

THE NEWS-RECORD

VOL. 65 NO. 14

8 PAGES THIS WEEK

MARSHALL, N. C., THURSDAY, APRIL 7, 1966

10c PER COPY

$2.50 A Year In Madison & Adjoining Counties
$4.00 A Year Outside These Counties

Pictured above are two of the nine Dinosaur reproductions which stopped at the W&W Sinclair Station on the Marshall By-Pass Monday. The Sinclair Dinotour was en route to Norfolk, Va. The huge Dinosaurs were displayed at the New York World's Fair at the Sinclair exhibit. —Staff photo

Sinclair Dinoland Tour Stops On By-Pass Mon.

Huge Dinosaur Replicas From World's Fair Attract Many

By JIM STORY

Nine units of the Sinclair Dinosaur Exhibit which appeared at the 1964-1965 World's Fair in New York, stopped at the W&W Sinclair Service Station on the Marshall By-pass Monday afternoon. The huge replicas remained at the station for over an hour and many spectators who found out about the unusual visit to Marshall rushed to the scene.

The units were en route to Norfolk, Va., and from Norfolk, they were headed north to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other eastern cities. The tour includes a stop throughout the United States.

The huge replicas were made of fibreglass and each Dinosaur required a separate tractor-trailer.

Among the giant displays were the Triceratops, a giant horned dinosaur, 30 feet long and 14 feet high and had 1500 teeth; Stegosaurus, one of the oddest looking Dinosaurs, ranging in length from 18-25 feet and weighed 4 tons. Most of the baby replicas were life-like imprints, about 3 feet long. These were hatched from eggs 13-15 inches in size of an ostrich egg.

Left and to arrive in Marshall 8:30 a.m. at the Tyrannosaurus Rex. Rex, which was some 25 feet long and 10 feet high.

Officials accompanying the tour said that the tour was at least a million-dollar promotion by Sinclair and had greatly increased their sales since the tour started.

When a log how the long trail of the tour managed to get up and down. (Continued to Last Page)

Tom L. Mallonee To Visit County Tuesday, May 3

Tom L. Mallonee, 11th Congressional District Assistant to Congressman Roy A. Taylor, is now making scheduled visits to the county seats and other sections of the counties.

On Tuesday, May 3, he will be at the Madison County Courthouse, Marshall from 9 to 10 a. m.; and at the Yancey County Courthouse, Burnsville from 1 to 2 p. m.; and at the Town Hall, Spruce Pine from 3 to 4.

Any person who has plans or official business pertaining to Congressional matters they wish to discuss is invited to meet with Mr. Mallonee at the above-specified time.

GOV. PROCLAIMS HOME ECONOMICS WEEK, APR. 10-16

By proclamation of Governor Dan K. Moore the week of April 10-16 has been declared Home Economics Week for North Carolina.

Following is the statement made by Governor Moore: Recognition of the work done by the Home Economists of the State of North Carolina in teaching girls and boys in North Carolina schools and colleges and men and women in their homes and communities up-to-date methods in making and keeping a home, values essential to full family life and goals to make home and family life more meaningful, is well deserved.

They also have trained and developed leadership in helping youth in its search for solutions to problems of maturing physically and morally, mature citizens in problems of greatest responsibility in keeping homes together and strong, and older citizens in problems of feeling needed and continuing to contribute to a better life for all.

In addition, they have projected to all citizens of our State the importance of having every home in North Carolina composed of (Continued To Last Page)

SUMMER SCHOOL IN-TRAINING TO BE HELD SOON

An in-service training summer school with workshop will be held in the county this summer. This training school will be in two parts — grades 1-4 and grades 5-8. Two well qualified experienced teachers will be employed working under the direction of one of the state colleges.

Two semester hours' credit will be given for this in-service training which will partially add the teachers of this county to renew their teaching certificates.

One day will be used for registration — ten days of intensive training will follow.

This in-service training school will be held at Marshall or Walnut. The ESEA program of Title I will pay all expenses of this training school. All personnel working under the ESEA Title I program will be asked to attend. Other personnel in the county teaching grades 1-8 will be given the opportunity to attend.

The dates for this in-service training school will be announced soon. Also, the college sponsoring this program will be named as soon as possible. O. E. Roberts, Coordinator, said this week.

MARS HILL P. O. CORNERSTONE IS SET MONDAY

A cornerstone ceremony was held in Mars Hill Monday at the new post office and federal building.

Among items in a copper box that was placed in the cornerstone were a copy of the 1966 yearbook of the Town of Mars Hill, a Chamber of Commerce promotional brochure, a phone directory and several newspapers, including The News-Record.

Attending the ceremony were Mayor William P. Powell, architect, John T. Wood of Gidger, Baber and Wood, Asheville; postmaster A. W. Huff; and Henry Patterson, superintendent of construction for Richard M. Jensen Co., Mobile, Alabama.

The building is scheduled to be finished in June.

