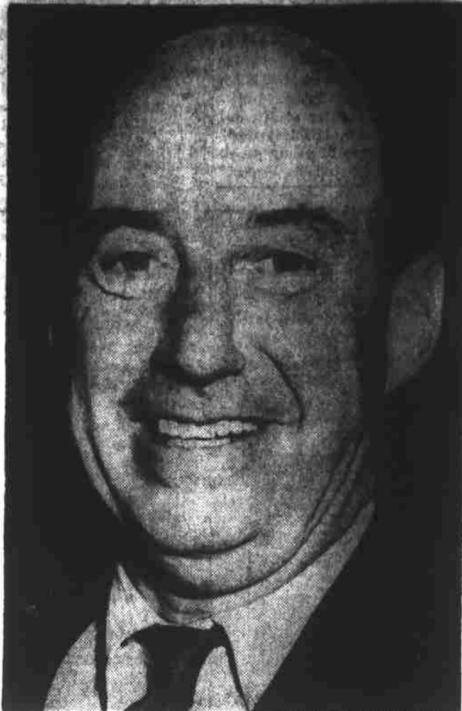

Orville Lee Reed, of Asheville, miraculously escaped injury last Friday morning about 8:30 o'clock when the truck he was driving, loaded with asphalt, collided with another truck and plunged down the bank into Walnut Creek where it burst into flames.

The collision happened in front of the residence of Mrs. Lee Ramsey. The truck driven by Reed was headed toward Marshall. The two collided on a slight curve and the truck loaded with asphalt overturned into the creek. Second later, flames engulfed the truck and fortunately, Reed was able to jump out unharmed. Penland also escaped injury.

The burned truck was owned by Charlie Brooks, Jr., and the other truck was owned by Jess James Cooper.

The burned truck was a total loss and damage to the Cooper truck was estimated at $1500.

The Marshall firemen extinguished the flames on the truck.

ADLAI E. STEVENSON, eloquent spokesman of American policy in the councils of the world, collapsed and died Wednesday of an apparent heart attack on a London street. He was 65.

Social Security Checks To Go Up, Too

Elder Health Care Is Virtually Assured

VINE RIPE TOMATOES NEW INCOME SOURCE

"Agricultural enterprises in any given area do not change rapidly. The Midwest has been a small grain country for many years. Burley tobacco has been the leading cash crop in Madison County since before World War I. Flue-cured tobacco has been the leading source of agricultural income in Eastern Carolina for many years. Dairying has been the chief source of income for a major portion of Wisconsin. This brings out a fact that no agricultural enterprises are brought into the area easily and rapidly."

Vine ripe tomatoes were introduced here this week.

WISE CHOICE OF TOMATO SEED IS IMPORTANT

Since agriculture became a practiced science among the better farmers of the world, care has been taken to avoid the introduction of diseases of livestock and plants from outside areas. Some of the diseases carried by plants and livestock are so obvious that little warning is necessary for a farmer to realize that they are present. Other diseases such as bacterial canker in tomatoes that can be carried in the seed themselves are impossible to see and requires a farmer to use all available information on the source of (Continued on Last Page)

Senate, House Approve Bill Generally Known As Medicare

The Senate and House now have approved a historic program of broad protection against medical costs for 19 million older Americans and boosting all Social Security checks.

The Senate passage by a 68-21 vote late Friday sent the legislation to conference with the House. That branch approved its version 413 to 115 April 8. Now the differences must be adjusted.

Democratic leaders said they hoped the conference could begin Wednesday and that final agreement could be reached on the measure by the end of the week.

But the long battle to enact a Medicare bill, as it is often called, ended in effect with Senate vote since both versions contain the same essential features. These include:

1. A basic health plan financed under Social Security covering hospital stays, posthospital nursing home care, outpatient hospital diagnostic services and home health home visits for persons 65 or over.
2. A voluntary, supplemental insurance plan covering doctors' fees for services at home, in the office or the hospital, as well as other services not included in the basic plan. The premium would be $3 a month.
3. A seven per cent increase, retroactive to Jan. 1, in all present Social Security benefits for (Continued on Last Page)

Washington — North Carolina's two senators split in voting on the $7.5 billion social security and health care bill Friday night.

Sen. Everett Jordan voted with 67 other senators who voted for the bill. Sen. Sam J. Ervin was among 21 who voted against it.

Ervin's vote would have raised the insurance plan covering doctors' fees for services at home, in the office or the hospital, as well as other services not included in the basic plan. The premium would be $3 a month.

New Superior Court Judge Is A Mountain Coon-Hunter

By JOHN PARRIS
Citizen Staff Writer

Burnsville — William E. Anglin, a brier-sharp, coon-hunter lawyer, got a telephone call one day recently.

"Do you know where I could get a good coon dog?" the caller asked when he answered.

Anglin recognized the voice right off as that of a man he had known a long time and with whom he had done a bit of bear-hunting on nearby Mount Mitchell.

In the next few minutes, a whole new career opened up for Anglin that would take him from his law office here and put a damper on his coon-hunting.

