MRS. HINKLE, DEVOTED FRIEND

We would feel remiss if we didn't pay tribute to the memory of one of our oldest and most revered friends — Mrs. Nannie Kate West Hinkle.

It was in July, 1924, that we first met Mrs. Hinkle and her fine family. Arriving in Marshall by train for an expected over-night visit, my parents and brother and I walked down Marshall's Main Street from the depot to the Montezuma Hotel, located across the street from the present French Broad Electric Membership Coop Building. This was our first real "taste" of the mountains and our first visit to Marshall. As a 12-year-old boy, we awoke the next morning with great excitement as we saw the huge mountain rising directly from our hotel window. It was soon time for breakfast and we were told that "they serve delicious meals across the street at the French Broad Hotel." The information was indeed correct as we remember the bountiful servings on the large table in the dining room. Assisting Mrs. Hinkle with the serving were her daughters, Nell, Kate, and Julia. The first meal was so delicious that my parents decided then and there to take all our meals with "the Hinkles." Instead of a one-day visit, it turned out for all general purposes to be a permanent visit as my father purchased The News-Record, then located where the Masonic Temple now stands and edited by Mrs. Annie May White.

We quickly fell in love with Mrs. Hinkle and her family and Bob Hinkle and I soon became friends and then pals. It was months before our family moved into our present home on Roberts Mountain and during the interim when our home was being renovated, we continued to "live" at the Montezuma and eat at the French Broad Hotel.

Regardless of how loud, boisterous and mischievous Bob and I would be, Mrs. Hinkle was always patient and kind. She would insist we go back and find something to eat in the kitchen; she would go out of her way to be sympathetic and kind. She was actually our "second mother."

Her passing this week is keenly felt by her family, her relatives and her thousands of friends — not the least by any means, by us.

NEW WATER MAIN — HYDRANTS

It is gratifying to learn that new 4-inch water mains are being installed to the school. For years this has been needed and the investment is a sound and practical one. There should always be adequate water supply and pressure to serve the needs of a school and its hundreds of pupils.

We commend the school officials, county officials and others who are responsible for this new project. We only wish that one or more fire hydrants could be "planted" on the Island as a safeguard just in case. This could easily be done now that 4-inch pipes are there.

Speaking of hydrants, we also wish to commend the town officials for having two hydrants installed on back street in the main business district.

This, too, has been needed for years. Up to the present firemen could not battle a blaze of major proportions except by laying hose across Main Street. This also required hundreds of feet of extra hose in order to enter from the front of the buildings even though the fire might be in the rear of a business firm next to back street.

The addition of these hydrants is another step forward and will, no doubt, prove most beneficial, both to firemen and property owners.

SCHOOLS AND DRIVING

It should not be necessary to have to caution drivers about being especially careful now that schools are about to begin. However, such cautions cannot be over-emphasized.

Watch for small children on the streets and roads. Remember, they are sometimes over eager to cross a street or road and might run directly in front of your car. Be on the alert at all times — especially during early morning and mid-afternoon.

And, too, please remember that all vehicles are to stop in BOTH directions at a school bus which is loading or unloading children.

One careless and unthoughtful driver could easily injure or perhaps kill some boy or girl.

PLEASE DRIVE CAREFULLY!

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Good vision is a precious gift bestowed by God and nature upon all mankind, and

WHEREAS, Our eyes are windows of light through which we see and understand each other and enjoy the beauty of the world in which we live, and

WHEREAS, The ruthless threat of blindness is increasing although at least half of all blindness is due to neglect and for that reason is needless,

THEREFORE, We owe it to ourselves and our loved ones to recognize the wisdom of protecting vision, to join fully in the battle against blindness, and to learn how to take care of our eyes and the eyes of our children, and

In cooperation with The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, The North Carolina Association for the Blind, The North Carolina State Commission for the Blind, and the Marshall Lions Club, I hereby designate September, 1966, as

Driver Education Regulations Cited By Tom Wallin

Madison County Driver Education Instructor Tom G. Wallin this week released information concerning drop-out certification for driver's license as per law enacted by the last legislature.

Mr. Wallin stated that all drop-out must have received 80 hours of classroom instruction and pass the "behind the wheel" phase of the driver's education course offered by the public school system. He said the Highway Patrol Department no longer had this responsibility.

"Therefore, any school drop-out in the Spring Creek district, the first of the five schools to begin the course, will register at the school with the principal of that school on or before September 1. They must be 16 or will be 16 by September 1, 1966. Only one course will be offered at each of the five high schools in Madison County. The Spring Creek class will also include all students in the 10th grade at the Spring Creek school. Later schedules will be announced for the other four high schools," Mr. Wallin said.

Mr. Wallin said that it is the responsibility of each school drop-out to enroll, attend and pass the course in order to be certified for a driver's license examination by the N. C. Driver's License examiner. There will be no fee for this course in driver's education in the public school system of North Carolina, he explained.

Health, Safety Tips—

home safety and safety in school and on the way there. At the proper age, every child should be taught bicycle safety and driver training. Parents have the major responsibility in many of these activities, but the role of the school also is important.

The basic facts of consumer health should be presented to the student. He should learn how to choose a physician, how to call one in an emergency and how to obtain hospitalization. He should learn the dangers of self-diagnosis and self-medication. He should have an opportunity to learn how to tell fact from fancy in advertising of health services and related products.

The child should learn the basic facts of communicable disease control and how to protect himself and others as much as possible. He should learn to keep his own records of his immunizations and medical and dental appointments.

Home nursing and the use and abuse of stimulants and depressants are usually emphasized in school.

Dynamic health teaching will carry over into the home, resulting in the improvement of family and home hygiene, together with a better understanding and fuller use of community health resources. Parent-teacher organizations may become aware of important community needs, and, under the school's leadership, bring about community health improvements in such areas as raising of housing standards, removal of safety hazards or improvement of food sanitation in restaurants and markets.

Insistence on periodic medical examinations for each school child points up to parents the importance of this procedure.

NOSEY NEIGHBORS?

The door bell rang and the lady of the house discovered a workman complete with tool chest on the front porch.

"Madam," he announced, "I'm the piano-tuner."

The lady exclaimed, "Why, I did not send for a piano-tuner."

The man replied, "I know you didn't, but your neighbors did."

Lee Wallin Tops Rivals At Hog Rifle Shoot

As usual, Lee Wallin, "the old man of the mountains", walked away with top honors recently at the Towns Country Fair in Hiwassee, Georgia when he out-shot all rivals in the hog rifle contests.

Lee, who is 77 years old, is still as spry and steady as a 40-year-old expert. His opponents dread to shoot against him because he usually beats them regardless of their reputations.

Especially was he proud of winning this shoot because he defeated Tom Mull, of Waynesville, who tied him at the Cataloochee shoot a few weeks ago.

Following the shoot, "Uncle Lee" appeared on television and was congratulated by hundreds of people on his accomplishments.

His daughter-in-law, Mrs. Bennie Lou Wallin, of Florida, won third place honors in the women's division at the shoot.

Accompanying Mr. Wallin were his wife, daughter, son, Jack, and four grandchildren.

His customary shooting buddy, Nolan Adams, was unable to attend the shoot due to illness.

"I surely did miss him," Lee said.