REX ALLEN IS FEATURED IN BAPTIST PAPER

The current issue of Biblical Recorder, a Baptist publication, features Rex Allen on the entire back cover. In addition to a picture of Mr. Allen, the reading is as follows:

Since 1929, Rex Allen has taught Sunday School at Cedar Creek Baptist Church near Mars Hill. A leader in the town, county and political life of Madison County, he teaches the adult men's class at a dinner in (Continued to Last Page)

NEWSMAN SEES REPUBLICAN SHORTCOMINGS

Democrats from the White House to Asheville City Hall "live in dread" that some of the truth of their administrations will come out, Lewis W. Green, Asheville newspaperman, told a meeting of the Madison County Federation of Republican Women last Thursday night at the courthouse here.

Green, speaking as a private citizen, gave the Republican women the viewpoints of an independent voter on political matters both on the local and national level.

He said the independent voter is left in a quandary as to what course to follow. He said those who cannot buy the Democratic (Continued to Last Page)

Cattlemen Have Big Stake In Referendum On April 27

Announces For Tax Collector

Fred Shelton

FRED SHELTON CANDIDATE FOR TAX COLLECTOR

Fred Shelton of RFD 3, Mars Hill (Shelton Laurel), has announced himself a candidate for tax collector subject to the Democratic primary of May 28.

A life-long resident of Madison County, Shelton is a farmer. He is married to the former Faye Hendley of White Oak. They have an adopted son, James C. Shelton, 9.

Shelton, 42, has never been a candidate for public office. He is an electrician, official under appointment by the county board of elections. He was a clerk in the old Township 2, Ward 1, at the second primary of 1961 and was registrar for the general election that year. He is a Democrat, having registered in the party all his adult life.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelton, who have four sons, are living in the county seat of Mars Hill. (Continued to Last Page)

Madison Man Is Arrested At Madison Still

A Madison County man was arrested by federal officials Monday and charged with federal income tax evasion. (Continued to Last Page)

JAMES OGLE, 31, FATALLY SHOT AT HOME SUNDAY

Assumed Suicide Occurred About 11 A.M.; Inquest Continues

James Ogle, 31, of Marshall, died minutes after a pistol shot entered his head above the right ear at his home on Main Street here last Sunday morning, April 3, 1966.

From testimony presented at the coroner's inquest here Monday, the shot was assumed to be self-inflicted.

His wife said he came home just before 11 a. m., and called to their young child to "give me a little sugar." Mrs. Ogle said she was in the kitchen at the time and had not spoken to her husband. Minutes later she stated that she heard a shot and found her husband slumped down beside a dresser just inside the front door. A .22 caliber pistol was lying by the body.

Sheriff Ponder said he went immediately to the home and found Ogle's body near the front door. He said he felt his pulse and it was "weak." In a few minutes Ogle was dead.

The coroner's inquest was held at Bowman Funeral Home here. (Continued to Last Page)

CANCER DRIVE IS UNDERWAY IN COUNTY NOW

April is Cancer Month.

This annual drive for funds for research and care of cancer is so well known that it seems useless to mention it, but this is to again remind citizens that the Cancer Drive is underway in Madison County.

Mrs. Mack Ramsey, Jr., of Marshall Route 4, is county chairman. She urges all citizens to contribute generously to the drive.

A special community workday will probably be framed in the near future.

And bear with your contribution to the drive. (Continued to Last Page)

Willis Is County Referendum Chairman; Cites Issues

All cattlemen in Madison County have an important stake in the Cattle for Slaughter Referendum on Wednesday, April 27, C. N. Willis, of Mars Hill, county chairman for the referendum, said today.

"Interest in cattle is increasing in the county," Willis noted. "There are many ways cattle can benefit the farm economy of the county, and we need the promotional work of the N. C. Cattlemen's Association here as much as anywhere in the state."

Anyone who sells cattle for slaughter, or gets income from such sale, is eligible to vote in the referendum.

Here are some of the activities of the association:

1. Improvement of beef cattle marketing in the state; 2. General education on selecting, cooking and serving beef and veal; 3. Sponsoring special sales for cattle; 4. Contacting buyers for Tarheel cattle; 5. Sponsoring the annual Beef Cattle Conference at N. C. State University, area field days throughout the state; 6. Legislative action for the benefit of beef and dairy cattle producers; 7. Youth organizations; 8. Meat literature.

Mr. Willis pointed out that in the past year 31 special sales sponsored by the association saw a total of $4,429,978.55 paid for 36,084 calves and steers. He added that the Cattlemen's Conference at N. C. State University had the largest attendance ever this year — illustrating the increased interest in cattle among North Carolina people.

Selling places in the county (Continued to Last Page)

Easter Monday Here

Bill Zink, county auditor, this week announced that all offices in the courthouse will be closed Monday in observance of Easter Monday.

It was also announced that both the Citizens Bank and the Bank of French Broad would be closed on Monday.

It was also understood that the welfare department and the Health department would be closed.

Expected to remain open on Easter Monday are practically all business firms, the post office, ASCS, and draft board office.

Mushroom Masonry

For a small town, Mars Hill watched a good deal of masonry take shape during March. Steelwork too, as three major projects continued to grow. Upper left, the Methodist church points skyward, and upper right is the Mars Hill College physical education building. Bottom segment shows the new U. S. Post Office and Federal Building.

—Cut courtesy Asheville Citizen-Times