For the man calling was Gov. Dan K. Moore and he was offering Anglin a judgeship on the Superior Court bench of North Carolina.

William E. Anglin

Thus it was that William E. Anglin, a 56-year-old bachelor who describes himself as "a country lawyer," was appointed to replace Judge J. Frank Huskins of Burnsville whom the governor had just named director of administration of the courts of North Carolina.

As the new judge of the 24th Judicial District, Anglin started his first term of court Monday in Gastonia.

A native of Burnsville, he is the son of the late George W. and Carrie English Anglin. His mother was from Madison County and his father was a prominent merchant here.

He stands six feet tall, weighs (Continued on Last Page)

'65 FEED GRAIN PAYMENTS TO BE MADE SOON

Growers who have participated in the 1965 feed grain program will begin getting final program payments soon after July 30, according to Ralph W. Ramsey, county ASCS office manager. The payments will cover both the final diversion and price support payments.

In total, these payments are estimated at about $45,000.00 for the 382 county participants in the 1965 program and will substantially raise returns from this year's feed grain crops.

The diversion payments are made for reducing the acreage of one or more of the three crops — corn, grain sorghums or barley — by at least 20 per cent of the (Continued To Last Page)

THUNDERBIRD DEMOLISHED BY TRAIN HERE SAT.

An unusual accident occurred here Saturday morning when a freight train on the side track at the depot struck a 1962 Thunderbird convertible which was parked a little to near to the tracks. When the train struck the car slowly it flung the car into a telephone post and back into the path of the train. The impacts completely demolished the car.

Fortunately, no one was in the car at the time.

The car belonged to Harold Treadway of Marshall.

Republican Chairman Herman Saxon Quits

J. Herman Saxon officially resigned Monday as chairman of the North Carolina Republican party and said his biggest disappointment during the past two years was lack of funds.

The 67-year-old businessman said his resignation was due to health. He notified Mrs. A. E. Verbyla of Lenoir, state vice chairman of the GOP, of his decision.

His resignation was expected. Saxon had announced earlier he would resign when a replacement could be found and when the party's debts were cleared.

The pipe-smoking former state representative decided to submit his official resignation Monday "due to the insistence of my doctors."

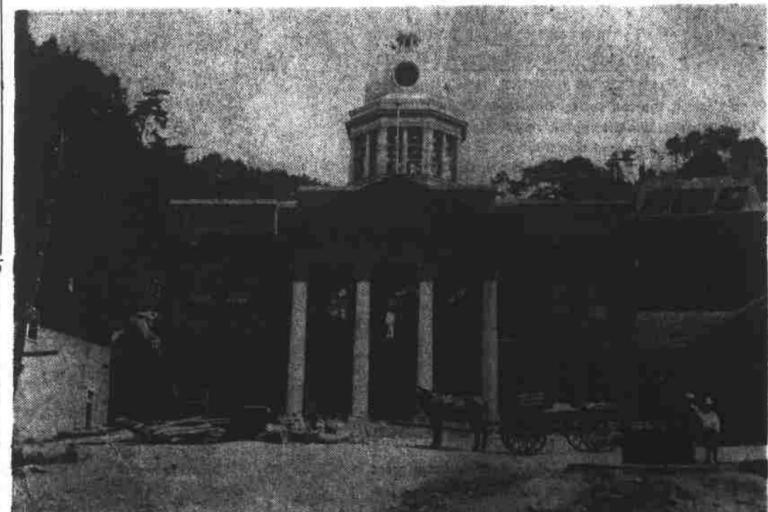

During a brief news conference in his Charlotte office, Saxon commented on a variety of topics and pointed to the lack of funds for a needed staff as his biggest disappointment while chairman.

He also noted the "lack of cooperation by people who were to raise the money," but did not elaborate.

Nope, a cyclone has not hit Marshall and ruined the courthouse and blown up the payment. It's a picture of the courthouse under construction about 1904. It's an interesting picture and one you will want to clip out and keep. Merritt Coghill, of Hot Springs, Route 1, brought the picture in last week and said it originally belonged to the late I. W. Brown who died a few years ago.

The building on the corner (left) was known as the T. N. James Building. It was here that Dodson's Grocery was located. It is now the site of Home Electric & Furniture Co. Looking closely in front of the building and next to the left side of the courthouse you will note a corner of the roof of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Will H. Morrow. Glancing over the rest of the picture you will note the clock has not been installed in the dome. The lower window panes are not in and the steps haven't been poured. At the right upper corner is the J. H. White residence, now the Balsam Tourist Home. Above the residence can be seen a portion of the roof of the old Presbyterian school which preceded the block school built on the site. The wooden building to the right of the courthouse was known as the John A. Nichols Building used for mercantile business. Another interesting part of the picture is the well at the corner of Main and Lower Bridge Street which supplied the town with water. Note the unpaved street also. Neither the man on the courthouse porch nor the two persons pictured by the well have been identified nor does anyone remember who the wagon and mule belonged to. - Anyway, it's an interesting picture, isn't it?
